Glee and Banjo Clubs.

The Glee Club for this year is sure of a great success. It has never had so many candidates nor was there ever so much interest manifested in its welfare. The following men have already been appointed on the club: First tenor, Cooke; second tenor, Eatman and Webb; first bass, Lindsay and McMullen; second bass, Bahnson and Everett. This leaves nine vacancies to be filled. Mr. Eatman has been chosen for leader and Mr. Bahnson for business manager.

There was also a meeting of those interested in forming banjo and mandolin clubs and Mr. Lake was elected leader and Mr. Webb temporary secretary and manager. A trainer has been sent for and will arrive about the middle of next week. He will not only be prepared to train the clubs, but will give private instruction on the mandolin, guitar, and violin, and he is also prepared to give instruction to those not advanced on the banjo. Several were present and signified their intention to take lessons and try for the club. All persons in the University or the village who are interested in this line of music will please give their names to Emry or Dudley Lindsey.

Other Colleges.

A new thing at Harvard this year is a medical inspector and advisor, who will care for the sanitary condition of the buildings and grounds, and supervise the general health of the students, though not attending them in actual sickness.

The Wake Forest faculty have decided to allow law to count towards a diploma in the A. B. course.

It is said that Yale wishes to play Princeton on the Saturday following Thanksgiving Day, instead of Thanksgiving Day, as formerly. She plays Harvard on the preceding Saturday, and the interval of time between the two is not enough to allow her to recuperate. Nothing will come of it, though, as both the Yale and Princeton alumni in New York are opposed to the change.

Efforts are being made to bring about a game between Harvard and Princeton this year, and we hope successfully.

Exchanges.

The Sevance Purple says, "Mr. H. T. Collier, Manager of the Knoxville '94 base ball team, will play one of the guards on the North Carolina foot ball team." "The University of Tennessee is to have a foot ball team this year that will be strong enough to play against the larger elevens. A trainer has been spoken and the prospects are that a good team will be turned out."

Democratic Speaking.

On Monday night of this week the democrats of the village assembled at the public school house to hear the issues of the coming campaign presented and discussed. Dr. Manning in a few very appropriate remarks concerning the political situation in North Carolina introduced the first speaker of the evening, Mr. R. B. Boone, the democratic nominee for the State Senate. Mr. Boone then arose and discussed the condition of our national affairs. He traced the financial depression of the country back to republican legislation, and suggested that the only remedy was through the ranks of the democratic party. He showed that the rate of increase in pensions under republican administration had caused the depletion of the public treasury and later the financial crisis. Mr. S. M. Gattis, candidate for the Clerk of the Superior Court of this county then arose and addressed the audience. He discussed the question of taxation in its different phases, and showed that the democratic party proposed the best system of any of the parties. Both speakers felt confident of victory, and closed by saying that they would return to the village again before election day. The meeting was largely attended and much enthusiasm was manifested. On next Monday night they will meet again to organize a democratic club.
