All communications for this paper should be in the hands of the Editor-in-Chief by Monday at noon to insure publication the same week. We shall be glad to publish pertinent discussions of college topics. The Tar Heel will welcome news items, and hopes the whole college will aid it along this line.

The great game is over; we have met Virginia and once more the Orange and Blue has been victorious. Comment on the game is perhaps unnecessary and even out of place here, as a full account appears in another column. Yet we would say a word or two in regard to it and particularly would we speak of the part played in it by our own representatives.

With a team composed almost entirely of inexperienced and at the same time unusually light men, no one expected a victory; there were few, indeed, who did not think that Virginia would win as she pleased. But these had failed to reckon on the team work of Carolina which was the feature of the game. There were eleven Tar Heels in every play, who with the never-say-die Carolina spirit bravely contested every inch of ground gained by their opponents.

Against a team which outweighed them twenty pounds to the man, and on muddy grounds in a hard rain which rendered our characteristic game of fast, snappy ball impossible, the men who wore the blue and white put up as noble, as gritty a fight as was ever witnessed on a gridiron. They were not outclassed or outplayed; nor should we say they were vanquished,—they were simply overpowered by the superior weight of their opponents. It was another case of weight and experience on the one side against pluck on the other.

Our hearts are filled with gratitude for the men and the coach who have worked so hard for Carolina. Though it was defeated, there is not a single loyal Carolinian who is not proud of the team and the fight it put up on Saturday last. "Hats off to the team of 1901!" is the sentiment that predominates in every Tar Heel breast.

We have another team to be proud of besides our Varsity. On Saturday last the Scrubs defeated the team from Guilford College by a decisive score. This was the first time in several years that our second team has thus distinguished itself and to this year Scrubs all honor is due.

The second team is as much our representative as any other team and Carolina men will support it in its games as such. The crowd at Saturday's game was nothing like as large as had been expected as the weather was not such as to induce a full attendance. What they lacked in numbers was, however made for in enthusiasm.

We understand that the rooting done by those who attended the Virginia game in Norfolk was a unusually good—much better than at any previous game with this University.

This together with the mass meetings before and after the game and the reception given the team at the train on its return from Norfolk show conclusively that a broader up, or rather developing among us.

Everyone here is awakening to a realization of the importance of this feature of inter-collegiate contests and the benefit sure to be derived up from such demonstrations.

Guilford seems new to rally and begins to make big gains by the introduction of a new feature into the game. Williams, however, is soon on to the trick and tackles behind their line for a gain of ten yards. Guilford is then forced to punt when the ball comes once more into the possession of the Scrubs.

Newton is now sent around the end and makes twenty yards by a brilliant jump over Guilford's end. Time is called with ball on Scrub's 50 yard line.

Score at end of first half:
Scrubs 11; Guilford 0.

SECOND HALF.

At the opening of the second half the rain continued in undiminished vigor, and the field was flooded with water. The players, though, with characteristic nerve, started the game.

Reynolds kicks off ten yards to Guilford. The offensive now have the advantage, due to the slippery condition of the earth, and Guilford advances the ball 30 yards before the Scrubs are able to get it in their possession.

The Scrubs secure the ball on downs, but are able to advance only five yards before they are forced to punt. Guilford returns the punt after three rushes. Newton then gets the ball and makes a 65 yard run for a touchdown.

No goal. Time, six minutes.
Guilford kicks off but after a few rushes the game is called on account of the rain.

Final score:
Scrubs 16; Guilford 0.
