Philological Club.

The regular monthly meeting of the Philological Club was held in the English lecture room on last Tuesday evening. The papers read were as follows:—

"Syncretism of the Instrumental and Locative in Latin"—Dr. Lin-scott.

"Tragic Guilt and Atonement in Schiller's Jungfrau von Orleans"—Mr. May.

"The Greek Genitive in -oo"—Dr. Ball.

"The Roman allusions in the Pseudolus of Plautus"—Prof. Harrington.

The whole program was exceedingly interesting and instructive, and those present were amply repaid for attending.

University Men at Annapolis.

One of the students received a letter several days ago, stating that Mr. W. B. Ferguson, ex '97, had led the "plebs" class for the past year.

The University has cause to be proud of her boys' records, both at the Military and Naval Academies, during the past few years. Messrs. W. B. Ferguson and H. T. Winston, both ex '97, are the only two Varsity boys now at Annapolis, but the latter has not been there long enough for us to know of his record.

The University Magazine.

indicator of its intellectual growth. It is not flattering to our pride, to make the least of it, to conclude that since we are without a magazine we have neither ability nor literary taste. Give the college monthly and the college literature its place.

As for the more practical part of it, the magazine should be the joint production of the two societies, edited by a staff chosen with reference to their especial gifts. And that it should not be for the benefit of the few, literary merit should be encouraged by prizes and the publication of all voluntary contributions worthy of its columns. Above all it should be removed, if indeed it be possible so to do, from the factional intrigue of college politics. And when the University shall have once again established its magazine upon a successful basis, it will have made an effort in the direction of progress and broader development, certain always to meet with encouragement and lead to good.

College spirit and college pride should stimulate our efforts to this end.

A Wonderful Invention

Zoology teaches that the hairs of the head are hollow, and contain an oil that gives them life. In clipping the hair with scissors, this hollow is left open, and the hair loses its life-giving properties.

I have a Machine named the Singeing Machine, which removes the hair and at the same time closes up the hollow, causing the hair to retain its life-giving properties, and therefore stopping the hair from falling out or dying, and giving it a soft growth.

Call and examine this machine and have your hair singed.

Special attention given to dressing Ladies' hair. Cutting done with exquisite and artistic skill by the old University Barber of twenty years' experience.

The singeing machine is highly recommended by scientists throughout the country.

Very Respectfully,
T. D. DUNSTAN,
Professor of Tonsorial Art.
