Historical Society.

The North Carolina Historical Society held its regular meeting last Monday evening (November 8) in Gerard Hall.

Mr. J. G. McCormick was elected secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Smith.

Mr. P. D. Gold presented a paper on the "Life and Character of Gen. Louis D. Wilson," who was born in Edgecombe county, N. C. in 1784 and died in Mexico in 1847. Wilson was several times elected to the General Assembly and was at one time president of the Senate, and was a member of the convention of 1835.

It was shown that he was the first North Carolinian to offer his services to the governor in the war with Mexico, and was afterwards appointed colonel of a regiment of infantry by the President of the United States. He did not serve in active battle as he died soon after the army left Vera Cruz. His remains were brought to Goldsboro, N. C., where a monument has been erected to his memory.

The county and town of Wilson, N. C., were named in his honor.

Dr. Battle read a paper on the "First Two Years of the Dialectic and Philanthropic Society."

The first society was inaugurated on motion of Charles W. Harris, June 3, 1795, and the name given to it was the "Debating Society." The objects of this society were expressed to be the "cultivation of a lasting friendship, and the promotion of useful knowledge." Some of the laws and portions of the constitution were read and shown to have been much too strict to be tolerated in this generation. The meetings were held on Thursdays. The first motion made after the admission of members was one providing for the purchase of some books. The first query discussed was "Is the study of classics beneficial?" The first debater was James Mebane, who was answered by Robert Smith.

The society divided July 2, 1795, and the "Concord Society" was es-

A Wonderful Invention.

Zoology teaches that the hairs of the head are hollow, and contain an oil that gives them life. In clipping the hair with scissors, this hollow is left open, and the hair loses its life-giving properties.

I have a Machine named the Singeing Machine, which removes the hair and at the same time closes up the hollow, causing the hair to retain its life-giving properties, and therefore stopping the hair from falling out or dying, and giving it a soft growth.

Call and examine this machine and have your hair singed.

Special attention given to dressing Ladies' hair. Cutting done with exquisite and artistic skill by the old University Barber of twenty years' experience.

The singeing machine is highly recommended by scientists throughout the country.

Very Respectfully,
T. D. DUNSTAN,
Professor of Tonsorial Art.
