The marked improvement in the condition of the two literary societies is a source of great gratification not only to every member but also to the college at large. These societies have a unique place in the life of the University which no other organization can fill, and their prosperity in no small degree measures the prosperity of the University. Their work for the past year has been of a noticeably high order, the factious spirit which for so long a time threatened their very life has been largely buried, their highest honors are open to the most capable irrespective of any prejudice, each member of both societies is a unit for the welfare of his society.

It is to be regretted however, that the importance of this work is not fully appreciated by every student in college. They furnish the only field in which a man can train himself to quick thought upon his feet, to apt reply, to readiness to meet an opponent, in short to fit himself for the great battle of life. Without this training a man goes forth handicapped and at a serious disadvantage. The idea that the time has passed when a nation can be swayed by the eloquence of one man may contain a gem of truth, but the time will never pass when the man, who has been trained to quick thinking and forcible expression of his thought will not be a power.

We wish to call particular attention to the article in this issue on Undergraduate University Clubs. These clubs should be formed immediately and get to work as suggested.

Let one man from each county see the other men from his county and arrange for a meeting in somebody's room within the next few days. As soon as organized and ready for business let them report to Mr. Graham, the librarian, who will show them how to begin. If this matter is enthusiastically undertaken by the students, the University can be put in touch with the great part of her living alumni in a short while and at a small expense.

Prof. Holmes lectures at the State Normal College at Greensboro on the 26th and 27th of this month.

HORNER GAME.

vances 35 yards, but time is called before either side accomplishes anything.

SECOND HALF.

Graves kicks 45 yards to Oldham who is tackled before advancing far. After a few fruitless rushes Kenna punts 15 yards.

Carolina's ball. Coxe and Koehler rush the line for 20 yards, but ball is fumbled and Latham gets it. Singleterry relieves Phifer at guard.

After a few rushes the referee gives them 10 yards, Carolina being off side. Kenna tries to punt, but is blocked and Cuninghame gets ball. With the usual steady line rushes Coxe goes over the line.

Time 8½ minutes.

Koehler kicks goal.

Score, N. C.-40 Horner-0

Kenna kicks off to Graves who brings it to the middle of the field. Koehler makes 35 yards on end run. Coxe rushes line 15 yards and Graves goes over.

Time 1½ minutes.

Koehler kicks goal.

Score, N. C.-46 Horner-0

In the rest of the half little was accomplished on either side; Horner loses two good chances to score by a drop from the field.

Time called with ball in Carolina's territory.

The following is the line up of the two teams.—

FIRST UNIVERSITY PREACHER. Dr. Stagg to arrive this week.

As has been previously announced the first University Preacher for this year will be Dr. J. W. Stagg pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Charlotte. Dr. Stagg will arrive the latter part of this week and while here, he will be the guest of Dr. Venable. Next Sunday morning he will preach in the Presbyterian Church and at night to the students in the Chapel.

During the following week he will conduct the exercises at prayers and will lead the Y. M. C. A. meetings.

Dr. Stagg is well known as one of the leading ministers of the State and the students are to be congratulated on his being able to be with them.

Undergraduate University Clubs.

The effort is being made by the University authorities to thoroughly organize the alumni of this institution. The plan of organization in part familiar to many of the students involves considerable labor and no small expense. When complete the work will represent one of the longest strides in the University's recent progress.

The undergraduates of the University—the Alumni to be—are all devoted to her interest and are anxious for the time to come when they may advance it. It is this present plan for alumni organization that furnishes them the wished for opportunity. Coming from every part of the State and in daily intercourse with the home committees they possess information invaluable to the University and are her channels for obtaining further information impossible of access to the authorities. We believe that the zeal professed for the welfare of the University by the students is real and and they will serve with enthusiasm the opportunity now pointed out to them. This is that they form by counties, towns and states undergraduate associations—alumni associations in embryo. That these clubs organize themselves in the regular way: with a president, one or more secretaries and such other officers as they see fit to elect for the business like carrying forward of their work; which will consist in keeping the University informed as to the movements of the Alumni in the county, in being a source of general information as to University affairs there and in being a medium through which information may be circulated. In brief to be organized clubs to do whatever may be done for the University, acting as resident branches of the large associations that will be formed in the counties.

It is seen at a glance what a power such internal organization may be. And it is not vital that there be a large number of men from the county. One man will constitute an effective organization if actuated by the right spirit. We depend entirely on the spirit.

Organize at once and let the president of each club notify the Alumni Secretary, who will give a plan of work to each—very little in parts but very great in the aggregate.

The State Fair.

Last week in Raleigh the State Fair was held. People from all parts of the State were there in large numbers and in every way it was a great success. About one hundred and fifty students were in attendance, either for the whole time or just on a one day visit. In every department and in all features, U. N. C. men were prominent. A number of the Faculty went down, including Dr. Alderman, Prof. Noble, Prof. May and Prof. Williams.

Schedule of Class Games.

The following schedule of inter-class games has been arranged:

Sat. Oct. 28, Fresh vs Soph.
Fri. Nov. 3, Juniors vs Soph.
Tue. Nov. 7, Juniors vs. Fresh.
Sat. Nov. 11, Fresh vs Seniors.
Fri. Nov. 17, Seniors vs Soph.
Fri. Nov. 24, Seniors vs Juniors.

Mr. Ned Foard has returned to the Hill after several weeks absence.

Messrs. Graham Woodard and John Carr acted as referee and umpire respectively in the foot-ball game last Friday between A & M and Wm. Bingham in Raleigh.

Quite an exciting contest took place between the Sophomore and "Scrub" foot-ball elevens last Saturday. The latter scored only three touchdowns and the Sophs are rather proud of their showing.

Some really pretty plays were made and a few good runs and tackles for both sides were features.

Rev. Daniel A. Long, A.M., D. D., L.L.D., former President Antioch College, Ohio, will give a public lecture Thursday night, 7:30 P. M., on "Religion and Science."
