Loafer's Club.

On Wednesday afternoon despite the inclemency of the weather and the Club's well known aversion to the continued application of water, the Loafer's Club and Sons of Ananias held their regular meeting.

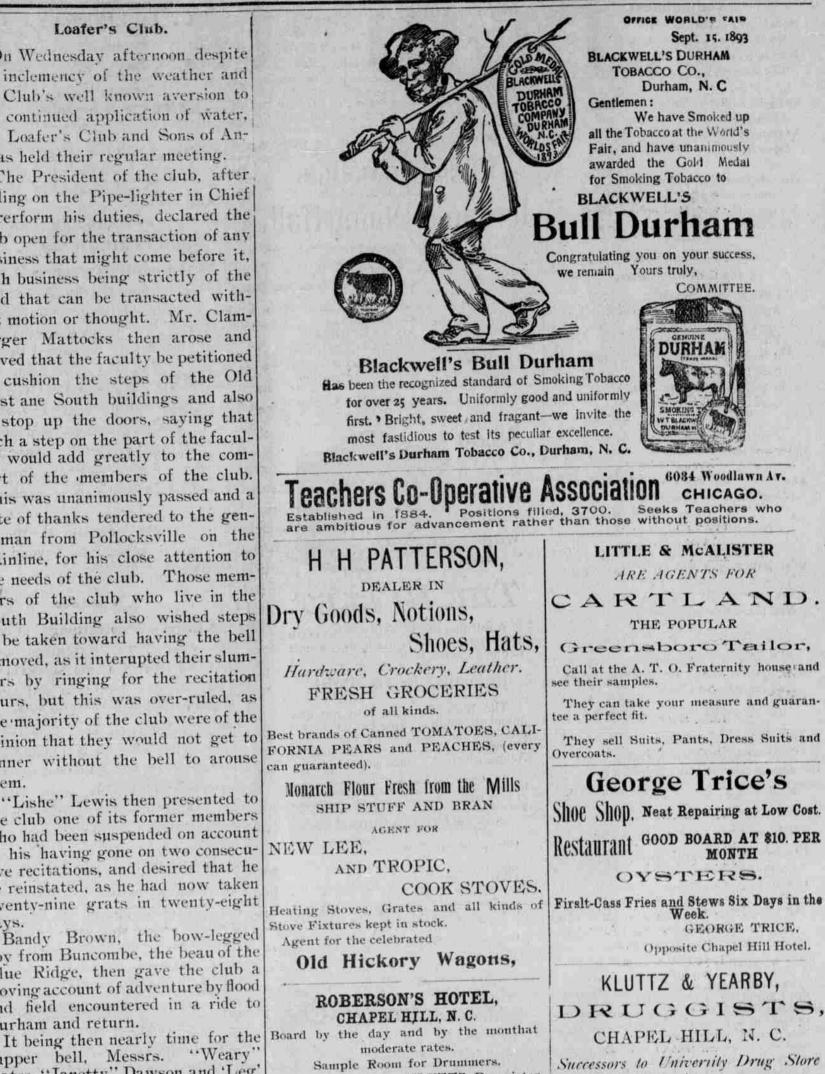

The President of the club, after calling on the Pipe-lighter in Chief tc rerform his duties, declared the club open for the transaction of any business that might come before it, such business being strictly of the kind that can be transacted without motion or thought. Mr. Clamdigger Mattocks then arose and moved that the faculty be petitioned to cushion the steps of the Old East ane South buildings and also to stop up the doors, saying that such a step on the part of the faculty would add greatly to the comfort of the members of the club. This was unanimously passed and a vote of thanks tendered to the gentleman from Pollocksville on the mainline, for his close attention to the needs of the club. Those members of the club who live in the South Building also wished steps Dry Goods, Notions, to be taken toward having the bell removed, as it interupted their slumbers by ringing for the recitation hours, but this was over-ruled, as the majority of the club were of the opinion that they would not get to dinner without the bell to arouse them.

"Lishe" Lewis then presented to the club one of its former members who had been suspended on account of his having gone on two consecutive recitations, and desired that he be reinstated, as he had now taken twenty-nine grats in twenty-eight days.

Bandy Brown, the bow-legged boy from Buncombe, the beau of the Blue Ridge, then gave the club a moving account of adventure by flood and field encountered in a ride to Durham and return.

supper bell, Messrs. "Weary Yates, "Janetty" Dawson and 'Leg' Lindsay were declared members in gooe standing, and the club adjourning made a wild break for the Hotel.

What "We" Includes

Somebody who wants to explain what the editorial "we" signifies says it has a variety of meanings, varied to suit the circumstances. For an example:

When you read that "we expect our wife home to-day," "we" refers to the editor-in-chief. When it is "we are a little late with our work," it includes the whole office force, If you wish the very best pictures. even to the devil and the towel. In "we are having a boom," the direct from life, or copied from old pictures, minature to full life-size. seven hundred thousand immigrants last year" embraces the nation, but "we have hog cholera in our midst" only means that the man who lakes this paper and does not pay for it is very ill.-Ex.
