

LOCALS.

Col. Julian S. Carr, of Durham, was here a short while last week.

The October german takes place on the 27th. A good number of young ladies is expected.

Mr. Chas. W. Woodson, '00, has entered Columbia College, N. Y. where he will take his degree.

Mr. G. R. Swink, ex-'99, spent a few days on the Hill last week, the guest of his brother, D. M. Swink.

It was announced by the Executive this morning that Dr. Hunter Maguire, a well known citizen of Richmond, would be here in November and deliver his lecture on "Stonewall Jackson."

The University Law School is to be congratulated upon the excellent showing made by its students at the recent examination before the Supreme Court. It well maintained its splendid past reputation.

The announcement that Geo. L. Kirby, B.S., '96 has received a desirable position in the State Hospital at Worcester, Mass. as the result of a competitive examination will be of interest to his friends in the University.

Mr. Holland Thompson, of Concord, a brother of Mr. Dorman Thompson, '01, and a graduate of the University, spent Monday here on his way to New York, where he goes to enter Columbia University. It will be remembered that Mr. Thompson won a fellowship at this University by a carefully prepared historical paper, embodying the results of much original research.

Magazine Assignments.

A meeting of the board of editors of the University Magazine was held Saturday afternoon, Mr. W.S. Bernard, editor-in-chief, presiding. After several plans for the improvement of this year's magazine had been thought on and discussed, Mr. Bernard assigned the editors to departments as follows: Exchange editor, J. W. Greening; Book Review, D. P. Parker; Local, H.E.D. Wilson and A. J. Barwick; Alumni, Dorman Thompson and Whitehead Kluttz; Managing editor, Whitehead Kluttz. Mr. Alfred R. Berkeley is Business Manager. It is the determination of the board to make the Magazine a credit to the literary societies and the University.

The College Annual.

The time has about come when the fraternities will not longer support a thoroughly representative annual. The burden of getting out such an annual must be shared by the entire college or the undertaking given up. For the past ten years the fraternities have succeeded in publishing the Hellenian and they have attempted to make it representative of all the phases of college life. Sometimes the publication has not been a credit to its supporters, at other times it has been creditable indeed. But its success from the artistic standpoint should not appear to affect its circulation. A more readily and tasteful edition should be published. The trouble lies not in the publication itself, but in the fact that but a comparatively small part of college supports it, the majority is indifferent to it and not a few attack it. This must necessarily be the case so long as it is published by a small element in college. The one thing necessary to complete success from the financial point of view is a larger circulation, for with a sale of three hundred copies it would produce a small revenue. But how to get every one to support it? The publication of an annual which would be thoroughly satisfactory involves the expenditure of some eight or nine hundred dollars for which some individual or some body must be responsible. There is not a man in college who could guarantee this amount, so that it devolves upon some organization.

In a great many colleges some class, usually the Junior Class, attempts this, but that would be impossible here from the looseness of the class organizations. The only ones here which can undertake this are the fraternities and the literary societies, but as was said in the beginning of this article the fraternities would not be accorded the undivided support of college and this is the vital necessity. The only other bodies which could take this upon themselves are the literary societies. Will they do so, either alone or in conjunction with the only other responsible bodies, the fraternities?

The object of this article is merely to show that some change in the method of getting out the annual is imperative and to stimulate discussion, in the hope that some suggestion will bear fruit in the shape of an annual which all will support. To give up now in the high tide of the University's prosperity will be a serious reflection upon our ability and patriotism.
