SECOND CASE FAVORABLE

Durham Court also Thinks Game Worth $50.

Jim Pritchett won a verdict for $50 in the court of Squire R. C. Cox in Durham Saturday; and four hundred students are living in hopes of getting recompense from the Southern Railway for the much cursed Thanksgiving Day episode. Of course the Virginia Creeper appealed. The case will go before the Durham County Superior Court the last of next month.

L. P. McLendon is the prosecuting attorney. "Mac" has good reason to be interested in the case and can be depended upon to devote a large share of his valuable time to securing justice for the students. If this test case is won, the rest of the injured parties will receive redress.

The facts of the case are well known on the campus. The Southern loaded up ten cars with students and left here at 12 o'clock the night before Thanksgiving, scheduled to reach Richmond at 8 the next morning. Poor management, a weak engine, and a wrecked track combined to delay the arrival of the train in Richmond until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The game began at 2:30! Eight extra hours—numbed with cold, aching with hunger, and fevered with the excitement of the big game. And they got there just in time for the last half; so late that some thought it was no use even to go to the grounds. The Southern's attorney tried to persuade Jim that Carolina's touchdown (which the crowd saw) was really the big affair. Jim admitted that it was "an interesting feature" but claimed that the whole game was what he had gone to see.

What the court will have to say on the subject is a matter of live interest.

A Great Contemporary History.

A report of the Kansas City Convention of Student Volunteers is being prepared. The report consists of over 600 pages and includes among other things speeches of William Jennings Bryan, John R. Mott, Robert E. Speer, and Henry B. Macfarland. By advance payment copies may be secured at $1 a copy.

"The Interior" of Chicago says in commenting on it:

"The volume is nothing less than a cyclopedia in itself. Containing over 600 pages and embracing addresses nearly 100 in number, there are few missionary subjects upon which it is not informing. The book is not a bundle of tracts, but a treasury of experience and a garden of delights. The whole makes it evident that the missionary movement is today commanding the best gifts and the most spiritual forces known to the church."

Any one interested in securing copies address 600 Lexington Ave., New York City.

ELON WINS PEACE PRIZE

R. L. Lasley Represents the University.

William Jennings Bryan Truitt a Freshman of Elon College, delivered the best oration on Peace of the eight contestants in the opinion of the judges. The contest was held Friday in Greensboro and was the first activity on the program of the second annual convention of the North Carolina Peace Society. Mr. Truitt's subject was: "The Need of a Reign of Peace." By winning first place he thereby secures the state first prize of $75 and the honor of representing North Carolina in the sectional state meet. Frank Pim Jr. of Davidson, won second place and $50 on, "The Battle Cry."
