Entered at the post-office in Chapel Hill, N. C., as second-class mail-matter.

In this year of University loyalty and U. N. C. patriotism, so to speak, then comes the timely and pertinent suggestion of having A Jubilee Hymn for our University. Harvard's Jubilee Hymn, the beautiful and exquisite "Fair Harvard" is one of that great University's most prized possessions. We now have at most three original U. N. C. songs, which are all right but not distinctive enough for such a Hymn as is suggested.

We ought to have something of this kind for our Centennial Commencement, something that breathes the thought of that occasion, and thrills the soul of every University devotee and every Carolina heart. Our accomplished musical director promises to set any meritorious production to music and surely it cannot be said the musical talent, or rather poetical talent of the University is at so low an ebb as to be unable to give us something creditable. Without doubt there is talent and loyalty enough here to give us yards of poetry. Let some of it be directed in this line, with a real intent and effort for the very best. The honor of being the author of a Jubilee Hymn ought to be incentive enough, regardless of the feelings of loyalty that are supposed to dwell within the hearts of Varsity students. Such a Hymn could be sung first by the Glee Club at the Commencement Concert, and if successful, used thereafter on succeeding occasions.

Let all the young hopefuls, who are inspired with the divine gift, try their hand and place their verses with the director or leader of the Glee Club.

Another Opening for Poetical Talent.

We need some base ball songs for the rest of our games here and abroad, and particularly for the Virginia game in Greensboro. There is poetical talent here that we may utilize if it could only be persuaded to exert itself. So in order to persuade it to exert itself, THE TAR HEEL offers a free trip to Greensboro and return on the occasion of the ball game with Virginia for the best two songs suitable to the occasion. All songs must be in the hands of the editors by May 10th. All suitable songs will be published in THE TAR HEEL.

WE URGE upon the attention of the Library authorities the pressing need in the reading room for more and better seating arrangements. Indeed, there can scarcely be said to be any at all at present. Why may we not have a chair for each of the leading papers, at least? These could be fastened to the floor as are those in the library.

A late work by Dr. Stephen B. Weeks

THE TAR HEEL has before this spoken of the valuable contributions that Dr. Stephen B. Weeks, of Washington, D. C., is making to North Carolina history. One of his latest is by no means the least valuable. It is "A Bibliography of the Historical Literature of North Carolina," and in number 48 of the "Bibliographical Contributions", Edited by Justin Winsor, and published by the Harvard University Library. "This Bibliography contains 1491 different titles representing 625 different authors. It is an alphabetical list of the authors and their work that are in any way connected with North Carolina history. Whenever it is necessary, the compiler adds in a note a description of the title under consideration. The work is quite full and is valuable, yet Dr. Weeks announces that it is "nothing more than a preliminary catalogue to serve as a basis for future work towards a full and complete bibliography of the historical Literature of North Carolina."

We cannot think that the contemplated changes in the required work of the Sophomore year are prompted by a felt necessity for making the work of that year less difficult and exacting. It may be indeed a question whether even not some of the required studies of that year may not be omitted entirely or made elective with other co-ordinate subjects. But this is manifestly not the case with the present requirements in spring Sophomore mathematics. The place of this course in our curriculum is almost unique in character and importance. What subject transcends in disciplinary value this "poetry of mathematics."

It is true of the study of perhaps no other subject in so eminent a degree as of mathematics that a characteristic result of its cultivation in the development of power of thought, of identification, comparison, reasoning, the ability to notice the similarity or dissimilarity between objects and to advance step by step the most delicate and subtle relations.

With mental drill, as a highest aim of our college course, we fail to appreciate the end to be subserved in abridging an iota of our present requirements in mathematics. The habits of mind most necessary to the successful prosecution of the Junior and Senior year's work, are precisely those which mathematics contribute most largely towards developing. It is questionable just now for subjects whose chief value is disciplinary shall yield to those whose greatest recommendation is their practical and culture value; but the line must be drawn somewhere, and we believe the sentiment is with the former.

Ex-Gov. "Bob" Taylor has been engaged to deliver his lecture on "The Fiddle and the Bow" in Gerard Hall on Wednesday, May 22. Though the Dialectic Society has been instrumental in procuring this greatest of Southern lecturers for this date, it was done for the benefit of the entire student-body and the surrounding country. No money can be made on it. It is hoped that every student will contribute his part to make the occasion a success. The Dialectic society has done her part in entertainments, but she again assumes the lead and asks the co-operation of all interested to assist in making "The Fiddle and the Bow" the biggest list of the season.

sends the ball out of sight over the left field fence. Boston 6, N. C. 3. Lowe goes to first on Slocumb's error. Long makes a single and takes second on error of left fielder. Lowe goes to third. Duffy takes a base on balls; McCarthy hits to George who forces Lowe at the plate, and Oldham completes a double by throwing out McCarthy at first.

Stivitts in the box for Boston. Stanley works the big pitcher for 4 balls. Oldham hits to Stivitts, is thrown out at first. Pat goes to 2nd on the out, and steals 3rd. Bailey strikes out. Stevens out from Nash to Tucker.

Boston.—Tucker gets a single. Collins takes four balls, Capt. Nash bunts and Oldham forces Collins out by throw to Gregory. Ganzel's single scores Tucker. Nash steals third; and Ganzel and Nash both score on Oldham's error at the plate. Stivett's gets a single and Lowe sends the ball over the garden wall. Long out on a pop fly to Slocumb, and Duffy out from Stevens to Bailey.

8th and last—Gregory hits to Tucker, Stivitts takes the bag and Gregory is thrown out. Slocumb out on pop fly to Long. Graham W., strikes out.

Boston—McCarthy takes first on Slocumb's error, an 'excusable one, Tucker takes four balls, Collins makes a two bagger, Nash follows with another, Collins scoring. Ganzel gets first on error of center field, and then Stivitts puts all of his two hundred and fifty pounds of muscle behind the ball and hits it clean out of Mecklenburg county over the left field fence. Lowe flies out to Graham, W. Long gets first on Slocumb's wild throw. Duffy out on foul fly to Oldham, and McCarthy out by same to Slocumb.

Game called at end of the 8th inning by agreement in order that the U. N. C. Team could catch the 7:30 train for Raleigh. Below is the official score:

CUT THIS PICTURE OUT

It contains the faces of a father and three daughters; you see the father, where are the daughters? If your eyes are bright enough to find all three you are entitled to a reward

The proprietors of the National Seed Store will give FREE seven beautiful pictures, (Gems for decorating a home) as a reward to any one who can make out the three daughters' faces.

These pictures were superbly executed in colors by a firm of art publishers who were obliged to liquidate their business, their productions being too expensive for these hard times. The entire stock was purchased by us and what originally cost thousands of dollars will now be given away to attract attention to our NATIONAL COLLECTION OF FLOWER SEEDS, for the season of 1895. The published price of these pictures was $1.00 but we will send them (a selected series of seven) as a reward to every person finding and marking the three daughters' faces with an X and enclosing same with sixteen two-cent stamps for NATIONAL COLLECTION No. 1, containing an immense variety of the choicest and most beautiful flower seeds. If you purchase your seeds from us one season we will always have your orders. We guarantee perfect satisfaction or money refunded. $400 in Cash Premiums.—The person sending as above whose envelope bears the earliest postmark will be given a $300 upright piano; to the second $25 in cash; to third $20; to fourth $15 to fifth $10; and to the next seven will be given $5 in gold. If able to find the three faces you should answer promptly; and enclose at once with 16-2ct. stamps and you will receive the valuable lot of pictures and seeds by return mail. Address, National Seed Co., Washington, D. C.

WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

Entirely New, Abreast of the Times, A Grand Educator.

Successor of the "Unabridged."

Standard of the U. S. Gov't Printing Office, the U. S. Supreme Court and of nearly all the Schoolbooks.

Warmly commended by every State Superintendent of Schools, and other Educators almost without number.

A College President writes: "For ease with which the eye finds the word sought, for accuracy of definition, for effective methods in indicating pronunciation, for terse yet comprehensive statements of facts, and for practical use as a working dictionary, Webster's International excels any other single volume."

The One Great Standard Authority, So writes Hon. D. J. Brewer, Justice U. S. Supreme Court.
