We have just received the first issue of The Red and White a new college weekly, published by the athletic association of the A. & M. College at Raleigh.

It is a neat, well edited and very readable publication and we wish its editors every success in their undertaking.

After all these years of waiting the intelligence comes to us that we are to have a new postoffice in place of the little goods-box affair now dignified by that name. There will be universal rejoicing in Chapel Hill when the aforesaid event comes to pass, and none so happy as THE TAR HEEL.

University Day, our annual holiday in memory of the founding of the institution, was observed Saturday celebrating her 101 birth-day.

The principal features of the day were the foot-ball game with A. & M. in the afternoon and the lecture in the evening by Mr. Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, accounts of which are given in another column.

May many more such days come to witness the onward march of our progress each successive one making a brighter page in the history of our beloved University.

THERE is considerable speculation at present as to whether or not Princeton will play Pope, who for the past two years has been playing full-back on the Univ. of Pa. team. The point in question is this: according to the undergraduate rule, of which Princeton was one of the originators, a student coming from another college shall reside a year before contesting on any athletic team. The question then arises—will Princeton disregard the reform she helped to originate and, if so, will Yale consent to play the annual game?

The following warning of our approaching doom comes to us from the last issue of the Sewanee Purple:

"We play North Carolina on our own grounds Monday week. It is the duty of every man in college to do every thing in his power to see that the unmentionable score of last year is wiped out. It can be done. Let no man believe the contrary."

Lets give North Carolina the hearty welcome and the sound walloping she deserves at our hands."

"Sound walloping"—how we tremble at the thought, but wait, don't say a word, and the TAR HEEL, two weeks hence, will tell how it all happened.

Every one at the University will admit that we have a good Faculty; four well defined courses, the largest number of students of any institution of learning in the State, all modern improvements, also that we take a creditable stand in Athletics but a sub Fresh department is something lately discovered by one of our church papers.

Any one who is acquainted with the regulations of the University, knows that a candidate for admission stands certain entrance examinations before he is allowed to enroll himself as a member of the student body. After entering all do the same work and all stand the same examinations. If all candidates for admission are treated alike and after entering they do the same work why call some Fresh and some Sub-Fresh?

The Biblical Recorder has among its church reports and revival meetings the following statement:

"President Winston made the following announcement Sept. 27:

"The total enrollment at the University is 506 as follows; Graduates, 8; seniors 40; juniors, 56; sophomores, 67; freshmen, 134; medical, 27; law, 43 teachers in the summer school, 140; total, 515; counted twice 9; actual total, 506".

The number of students in the University is 296. It is noticeable that the number of students in the preparatory department (or sub-fresh, as it is called) is included in the number under head of "freshmen;" and so the actual number of students has to be guessed at".

Our friend when writing this surely had in mind the preparatory department of Wake Forest.

A good preparatory department does credit to a High School, but students of a University are supposed to have acquired the ability of appreciating higher education before entering its walls.

In the same issue of the paper we notice that in counting the students at Wake Forest the number in sight is also taken into consideration.

At the University we have no preparatory department nor do we count students before they arrive on the Hill.

Mr. Josephus Daniels delivered the annual address of Oct. 12th before the student body and a large company from the village, in the Chapel, Saturday night. The speaker was pleasantly introduced by Pres. Winston as the man who had set the frightful example of leaving college at the solicitation of friends to partake of the active duties of life before graduation.

The subject announced was "The Pulpit, the Bar, the Press." The speaker showed how each had in its day been the repository of power, the influence which most moulded public opinion. Since the days of Saul, man had demanded that somebody think for him. The course of human living is too broad for any one man to cover it all in thought. So there is a necessity for leaders in thought.

The pulpit held sway till Henry the Third. Then the lawyers come into prominence as they wrested the lands from the clergy. The Bar had supreme influence in America till 1850. The civil war brought the Press into prominence. Since that time it has been the predominant power.

The pulpit still has power, it is true. The preachers manage the women, and the women the men (applause). The Bar too still has some influence, specially in the South, but its glory is departing. The press is supreme. Will it continue so or will the centre of influence again shift? The centre will not shift so long as faithful editors do faithful work.

The very heart's blood must be given to serve the public. The sheet is bright and fresh because it has cost life.

It goes without saying that the ministers and lawyers present refused to be read out summarily thus by our great journalist. This lecture gave food for thought and we shall be glad to welcome Mr. Daniels to our midst again.

From all Over the Country.

THE Harvard News of Monday, the 14th says: "A Harvard-Princeton foot-ball game is practically assured. This fact was conclusively established on Saturday when it was learned that Sears, a prominent Harvard graduate had been specially commissioned to arrange a match between Harvard and Princeton for Nov. 2.

We have learned of only six colleges that have adopted the Yale-Princeton rules, viz: Amhurst, Andover, Brown, Dartmouth, Williams, and Rutgers.

Among those using the Harvard-Pennsylvania-Cornell rules are: Univ. of Michigan, Pennsylvania State, Lafayette, Univ. of Virginia, Univ. of N. C., Sewanee, Vanderbilt, Union, Syracuse, Bucknell, Swarthmore, Exeter, Franklin and Marshall, Ohio, Wesleyan, Gettysburg, Washington and Jefferson, Indiana State, Wabash, Iowa, and Illinois.

Saturday's Foot-ball Scores.

The following are the scores of the principle games last week:
Harvard 4, West Point 0.
Yale 8, Crescent A. A. 2.
Princeton 14, Lafayette 0.
Cornell 12, Western Reserve 4.
Brown 28, Tufts 0.
B. A. A. 20, Amhurst 0.
Mass. Tech. 14, Andover 0.
Dartmouth 38, Bates 0.

The game between Lehigh and U. of Pa., which was postponed until Monday, resulted in a score of 54 to 0.

LEAGUE BATTING AVERAGES.

The official batting averages of the National League players, who have participated in fifteen or more games during the base-ball season, as compiled by Young are as follows: Burkett, of Cleveland, heads the list with the per centage of .423. Following in order are Dilahanty, .396; Keeler, of Baltimore, and Thompson, of Philadelphia, each .394; Hamilton, of Philadelphia, .393; Clementsis, of Phil. .389; Turner of Phil. and Savage of Chicago, each .388; Jennings, of Baltimore, .386; Stenzel, of Pittsburg, .384; while Holmes of Louisville fills the ninth with .382.

The Asheville Daily Citizen of the 18th inst. contained the following concerning one of our recent law students:

"The Citizen learns that the co-partnership heretofore existing between Jos. S. Adams and Haywood Parker has been dissolved by agreement and limitation, and that Mr. Adams has, by previous arrangement, this day associated with him his former law student, Wm. E. Breese, Jr., under the firm name of Adams and Breese, attorneys at law.

Mr. Parker continues to occupy for the present jointly with the new firm their commodious offices in the First National Bank building.

Mr. Breese is a recent graduate of the University law school, and was granted license by the Supreme Court last week. He is a popular young Ashevilleian and his friends feel confident that he will in time take a prominent place among the members of the bar."

A Wonderful Invention

Zoology teaches that the hairs of the head are hollow, and contain an oil that gives them life. In clipping the hair with scissors, this hollow is left open, and the hair loses its life-giving properties.

I have a Machine named the Singeing Machine, which removes the hair and at the same time closes up the hollow, causing the hair to retain its life-giving properties, and therefore stopping the hair from falling out or dying, and giving it a soft growth.

Call and examine this machine and have your hair singed.

Special attention given to dressing Ladies' hair. Cutting done with exquisite and artistic skill by the old University Barber of twenty years' experience.

The singing machine is highly recommended by scientists throughout the country.

Very Respectfully,
T. D. DUNSTAN,

Professor of Tonsorial Art.
