Prof. Wm. M. Thornton has resigned the chairmanship of the faculty of the University of Virginia, and Prof. H. B. Barrington has been elected in his stead.

Only two or three players were killed in the football games on Thanksgiving Day, and only a score were injured. It is true that many more were bruised but that doesn't count. Let the manly sport go on! The hospitals like it.—News & Observer.

Is this only a jest on the part of the News & Observer, or is it possible that this wide-awake progressive daily is opposed to foot-ball?

The TAR HEEL recently received the announcement of the Second Annual Banquet of the Southern Club of the University of Pennsylvania, which was held on Nov. 27th. Mr. Clarence Kluttz, of the class of '95, is Secretary of the Club. In looking over the toasts we find Mr. Hugh H. Atkinson, '94, officiating as Toast Master, and Mr. W. A. Graham, Med. '95, responding to the toast "Athletics."

We notice that the arc lights in the campus are never turned on these dark nights. The darkness at times has been so intense that it was almost tangible. The arc lamps are beautiful ornaments to look upon during the day-time, but it strikes us that their chief duty is to give light on just such nights as we have been experiencing. We hear that the power is not sufficient to carry all the lights, the downtown lights included. The plant, we take it, was established primarily for the student's benefit and if anything must be cut off, let the downtown lights go. Turn on the light Prof.

[Since the above article was written two of the arc lamps have been in use.—Ed.]

A Wonderful Invention

Zoology teaches that the hairs of the head are hollow, and contain an oil that gives them life. In clipping the hair with scissors, this hollow is left open, and the hair loses its life-giving properties.

I have a Machine named the Singeing Machine, which removes the hair and at the same time closes up the hollow, causing the hair to retain its life-giving properties, and therefore stopping the hair from falling out or dying, and giving it a soft growth.

Call and examine this machine and have your hair singed.

Special attention given to dressing Ladies' hair. Cutting done with exquisite and artistic skill by the old University Barber of twenty years' experience.

The singeing machine is highly recommended by scientists throughout the country.

Very Respectfully,
T. D. DUNSTAN,
Professor of Tonsorial Art.

College Notes.

Georgia defeated Auburn on Thanksgiving Day by a score of 12-6. This ranks Georgia next to Virginia in football in the South.

Junior work on the Georgian, the magazine of the University of Georgia, is counted on the regular English work.

The Alcade, the weekly journal of the University of Texas, has appeared and is a creditable weekly indeed. It contains much of that raciness, push, and vigor that always characterize western life.

Only ten points were scored against Lafayette's foot-ball team this year. Having played Princeton to a stand-still and beaten Pennsylvania, Lafayette claims second place with Princeton first.

The Yerkes telescope for the University of Chicago is now completed. The tube and machinery are those seen at the World's Fair. The lenses which are the largest in the world, are now ready and the instrument will be set up next fall.

Rev. Dr. John Watson (Ian MacLaren) who has been giving a course of lectures at Yale, says of the University: "In the magnificence and splendor of its buildings and appointments, there is nothing equal to it in Oxford or Cambridge. Except the advantages which time alone can give, Yale compares most favorably with England's best universities."

There has been a radical change in the matter of degrees at Cornell. All the degrees but A.B. have been abolished. The A.B. will mean that the student has attended school four years. There has been considerable criticism about the matter and what the outcome will be the future will tell. Persons of all tongues can now enter, and the words of Ezra Cooper: "I would found an institution in which any person can find instruction in any study." are fulfilled.
