FOOTBALL MEN HARD AT WORK

Strenuous Practice for the Horner Game on Sat- urday the 28th.

Varsity Line-up at Present Uncertain

Captain Tillet Only Man Sure to Be in the Scrap. New Men Showing up well. Training Hard for the Coming Games.

The football squad has got down to real business. The preliminary practice of the first week has given way to grueling scrimmages and long signal drills. The coaches are making every effort to have the squad in good shape for the Horner game on Saturday, the 28th. Last year Horner had a team that would have held its own with the State colleges. Several of the stars of that team have left, but the majority are back, and in addition it is rumored that Stafford, the old A. and M. player, English, of V. M. I., and other collegiate players will be with them this year. A hard scrap is looked for.

More particularly, though, preparation is being made for the Davidson game on October the 5th. This is always one of the hardest fights and the score in the past few years has never been above six points. Davidson can always be counted on to have a fast tricky bunch and they regard the Carolina game as their biggest one.

It is impossible to prophesy accurately the line-up in the opening game. Competition is keen for all the positions. In the scrimmages the Varsity has been lining up as follows: Strange and Huske, ends, big Abernathy and Garrison, tackles, Johnson and Dortch, guards, Bagwell, centre, Tillet, quarter, Erwin, Smith, Wakeley, and little Abernathy in the back field. Many others have been tried, but it is a pretty safe bet that those mentioned will get in Saturday's game at some time. Holmewood's work at end has been very promising. Though new to the game he is catching on quickly, and his natural strength, speed, and aggressiveness will make some of the others hustle. Everett, who has had experience on the scrubs at A. & M., is a good line man and has been giving the Varsity trouble in all the scrimmages. Long and Applewhite will be heard from at end. Long is probably the best forward passer on the field and Applewhite's experience stands him in good stead.

Garrison looks like a real find at tackle. Tall, rangy, and strong, he should make a fit running mate for "big Ab." Dortch, another new man, has been tried at guard. He is thick-set and built close to the ground and appears to be especially good on

TEAM CAPTAINS ELECTED

Edwards and Chambers the Men Chosen

At a recent meeting of the baseball N. C. men W. Burr Edwards was elected captain of the baseball team for the coming season.

Edwards has played third base here for the past two years. He is a brilliant fielder and a heavy hitter and possesses probably a better knowledge of the game than any other man in college. For the past two years he has been without doubt the hardest fighter on the squad.

Prospects are good. The entire infield is back, Edwards on third, Baily at second, Leak at first, and Winstead at short. Page is back for the outfield. Several new men with good reputations are here. The battery will probably cause the most trouble.

Lenoir Chambers has been elected captain of the basketball team. He played guard on last year's team, four members of which are back in college. Baskets will be placed this week on the ole tennis courts just west of the gym and it is hoped that some satisfactory practice may be had during the fall.

The Music Starts Up

The musical department of the University has the best material and prospects for years. A call was made for orchestra members, and besides several old men from last year there responded other able performers, including Prof. Wilbur Royster, an old Carolina Glee Club man, W. R. McCorkle, violinist, Henson, cornetist, Proctor Woollen, director.

The band has new material and new music and is busy practicing regularly under the direction of Messrs. Warlick and Rights.

Prof. Sneath will issue a call this week for all vocal aspirants and if all the rumored prima donnas and Carusos come to light, Carolina will outshine Metropolitan opera.

An effort will be made this year to renovate the music room and furnish it for the convenience of members of the Musical Association.

Will Play V. P. I. at Raleigh

Final arrangements have been made for playing the V. P. I. game in Raleigh on October 26. Mr. Albert Cox, President of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce, and an old Carolina football star himself, has been actively interested in arranging the details. It is expected that excursion trains will be run to Raleigh from various points in the state, including Chapel Hill, and that one of the largest crowds that ever attended a football contest in North Carolina will be present.

SENIORS DECIDE TO START SOMETHING

At a Class Smoker They Re- solve to Quit Knocking and Boost

MR. GRAHAM WAS THERE AND SPOKE

They Have an Enjoyable Evening With Plenty to Eat and Smoke. Discussion Was Freely Engaged In.

Last Monday night the Senior class enjoyed a smoke in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. Cigars and good things to eat were in abundance. After a short while of pleasant gossip, President Walter Stokes called for nominations for the minor class officers.

The following elections were made: Statistician, D. J. Walker Reader of Last Will and Testament, J. Y. Caldwell, Class Orator, J. C. Busby; Class Historian, M. T. Spears; Class Prophet, Lowry Axley; Class Poet, S. R. Bivens; Chairman Senior Stunt Committee, R. G. Huffman; E. M. Coulter was elected football manager for this season.

After these officers had been elected, the president arose and stated that the serious business for the class that night was to discuss the social conditions of the University, and to offer suggestions for the improvement of these conditions. He then announced that Prof. E. K. Graham would talk to the class.

Professor Graham said in the beginning that, in his opinion such meetings as the Senior class was then holding could be made one of the greatest uplifting forces in our community. We receive into our society every year from 250 to 275 new men. These men have to be digested as it were by us before they can have the same love and feeling for the University that the upper classmen have. These men do not get this feeling for one, two, sometimes three years; and we are ourselves largely to blame for this because of the manner in which we receive these men. We do not try hard enough to make them feel at home. We are not interested enough in them to associate with them, or to help them see University life from our point of view.

Prof. Graham after he had finished, asked for members of class to express their ideas and opinions on the subject, and to offer suggestions. A number of men responded and a live and interesting discussion ensued.

The remarks of Messrs. Harry and Spears were interesting. Mr. Spears suggestion, that the two Literary Societies follow the examples of the Senior class, and from time to time lay aside their regular programmes and give the evening to social entertainment, was well received.

DR. VILES IN CONNECTICUT

Appointed to Fill Vacancy at Trinity

The following clipping is taken from the New York Times and will be of particular interest to all who were associated here with Dr. Viles, one of the most popular men the University has had in a long time.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 21- The officers of Trinity College announced to day the appointment of Prof. George B. Viles to the Chair of Romance Languages, to succeed Prof. John Glanville Gill, resigned.

Stokes Secures Stars

Manager Walter Stokes of the Y. M. C. A. Lyceum Course has an unusually attractive program to offer this year. Six concerts will be given, the first coming on October 12th, and the last in April. A special season ticket is being issued this year, price one dollar for all six concerts.

The Apollo Concert Company is the first offering. It consists of five members, all skilled musicians playing on every imaginable instrument. They have even gone so far as to have a special instrument of their own, the "Apollophone," sixteen feet long, and possessed of all the musical possibilities of the Steinway Grand Piano.

Coming in November is the Le Barge Musical Company, consisting of Mr. Le Barge and Miss Ethel Zimmer, both musicians and entertainers. Miss Zimmer is said to have a contralto voice of unusual quality.

The third offering is Tom Carvine, polyphonic imitator and humorist. He can imitate every noise that was ever made from drinking out of a quart bottle to steamboat whistles. He will be here in December.

The star offering of the year is the University Girls, seven in number. They excel in both playing and singing, and above all are reported to have unusual personal attractions.

In March a monologist, Noah Beilharz, will be seen in "The Hoosier School Master." Mr. Beilharz has a big reputation as a humorist and is especially good in the selection he will present here.

The final concert is in April and is given by Dana Walden, magician and entertainer. Mr. Walden has a bunch of new tricks. None of the old stereotyped familiar ones will be given.

Correspondents

All local correspondents of state papers, daily, semi-weekly, or weekly are requested to hand their names to the Managing Editor of the Tar Heel or to Dr. James F. Royster. It is important that this be attended to at once.

ATHLETIC TICKETS PLACED ON SALE

A Five Dollar Ticket Admits to All Contests on the Hill

EVERY STUDENT MUST HAVE TICKET

If Athletics Are to Be a Success This Year There Must Be 600 Student Members. Names of Those Who Will Sell Tickets.

Athletic Association tickets are now on sale. These tickets are of two kinds - student tickets and season tickets. The student tickets entitle the owner to membership in the Athletic Association, a vote in all meetings of the Association, and to admission to all athletic contests held on the Hill under the auspices of the association. The other tickets are for sale to members of the faculty, town-people, and alumni. They do not entitle the holder to membership in the Association, but do admit the owner to the football, basketball, baseball, and track contests held on the Hill. This means that the owners of tickets gets to see about $11.00 worth of games for the price of these tickets. The price of both kinds of tickets is the same-$5.00.

The price of these tickets is very small considering the value received for them. Until this year membership in the Association alone cost a dollar. This did not admit the member to any contest. It merely entitled him to a vote in the Association meetings. Then there were eleven or twelve dollars worth of games held on the Hill to see which he had to pay admission. This year the usual number of games and track meets will be held here, so if a man contemplates going to half of the contests he will save money by buying a ticket, while if he intends to go to only about a third of the contest he will about break even on buying a ticket.

The Athletic Association is at present about twenty-five hundred dollars in the hole. Athletics here are not at the top of the ladder either. In order to get the association out of debt and in order to have these students out at the contests to encourage the teams and show them that we are behind them and it is necessary that every student in college buy one of these tickets. If we are going to have athletics here and put out winning teams we have got to support athletics and the teams. We can't just stand around and gas about how unsuccessful we have been, great teams we have, or how the coaches ought to do this that and the other; we have got to give the Athletic Association and the teams that we put out both our moral and material support - and the material support is the best and most efficient way of showing our moral and
