21 to 0 was another unexpected score. Some thought that we would beat V. P. I.; others thought they would win by a small score, but no one, not even V. P. I. itself, thought that we would be beaten so decisively. We have quite a train of disasters behind us, but now is the time to turn our faces to the front and hope for better things.

On Saturday we go up against a team that has kept the newspapers hot and the air thick with its boasts all the fall. We have heard of their multitudinous tricks and hair-raising runs through and around their opponent's line. We have heard how when their opponents stand high they butt them over and proceed on their jaunts down the field undisturbed; when their opponents get low their line hurdles them, carrying on their shoulders the entire back field, the full back carrying the opposing centre in his teeth while the quarter climbs the goal post and stands on his head with seven tacklers hanging to the different parts of his anatomy.

But that Clemson has a good team it cannot be denied. Thus for they have scored 136 points to their opponents 0; in a recent game they gained a total of 615 yards during the entire game to their opponents 28, scoring 13 touch-downs and kicking 8 goals. Their coach is a man in whom the Clemson team has sublime confidence; he has reduced the art of coaching down to pretty near an exact science and his name has been a by-word in Southern athletics for the last three years.

In 1901 this team defeated our crippled eleven 22 to 10, thus putting themselves in a class higher than they had ever before attained. Last year when we could and would have swamped them, they cancelled the game. And so now it is up to the Varsity to atone for this defeat and other defeats by silencing these boasters forever and a day. But the Varsity must have some help; the cheering must begin a little before the game and never cease until the final whistle blast is blown. There will be a lot of visitors on the Hill and they must be shown what Tar Heel spirit is—the never-say-die kind. The team is probably somewhat discouraged on account of its recent defeats but this time we must cheer them on to victory. This cannot be too strongly emphasized.

Rooters should be divided up into sections, each under the direction of a leader, so that when necessary the cheering can be united. All those who intend to root for U.N.C. should get together and keep together. "We Are Tar Heels Born" always impresses listeners—they know it by heart up in Virginia—so let this ring out loud and clear. We can't all get in the game but we can whoop 'em up for Carolina and cheer, cheer, cheer.

We trust that every student read the article in last week's issue on the tennis tournament with Virginia and took it to heart. Tennis certainly does not receive the attention it deserves at the University and there is need for a change. Before going to Charlottesville our representatives had been in no previous contest and had had no practice to speak of yet they put up an excellent game. This shows that with good courts and yearly tournaments we can turn out players with no superiors in the South. At our neighbor's, Virginia, tennis has almost monopolized attention this fall and the result was a winning team.

Tennis is a game which requires no special qualifications and every body can engage in it. There is no reason why we can't have a good active Tennis Association here which will turn out some winning players. Virginia is willing to play us again in the spring, so let something be done at once.

delayed pass Carpenter makes about 25 yards and is tackled beautifully by Berkeley. But on account of going out of bounds the ball is brought back to V. P. I.'s 33-yard line. On fake kick Carpenter brings it to her 56-yard line. On same trick V. P. I. makes, one yard, putting the ball in middle of the field, with not quite a minute to play.

Hester is hurt and Roberson goes in. On the next play Donnelly breaks up interference and throws Wilson back for a loss of 3 yards. Carpenter gets 6 yards and then the ball goes over to Carolina on downs. Time is called. Final score: V. P. I. 21; Carolina 0.

November

Flowers.

November marks the decay of the outdoor flower and the rise of the Greenhouse rose.

Our flowers are particularly nice as the season advances. They are the unusual kind, just a little "sweller" than ordinary. Write us about your wedding flowers, and flowers for your friend. That's suggestive.

Telegraph or telephone us your orders for FUNERAL DESIGNS.

Our houses are in full crop this week.
