Messrs. Cocke, Mangum and Johnston, of the William Bingham School base ball team, remained over Sunday on the Hill.

The best debater in the Di. Society last Saturday night was Mr. T. J. Harkins.

The many friends of Mr. J. K. Ross, ex-'99, were much pleased to see him on the Hill again during the past week. He came over Saturday evening from the Y. M. C. A. State Convention which he had been attending, and spent Sunday with us.

Mr. H. B. Holmes, of the Phi. Society, has resigned his place as editor of the University Magazine, and Mr. W. F. Bryan has been elected to fill the vacancy.

The best debater in the Phi. Society last Saturday night was Mr. J. L. McFadyen.

The University hand-book containing half tones of the University buildings and campus, is out. It is very neatly designed and reflects much credit upon Dr. Linscott who got it up.

The Instructor in Expression Arrives

Mr. George M. McKie, a graduate of the Emerson College of Expression of Boston, arrived on the Hill Tuesday morning and will be with us this Spring as Instructor of Expression in the University. This gentleman comes to us with a high recommendation from the President of that college and we may safely expect that he will be of much help to those who are to speak in the Society debates and at Commencement. The art of expression is a necessary factor in a good speech and everyone who is interested in such things ought to take advantage of Mr. McKie's instruction.

Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Lewis, of Raleigh, returned home Monday after a brief visit here to the family of Dr. Battle.
