EDITORIALS.

LAST YEAR college men complained that the ball games were scheduled off the Hill. In view of this Manager Kenan this spring arranged over one-half of the games so that all might witness them. He has met so little success and appreciation that money has been lost on the last three games, and the result has compelled him to place the games with A. & M. College and Lafayette elsewhere. To those men who co-operated with him by coming out and upholding college spirit, instead of whining about its decline and sitting in trees, on roofs and all other available places outside the park, he extends his sincerest thanks, and, for their sakes, regrets the removal of the games from University grounds.

IT SEEMS that regularly at the hours 8:30 on Mondays and Thursdays, and 9:30 Wednesdays and Fridays a brigade of hoofed quadrupeds break into the English room and hold riot with small intermission. There are four rooms below them, and they are occupied by men who desire to study and who are not constituted with nerveless diaphragms, neither do they have drumless ears. It might be well for Bill DeDade to see that the bars at the lower end of the campus are kept up hereafter.

DAVIDSON COLLEGE DUCK POND is not dangerous. Allow us to quote from the Charlotte Observer: "The return of warm weather brings increased interest for the pleasures of Lake Wiley. One of the boats, containing a rowing party of two (a young lady of Charlotte and a Davidson student), capsized recently. The water at the place of the accident is, fortunately, not very deep, and before the gentleman could procure life-preservers his fair companion had waded ashore."

THE TAR HEEL desires to express its thanks to Messrs Clapp & Co., New York Bankers, for their handsome and valuable Souvenir for 1893. This book is indispensable to those interested in stocks and other speculations, and it seems no pains have been spared to secure definite and reliable information.

WE HAVE just looked over the last number of the Wake Forest Student and find it to be an exceedingly well gotten up issue. The department managed by Mr. Haywood is carefully and sensibly written, especially the last paragraph. The gentleman has reached the point where he can see four sides of a box and speak accordingly.

LAST SATURDAY night Doctor Hume was interrupted several times during his lecture by noise in front of the chapel. It is hardly probable that a University man would intentionally engage in a disturbance of this kind; but, suffice it to say, whether intentional or otherwise, those listening were deprived of so great a part of the lecture that the TAR HEEL reporter almost failed to get a synopsis of it.

OUR FRIENDS at the University of Virginia are trying in every way to find out who damaged the college property, and "to raise a sentiment throughout the students which will make it absolutely dangerous for any man, in the future, to be guilty of such an offence. We have certain rights and, as we are not children, it is our own duty and not the Faculty's to see that those rights are not transgressed upon." This is the proper spirit, and one which we may well adopt in settling certain grievances of our own.

RAMBLER is still improving from his damages. He says that it is absolutely necessary for us to have lights in the halls. We hope he will soon be well enough to carry his point.

WE ARE SORRY to see that The Magazine is not out yet. It was due the 23d. Although this is said to be a double number, some of us think it a triple number in time.

LAST WEEK mention was made in our columns about the shooting of bottles on the foot-ball campus. Fellows, this must be stopped. We all know how hard it is without glass to keep a team from being "all broken up." What will it be if there is glass to cut the players on every "down." This thing cannot happen thoughtlessly so often.

"THERE'S A TIME for sorrow and a time for joy." Dr. Hume has made a fine reputation as a speaker over the State. He is welcomed everywhere he goes and is always met by full and enthusiastic houses. Desiring to hear some of the lectures which were gaining a great reputation, some one requested him to make one of them in the chapel on last Saturday night. The chapel was full of those who were interested in Mrs. Browning, for that was the subject. They went there to learn and to gain profit. But there are some men to be found in every college who try to keep others from enjoying what gives them no pleasure. These men are at Chapel Hill, we are sorry to say. They did not have enough sense to enjoy a truly literary entertainment, and they determined that no one else should. And we all know the result. The noise that was kept up on different parts of the campus prevented many of us from hearing what we were so interested to hear.

At Amherst such a thing, should it occur, would have been treated by the college court. At Vanderbilt the offenders would have been put under the historic pump, which bears witness to a hard but effectual lesson to many of her students. But at Chapel Hill we only say that such a thing is disgraceful and "unworthy of the student body." Fellows, let us too show some spirit, and if it ever occurs again, let us make it so that no one will ever dare entertain a thought of doing such a thing again. W. F.

OFF TO VIRGINIA.

On Thursday afternoon quite a party of Chapel Hillians took the westbound train for Lynchburg, where our first game with the University of Virginia occurred on the following day. The following members of the team went: Robertson, W., captain; Kenan, manager; Stephens, Lanier, Oldham, Honeycutt, Gregory, Stanly, Graham, E., Robertson, T. R., and Bailey. They were accompanied by Bryson, Graham, G., and Bridgers, composing the tennis team; W. D. Carmichael, representing the TAR HEEL; and Emry, Coker and Blair as "rooters." On Saturday morning the tennis tournament with Virginia will take place at Charlottesville. Our ball games for the trip are as follows: Lynchburg, Va., May 4, with University of Virginia; Charlottesville, Va., May 5, with University of Virginia; Richmond, Va., May 7, with Richmond College; and Greensboro, N. C., May 8, with Lafayette College. The team returns on Wednesday, May 9, on which day the second Lafayette game occurs.

THE LAFAYETTE GAME TO BE PLAYED HERE.

We are glad to announce that Manager Kenan has finally decided not to change the second game with Lafayette, and to have it played here. This was done merely with the desire to give the students an opportunity of seeing one more good game. Now let us all show our appreciation by turning out—not on the roofs of the Physical Laboratory, and the New East Building, or on the South Building steps, and in the Library windows; but let's all fill the grand-stand and the gate-keeper's cash-box. If we do not back our own team, who will?
