The Social Science Seminary.

One of the most important adjuncts to the department of History and Political Science in the University is the Social Science Seminary recently instituted by Dr. Ernest P. Bynum. This seminary is open to all students of Political and Social Science and tends to encourage research work in that line. Questions of sociological and economic value are fully discussed, and papers on these subjects are read by the members.

The first meeting was held Friday evening Jan. 14th. Mr. P. D. Gold read a paper upon "Anarchism, its scientific basis etc." A short history of the different schools of anarchy was given, showing the difference between the International and Individualists, the basis of the belief of each, and the relation to Socialism.

At the second meeting, Jan. 21st, Mr. E. K. Graham presented a paper upon "Karl Marx the master Socialist." The life and works of this reformer were reviewed and discussed by Mr. Graham in connection with the doctrines of the Ricardian and the other schools of Political Economy. Mr. F. O. Carver read a paper upon "Progress of Socialism in Europe." A full discussion of the subject at hand was made and statistics showing the relative strength of Socialism were offered. The work of the Seminary is encouraging and it is hoped that more will join. One of the advantages of this course is that it counts in work for a degree.

Yale has established a system of pensions for professors in their old age. Any member of the faculty who has served twenty-five years, may retire at the age of sixty-five, with an annual allowance equal to half his former salary.

A Wonderful Invention.

Zoology teaches that the hairs of the head are hollow, and contain an oil that gives them life. In clipping the hair with scissors, this hollow is left open, and the hair loses its life-giving properties.

I have a Machine named the Singeing Machine, which removes the hair and at the same time closes up the hollow, causing the hair to retain its life-giving properties, and therefore stopping the hair from falling out or dying, and giving it a soft growth.

Call and examine this machine and have your hair singed.

Special attention given to dressing Ladies' hair. Cutting done with exquisite and artistic skill by the old University Barber of twenty years' experience.

The singeing machine is highly recommended by scientists throughout the country. Very Respectfully,

T. D. DUNSTAN,
Professor of Tonsorial Art.

should be called on to-morrow?" And when he is called on let him not be satisfied to give the mere answer yes or no, but study how to make the best answer and use the words that mean the most. The student who does this day by day will soon find little difficulty in making himself clear.

Then, after the teacher and student have done all they can, let this be supplemented by the elocutionist.
