No. 22.

FIRST GAME WITH LAFAYETTE.

We Lose by a Score of Thirteen to Four.

The day was cold, and rainy and neither team was in a mood to play a good game. The game consequently was extremely slow. Carolina never missed an opportunity to make an error or poor play. Carolina seems to have prepared herself for a defeat and of course she got it.

Several times during the game Carolina was in a position to redeem herself but would fail to respond to Capt. Winston's call to "play ball."

1st. inning
Carolina to the bat. Retires in one, two, three order. For Lafayette Hile goes to base on balls and Hubley strikes out. Bray is hit by ball. Chalmers follows with a hit and Hile scores. Lauer is hit by ball. Nevins pounds the sphere over center, Lauer, Bray, and Chalmers score. Congdon makes the third hit of this inning but Currier and Groves retire the side. Score—Carolina 0. Lafayette 4.

2nd. inning.
Carolina again fails to reach first.

Lafayette does a little better but fails to score this inning.

3rd. inning.
This inning is a repetition of the second and the score remains, Carolina 0. Lafayette 4.

4th. inning.
Carolina seems to take a brace when Winston gets a hit and steals to third. Lawson follows with a hit which brings in Winston. Lawson scores on Woodard's sacrifice. Allison safe on second baseman's error is sent to second by Graves' hit but is touched at third and Graves is also thrown out at second.

Hit by Hile, and Rogers' error score two runs for Lafayette. An other error by Graves lets in Lauer. Score—Carolina 2. Lafayette 7.

5th. inning.
Carolina quickly gives over the bat to Lafayette and Graves scores a safe hit. Brem misses Hubley's fly and Groves steals home. Bray finds the ball and his two base hit brings in Hile and Hubley. Battle strikes out Chalmers and Lauer. Score—Carolina 2 Lafayette 10.

6th. inning.
Carolina does not care to score this inning and so three short flies retire the side.

Winston now takes Battle's place in the box. Lawson goes to first Alston is substituted at second.

Winston shows his ability as pitcher and Lafayette retires without a hit.

7th. inning.
Graves makes a hit but this counts for nothing and the side fails to score. With two men out Hubley hits safe. Bray, Chalmers and Nevins repeated the dose and the score is increased to thirteen.

Score—Carolina 2, Lafayette 13. 8th. inning.

Winston hits safe. Lawson makes first on error and Woodard's hit scores two runs. Here Carolina again throws away her opportunity and three outs follow in quick succession.

Lafayette can not handle "Dice's" balls and score stands:—Carolina 4, Lafayette 13.

The ninth inning does not change this score and the game is lost and won.

Final score—Carolina 4, Lafayette 13.

University Magazine

Readers of the TAR HEEL will doubtless be glad to know that the March issue of the North Carolina Magazine is out. It is an unusually interesting number containing some articles of permanent value. We are glad to see the contributors deal with subjects admitting of originality and thought. It is very fitting that the opening article of this issue should be an interesting sketch of our late Professor of Law, Hon. John Manning. Dr. Battle, his life long associate and one well acquainted with the facts of Dr. Manning's useful life is the writer. It is the story of a long, useful life compressed into a few pages in Dr. Battle's interesting, clear style. So that the article is of interest and permanent value for two reasons, viz. it is written by Kemp P. Battle and of John Manning.

Types in Chevy Chase and King Henry IV is the second article. The writer discusses the ballad of Chevy Chase and Shakespeare's use of it in his play King Henry IV, showing that in the latter the principle characters, which were suggested by the ballad, were dealt with as types rather than as personalities. English 5 is here put to a practical test and the influence of this popular course is clearly seen.

Mr. F. M. Osborne gives us a peculiarly interesting and instructive sketch of "The University and Public School System of North Carolina." It is an historical sketch showing research and careful study. He sets forth clearly the logical and necessary connection of Public Schools to the University. Those interested in the University will do well to read this answer to the false charges often made of us.

A weak attempt is made at fiction in an article called "In Face of the Foe." The poor, over-written Spanish war furnishes the theme. The writer wisely withholds his or her name.

North Carolinians are especially interested in the Dispensary system just at this time and Mr. H. Legare Watson a native South Carolinian is well qualified to tell us of this system and does so in a well written article. He sets forth clearly the workings of the system in South Carolina. We should do well to read this article carefully as this is a living question in our State. This is the last of the contributed articles. Interesting editorials, book reviews, alumni notes and college records follow completing the matter. Our Exchange Editor is a little hard on his unfortunate brothers, all of whom may not perhaps have his originality and ready wit. Let mercy temper your criticisms, brother. We do not see much Magazine work from the female element of our student body. We would be glad to see them take more interest in this publication and give as a result some of their work. We feel sure that it would be of a high grade and might stimulate the other element to more persistent efforts, if we should see our sisters out-stripping us in literary work. We respectfully suggest to the editor-in-chief that he make an effort to give us some work from the pen of some sister student.

We congratulate him on his splendid work in this issue.

Easter Geology Trip.

On last Friday morning Prof. Collier Cobb and Dr. J. K. Pratt, accompanied by several students in Geology, set out on the Easter Geology trip on a tour of inspection and observation of the Blue Wing Copper fields of Granville county. The party returned in the wee sma' hours Saturday night, and although slightly fatigued from forced marches in itinere they all report an enjoyable as well as a profitable trip.

An Enthusiastic Welcome to Carolina Debaters.

On last Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock a mass meeting of the student body was held in Gerrard Hall to welcome back our Representatives in the recent Carolina-Georgia debate—Messrs. Bowie and Broadhurst. Dr. Alderman presided at the meeting and also made the first speech of the evening. Referring to this great victory he said that it meant two notable things: That patient, earnest, unremitting work, supported by the sympathy of the students, will accomplish anything, supposing always, of course, the presence of brains. 2nd. That this occasion marks a sort of new era in the forensic life of the University.

Mr. H. P. Harding and Mr. S. Wilson on behalf of the Philanthropic and Dialectic Societies respectively, made short but appropriate addresses, in which the debaters were shown the great appreciation which the Societies feel for the high honor conferred upon them in being so ably represented in the debate.

The next speakers were Messrs. Bowie and Broadhurst the victorious debaters—who in a few brief words gave an interesting account of their trip, telling in a graphic way how it was all done. Both alluded with emphasis to the unrivalled courtesy shown them on every hand by the defeated Georgians, both before and after the debate, which greatly enlarged the pleasure of their trip.

Mr. Whitehead Kluttz, '02, speaking on the part of the students made a few fitting remarks. Prof. Williams and Dr. Hume then responded to calls from the students and favored them with a few well chosen and select words appropriate to the occasion which were much enjoyed by all.

After a few concluding remarks by Pres. Alderman the meeting was declared adjourned.

Mr. R. H. Wright, '97, was a welcome visitor to the Hill last week.

Miss Lottie Saunders, of Beaufort, is visiting Mrs. E. A. Abernethy, on Cameron St.

The base ball team leaves Saturday for their Easter trip. They will play Lehigh in Greensboro and in Winston.

President Alderman returned Saturday from a trip to Washington City and elsewhere.

Messrs. Bowie and Broadhurst after spending some time in Georgia visiting relatives, returned to the Hill Saturday morning.

Miss Rosamond May, of Boston, Mass., who for the past two weeks has been the guest of Mrs. Dr. Hume, left for New York on Monday.

Mr. John M. Lipscombe 'ex. '00 arrived on the Hill Monday morning to witness the game with Lafayette.
