VARSIITY AND SCRUBS

HAVE IT OUT

The Exhibition Given Was On The Whole Satisfactory

GAME WITH HORNER CANCELLED.

Fumbles and Unsuccessful Passes Were in Evidence. Big Ab Jones, and Tillett Show Up Well.

In place of the Horner game which was called off by Horner for some unknown reason the Varsity and Scrubs engaged last Saturday in the longest and fiercest scrimmage that has taken place thus far. At the end the Varsity had four touchdowns to its credit and a goal line that was not even threatened.

The work of the Varsity was on the whole very satisfactory. Fumbles there were in plenty, but most of them were caused by poor passing from a centre new to his position. Other features of Jones' work at centre were conspicuously good, however, and with better passing he promises to put much strength into the middle of the line. The backs played well. Tillett's broken field running was the best that has been seen on this field in a long time. Moore also did well on sweeping end runs. These wide plays were on the whole the best ground gainers. Moore got loose several times for fifteen and twenty yard gains, while Wakely made one of the touchdowns on a widesweep around right end for forty yards. Abernathy's defensive work was more conspicuous than his offensive.

Big Abernathy's work at tackle showed improvement over last year. His getting down under one of Wakeley's long punts and nailing his man was sensational. Wakeley punted extremely well at times, though he was erratic and more than once sent off weak spirals for barely twenty yards. Foust's kicking for the scrubs was well above the average. The end play on both sides was rather weak. Tillett ran back punts for long gains every time, scoring one of the touchdowns after catching a punt near the middle of the field. Oats ran back once for over forty yards.

The first touchdown came in the second period on Wakeley's long run. Soon after the ball was worked down from the center of the field, mostly by line plunges, and was taken across by Tillett on a play off tackle. The third touchdown came in the third period on Tillett's long run after catching a punt. Just before the final whistle blew Long shot a forward pass to Huske who had some ten yards to go to carry it over. This was the only successful forward pass of the scrimmage. The familiarity of each team with the

BASEBALLISTS WORKING

Five Old and Many New Men Out at Work

Captain Burr Edwards grabbing Time by the forelock, or better, in correct baseball vernacular, "purloining a bag from Catcher Time," has posted a call for candidates for the 1913 Varsity baseball team. Nearly forty men have answered the call. From 2:30 to 4:00 each afternoon, Captain Edwards has been sending the candidates through all the preliminary working out that anti-season baseball demands. The crack of the bat against the horse-hide has been ringing down on the Class Athletic Field for the past few days with the same persistency as the kerplunk of the football shoe against the pigskin on the Varsity playground, just over the fence.

There are in all, five men of last year's Varsity team back in college with whom to begin work as a nucleus next spring. However, not one of last year's Varsity pitchers has returned this year; and "Reddy" Swink, the sole owner and proprietor of last year's backstop, has a position in South Carolina—whether it consists in demonstrating the superiority of "Piedmonts" or dealing in yellow pine, this dope scribbler has been unable to ascertain. The entire Varsity infield is back to a man—Leak at first; Bailey, at second; Winstead, at short; and Edwards, at third. In the outfield, roving about with the departed shades of Irby, Hanes, and Young, is Page, Carolina's veteran outfielder.

A nice looking bunch of material has reported for daily practice. But there seems to be a scarcity of pitchers and catchers, especially of pitchers. Capt. Edwards desires us to urge upon every student who has ever dreamed, "pipe dream or twof'er," that he had the making of a pitcher in him, to come out for that position this year. The squad as a whole, hits the ball squarely on the nose and surprisingly far. This dopeist thinks that is a bad omen—for some teams this spring. "What we are doing this fall while the weather is fine," says Captain Edwards, will help us just that much in the spring when the coach takes up the work of whipping together a good, scrapping team."

Here's to the fierce crack of the bat, as well as to the smashing kerplunk of the pigskin—provided, as Judge Brockwell says, "so she 'blongs to Carolina!"

At a recent meeting of the Athletic Council L. R. Johnston was elected Assistant Business Manager of the Tar Heel in place of R. B. McKnight. J. T. Pritchett and W. P. Whitaker were elected Assistant Managers of the track team. All these men are Juniors.

ISSUES STATEMENT

He Is Willing To Bear Any Blame Which Is Justly His.

HE MENTIONS THE LAW

The Faculty Will Not Try to Unearth All Past Breaches of the Law.

I am not only willing but anxious to make clear to the students the action taken by the faculty. First, because it is important for them to understand it and to see that simple justice has been done, for without the feeling that the government is just the attempt to govern is hopeless. Secondly, the statement why punishment has been inflicted serves better to fix in the mind both punishment and offense far better than the annual recounting of the laws which often falls on heedless ears.

The University laws forbid hazing in any form. I am well aware that student definitions of hazing differ in varying groups of students and often widely from the interpretation of the faculty. The faculty cannot accept any other interpretation than their own. Hazing in any form is a broad phrase and covers everything from physical violence to any foolish or humiliating performance which a gentleman would not willingly do in public under ordinary circumstances. The fact that it is done without resistance and on a simple request has no bearing on the matter. The young stranger may well believe that resistance would bring about something still worse.

Again, for many years the law of the faculty has included among hazers those who aid and abet by their presence, and a number of students have in past years been sent away or suspended for this; and the reasons seem good and sufficient to both faculty and trustees, for the latter body has approved this law. In the first place, it but follows the law of the land where a member of a mob is particeps criminis. Secondly, it is practically impossible to draw an excusing line between those who are gathered in the room or at the door and the one or two who may be giving orders. All lend the compelling force of their presence. Just so, all who go to or enter a room to get a freshman out or accompany a party to some outlying field, really aid because their presence in superior numbers makes resistance futile. I think that this will be perfectly clear to every honest, thinking man who knows anything of the circumstances surrounding hazing. The punishment may vary in degree, and some of your comrades have recently been punished under this law.

FIRST GAME SATURDAY

Carolina Will Try the Presbyterians

Carolina opens her football season Saturday in Charlotte against Davidson. This promises to be an unusually hard game for the first of the season and it is unfortunate that no other test of the players' ability has been held except scrimmages with the Scrubs. Davidson has always held her own with Carolina. In Graham and Richardson she has two stars who will have to be watched closely. The rest of the team is an unknown quantity. "Coach" Simmons will be the referee; the other officials have not been selected.

Prospects for Carolina have brightened with the addition of Harkens to the backfield. If he comes up to his reputation he he should add much offensive strength to the team. Last year he was the star on Horner and he has been actively sought after by several colleges.

Training table has been started at Mrs. Farrow's with the following players in attendance: Jones, Dortch, Johnson, Stevens, Everett, L. Abernathy, Garrison, Huske, Jennings, Pendergraft, Strange, Long, Applewhite, R. Abernathy, Harkens, Smith, Moore, Wakeley, Tillett, Manager Mebane, and Coach Martin.

Bogus Checks

All students, merchants, banks, etc., having bogus checks drawn by students of the University and presented in payment for some value received and which checks have been refused to be honored by the bank when presented, will please turn such checks over to A. L. M. Wiggins. No charge will be made for collection.

This is done by virtue of the authority granted by the University Council.

Professor Cobb Leaves

Prof. Collier Cobb, of the Department of Geology, leaves Saturday for Nashville, Tenn. At Nashville he will join a party, composed largely of foreign geologists and geographers, and they together will take a trip for the study of geology and geography. They will journey down the Mississippi through its mouth, and on back through Alabama and Georgia to the mountains of Western North Carolina. From the mountains they will go to the University of Virginia, at Charlottesville, where they will discuss the "Teaching of Geography." Prof. Cobb expects to be absent from the Hill for about a week.

This visit of foreign geologists to America is in the nature of a return of a visit which American geologists made to Europe in 1908.

ADMINISTRATION

MAKES SLAM

Four Men Are Expelled and Twelve Suspended for Hazing

SEVEN JUNIORS IN THE LIST

Debaters, Athletes, Publication Men, Phi Beta Kappa Men, Y. M. C. A. Men All Go

As a result of investigations by the Faculty started after the death of I. W. Rand, four students were dismissed and twelve suspended for one year for all different forms of hazing. Those dismissed are A. R. Blakney, '12; H. A. Martin, '15; D. L. McWhorter, '14; J. L. Horton, '14. Those suspended are J. P. Burke, D. G. Kelley, R. B. McKnight, I. R. Strayhorn, J. G. Tyson, all Juniors; and J. G. Dickson, J. B. Hughes, E. Y. Keesler, O. C. McQuage, W. W. Thomas, A. R. Parshley, L. A. Harper, all Sophomores. The Juniors were punished for a hazing affair that occurred last March after the Sophomore Banquet. Some of the Sophomores mentioned above were punished for participation in the Rand affair, others for various hazing affairs at the opening of the session.

The news of the punishment of these students came as a shock to the community. It was known that the Faculty was making a rigid investigation, but few dreamed that the punishment would be wholesale. The fact that in the eyes of the students at least, some of those punished were onlookers, made the news doubly hard to believe.

It will be recalled that after the banquet of the present Junior class, a number of men went through various buildings looking for a Freshman. A crowd went to one of the cottages just below Pickard's Hotel and tried to enter. The Freshmen refused to come out and barred the door.

Thereupon the crowd tried to break in, and threw rocks through the windows. The student council and the Faculty investigated the matter last year. It was regarded by many members of the Faculty as one of the worst things that has ever happened here. Not enough evidence was accumulated, however, to punish any one. When the Rand affair was being investigated, evidence was brought to light concerning the affair of last year. The Faculty acted upon both at the same time.

Dr. Venable's official report to the Trustees was made on the 30th in Raleigh. It was a complete story of all the hazing done here this year. The executive committee of the Trustees decided to accept Dr. Venable's report and to uphold the action of the Faculty.

Dr. Venable's explanation of the position and views of the
