The Junior Prom. festivities have come and gone, but the thing of which they were a genuine expression still remains—a unified student body. Sharp lines of division in political and social life are no longer drawn. There is, in fact, about the campus a feeling of oneness, an atmosphere of wholesome unity. Let him who tries to stir up a former bitterness go dig a hole in the ground and bury himself. He is not in harmony with the spirit of the day. The snob and chronic knocker are fast becoming fossils, mere relics of a day that is gone. An era of good feeling is ahead and may it last as long as the University!

College spirit is a fine thing but it doesn't consist merely of shouting Carolina and building bonfires. It finds expression also in rougher and more arduous channels. The best expression of it that we have lately seen evidenced is the movement on the part of several students to finish the work on the class athletic field. Realizing that the class teams are without a field, and also feeling keenly the important relation of class athletics to the college athletics, it is their intention, with the help of fifty or sixty students, to finish the work begun on the class field. There is about this plan no waving of flags or beating of drums, but it is simply, Coats off! Down to work!

It seems that there are a dearth of candidates for scrub debates. This is a deplorable fact, for good scrub debaters are essential to good Varsity debaters. Just as the scrub baseball team helps to make the Varsity, so the scrub debaters play no inconsiderable part in the making of a good Varsity debating team. It is through the scrubs that the Varsity should get its opposition, its knocks and its bumps, preparatory to the final struggle. More men should enter into the scrub debates for the sake of themselves, the team, and the University.

The offer of season tickets for five dollars by the baseball management seems to us to be a good offer and should be taken advantage of by all. It admits the owner to seventeen games and thus saves him about three dollars. If only eight games are taken in it would ordinarily cost four dollars. Add one more dollar and see them all.

Our spring debating season is now on. The debaters have been chosen and are hard at work. Let us get behind Messrs. Stacy and Andrews, Hester and Johnston, Rand and Tillett, and the scalps of George Washington, Virginia and Georgia will be dangling from Carolina's belt.

It is a good move on the part of Coach Stocksdale and Manager Gray to have the baseball field raised. Early in the spring there has always been a great deal of trouble about a wet field, but it will now be drained shortly after a rain and in condition to play on.

DEPARTMENT OF MEDICINE

Undergraduate Department. The One Hundred and Forty-second Session will begin September 27, 1907. The course, which covers a period of four years, of eight and one-half months each, is eminently practical, and properly graded, beginning with laboratory instruction in the fundamental subjects, and concluding with a comprehensive system of clinical instruction, terminating in the Fourth Year with the assignment of students as clinical clerks in the Hospital.

A large proportion (at least 80 per cent.) of the graduating classes secure positions as Resident Physicians in Hospitals.

Summer School for Graduates. The clinics and laboratories of this Department are open throughout the year for the benefit of those who wish to engage in graduate work. For those whose time is more limited, a comprehensive course is given, beginning this year May 13, and continuing for a period of six weeks. This course is designed to meet the needs of the practitioner.

Dean of the Medical Department, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.
