Some time ago it was announced that $1000 was absolutely needed in order to pay the salaries of coaches this spring of the baseball and track teams. At the same time it was announced that $500 of this amount had been secured on condition that the students of the University raise the remaining $500. These facts were stated in chapel and an appeal was made to the generosity and patriotism of the students. A committee was appointed, and a campaign was started to raise this money.

The committee has worked hard and faithfully. It has tried to see every student in college. It has raised $425. Of this amount $100 was given by one organization in college. About $50 was given by merchants and others in the town of Chapel Hill. This leaves $275 raised out of practically 750 students. As a matter of fact not more than 300 students have given a cent. Is this an evidence of our love, of our loyalty, of our college spirit? Is this an evidence of our devotion to Carolina? Is this an evidence in action, in service, in self-sacrifice of our allegiance to the White and Blue? Is this an evidence of all that college honor is worth in dollars and cents?

Two years ago in the lobby of a Richmond hotel we chattered for hours a defeated team. Last fall we met the most overwhelming defeat and the bitterest disappointment of many a day on the gridiron at Richmond. And we asked the coach who trained us to come back; the captain who lead us to fight again. We gritted our teeth and said: "We will do it."

No! No, this measly $275, given by less than 300 men, is not our love, is not our loyalty, is not our college spirit. We haven't waked up yet. We haven't realized yet the need of the the hour. But now, now, we must wake up. We must make the sacrifice. We must answer the call of our Alma Mater.

A political club was organized last Friday night among the students of the University. The purpose of the club is not to boost the candidacy of any man but to hold weekly meetings connected with State and National politics will be discussed. The membership in the club will be limited solely for the sake of convenience. It will embrace, however, every shade of political thought. The club will have no officers except a secretary. A leader will be selected at each meeting to have charge of the next meeting of the club. One of his duties will be to furnish a supply of tobacco. At irregular intervals members of the faculty may be invited to speak before the club.

Two Ex-Students of Medical Dept. Win Appointments

Two ex-students of the University Medical School, who will graduate this spring from Northern medical colleges, have recently secured in competitive examinations excellent and much sought positions for their next year's work. Frank Wrenn who graduated at Trinity and afterwards took his first two year's medicine at the University won first appointment in a competitive examination for the Reading City Hospital. Reading is a city of about 100,000 inhabitants. Its city hospital contains 400 beds. An appointment to the hospital is much prized among graduates of medical colleges.

John E. Ray, Jr. who will graduate in medicine at Cornell this spring has won the position as intern at Bellevue Hospital, New York. Out of sixteen applicants for the place he made the highest grade. Of these sixteen men, 2 were from Hopkins, 2 from Pennsylvania, 2 from Harvard, 1 from Yale, 1 from Columbia, 1 from Virginia, and 7 from Cornell.

Both of these appointments reflect the greatest credit on the medical department of the University, for in the main the chief subjects on which the men were examined were those which they had studied at the University.

Cross Creek Lodge I. O. O. F. Present Library to University

The valuable library of Cross Creek Lodge, Number Four, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of Fayetteville, formally passed into the possession of the University on Saturday of last week, after an existence of more than seventy years. A resolution providing for the gift was passed by the lodge in December.

Doctor L. R. Wilson, librarian of the University, spent Thursday and Friday in Fayetteville, perfecting arrangements with H. R. Horne, W. D. Gaster, and D. Gaster, the committee representing the order, for the delivery and shipment of the books. The collection will be received in Chapel Hill in a few days and will be placed in the library—the most of it in the North Carolina room—for permanent keeping.

Through this donation the University comes into possession of a large number of unusually valuable accessions, especially in the fields of American history, literature and of North Carolina history. Among the many titles which have been accumulating for more than seventy years the following are, in the divisions mentioned, the most noteworthy. American history: American State Papers, Annals of Congress, Messages and Papers of the Presidents, and the Works of Jefferson and Adams. Literature: early editions of The Spectator, Inchbold's Theatre, and a large number of bound critical reviews, as The Edinburgh Review, Blackwood, The Electric Magazine, etc. North Carolina history: The Raleigh Standard, Our Living and Our Dead, and a bundle of pamphlets relating to various sides of North Carolina life.

The purpose of the lodge in presenting the collection to the University was—to quote in part the resolution—"that it may be permanently kept and used by the students of the University and be the citizens of the State generally, and assist in the dissemination of enlightenment and aid in the cause of education of the youth of the State"

ONE PIECE HAMMER IN THE NEW MODEL Ithaca

If you see more than one hole in a hammer you know that extra parts are fastened to the hammer whether shown or not. Our hammer is all one piece, only one hole, no toggles or stirrups attached.

We have cut out all cooking levers, bars, push rods, and hammer-stirrups and cock the gun direct from toe of hammer.

Our hammer travels less than half an inch, taking only 1-625 of a second to operate.

Stocks are not cut away for hammers or lock plates and are dovetailed into frame to prevent splitting and spreading.

Catalogue Free; 18 grades, $17.75 net to $400 list.
