UNIVERSITY MAGAZINE.

A Full Review and Criticism.

The Mysterious Voice is well told. Interest is sustained and the moral good. But a story which deals with the supernatural should have some ground for speculation. As fact, the incident would be highly interesting; as fiction, it lacks thought.

"Tennyson, Man and Seer" is an article of interest and beauty. While it shows the imprint of Lord Tennyson's recent "Memoir by his Son," this is, strictly speaking, not a review of the book, but a carefully thought out exposition of the subject, which evinces real study and understanding of Tennyson's place in life and literature.

The new editor-in-chief, Mr. McCormick, assumes the policy suggested by the societies and adopted by his predecessor—promotion of undergraduate literary activity. To Mr. S. S. Lamb, resigned, he attributes much of the spirit of revival. From the student body, he asks support. The editing of a College Magazine is no sinecure and our present corps have indeed made a commendable beginning.

Exchanges.

A school of music has recently been established in connection with Princeton University.

In a manner sinful, clearly,
Will write a note with fibs replete
And sign it "yours sincerely".

A Wonderful Invention.

Zoology teaches that the hairs of the head are hollow, and contain an oil that gives them life. In clipping the hair with scissors, this hollow is left open, and the hair loses its life-giving properties.

I have a Machine named the Singeing Machine, which removes the hair and at the same time closes up the hollow, causing the hair to retain its life-giving properties, and therefore stopping the hair from falling out or dying, and giving it a soft growth.

Call and examine this machine and have your hair singed.

Special attention given to dressing Ladies' hair. Cutting done with exquisite and artistic skill by the old University Barber of twenty years' experience.

The singing machine is highly recommended by scientists throughout the country.

Very Respectfully,
T. D. DUNSTAN,
Professor of Tonsorial Art.

The February Meeting of the Shakspeare Club.

On Tuesday night, Feb. 1st., a large and appreciative audience gathered, the object of the meeting being the monthly exercises of the Shakspeare Club. Dr. Hume called the meeting to order at 7.15 p. m. The first paper of the evening was on "Touchstone, the fool" by Mr. P. C. Whitlock. This paper was truly delectable in every respect, the subject being treated in an aptly semi-humorous manner, and showing a keen insight into that fascinating creation of Shakspeare's,—"Touchstone."

After a few introductory remarks by President Hume, the Club was given a genuine treat by Prof. Price, who read a most excellent paper on "Personal Reminiscences of the Parisian Theatre." We venture to say that seldom, if ever, has the club listened to a more interesting paper. The salient features of the Parisian stage, as apparent to a frequenter of the same, were treated with the keenest humor, and with a due sense of the emotional relations, as portrayed by the most talented "artistes" of Paris. The audience was spell-bound by the splendid manner of expression, the subtle wit, and the literary fluency of Prof. Price, and it was with sincerity that they gave vent to their feelings in prolonged applause.

After a few appropriate remarks by Dr. Hume, the interesting meeting was adjourned.

We sincerely hope that Prof. Price can be induced to present another paper to the Shakspeare Club at an early date.
