BOOMING SUMMER SCHOOL

596 Students Here

When we were away from Chapel Hill this summer the campus was alive with hundreds of ladies. There were 442 ladies and 154 men in attendance this summer, or a total of 596. This was in addition to the law school in which about 35 were enrolled.

Last year there were only 500 students enrolled in the summer school. This year there was not only an increase of about 100, but the curriculum included work for which college credit was given. Nearly one hundred students availed themselves of this opportunity to do college work. The curriculum was comprised of courses in Greek, Latin, French, German, English, History, Math, Physics, Chemistry, Botany, Geology, Education, library science, besides courses in Drawing, Writing and Music.

But in order that the Jacks and Jills should not become dull, there were many entertainments provided. The most notable was the Fourth of July celebration. There was a parade of three hundred and sixty-five people representing forty-three colleges and fifteen high schools. There followed an excellent program of stunts given by the students of different colleges. There were eight colleges competing for the distinction of having rendered the best performance. The University boys won by staging "The Mediation Conference at Niagara Falls." The Davenport College obtained second place with "The Trial Alliance." The Independents, who represented thirty colleges, eight states and eighteen high schools closed the program.

The plans for next year have not yet thoroughly developed. It is expected, however, that there will be a two month school, and seven hundred students seems to be a reasonable hope.

University Coaching School.

The University Coaching School started its first session with an enrollment of some 35 students. The success of the session was such that the continuance of the school is assured. It will be under the same management next year, when additional instructors will very likely be added to the teaching force.

Instruction was given in the following subjects:

Latin: Cicero, Vergil, Latin 1 and 2, Greek A.

Mathematics: Algebra, Plane and Solid Geometry, Trigonometry, Physics A and 1.

French A, German A, History: American and Roman.

Eighty-five per cent of the students enrolled successfully completed their courses and removed either their entrance conditions or fines standing against them.

It is quite generally felt that the Coaching School fills a need in helping men who are backward in their work.

COLLEGE NIGHT A GREAT SUCCESS.

New Men Introduced Into College Life. Rousing Meeting in Gerrard Hall. Reception in Library.

"College Night", the mass meeting held by the Y. M. C. A. each year to initiate the new men into the ways of the University, served as a climax Thursday night to the most orderly opening the University has ever witnessed. The mass meeting was followed by a reception in the Library.

Walter Stokes, President of his class of '13, presided. He is visiting the Hill for a few days.

Mr. Geo. Eutsler, president of the present Senior class explained the Honor system to the new men. He showed how this honor system is growing to be a constructive force as well as a regulating force. That practical reforms and improvements come as a result of the work of the Greater Student Council, which is at the head of the student government here.

Phil Woolcott, of Raleigh and captain of the Track team and holder of the State Record in the high jump, discussed Athletics. He declared that the ideal of Carolina athletics was to have as many men as possible engaged in athletic sports.

Tom Boushall, also from Raleigh and vice President of the Y. M. C. A. discussed the position of the Y. M. C. A. in college life. Besides being a force in the strictly religious life of the campus it is "the clearing house for all student activities."

Mr. J. F. Hackler presented the Literary Societies; Mr. W. P. Fuller the Publications of the students; and Marmaduke Cox the Dramatic club.

The last speech of the evening was by Head Coach "Doggie" Trenchard. He was greeted with a perfect outburst of cheers. His first words to the students were, "Boys, never cut your classes." He then went on to explain how the "cutting" spirit usually led to the student's withdrawal or failure. The success of Carolina Athletics depends upon the "four year student." He expressed his complete satisfaction with the great abundance of experienced material that has reported thus far.

The reception was a decided success. Each new man as he entered was asked to write his name on a furnished piece of paper and pin it to his coat. The receiving line consisted of the Y. M. C. A. Advisory Committee and their wives. The old men circulated around among the new men and continually saw to it that they met the old men and also the members of their own class.

The Library was tastefully decorated with green leaves and Carolina colors, White and Blue, wound around the pillars and stretched overhead.

Lenoir Chambers, former Editor-in-Chief of the Tar Heel, is spending a few days on the campus.

THE PICKWICK

IF you're feeling tired of life,
Go to The Pickwick.
If you're sick of troubles rife,
Go to The Pickwick.
You'll forget your unpaid bills,
Rheumatiz, and other ills,
If you'll stow away your pills,
And go to The Pickwick!

The Charge of the Fresh Brigade.

Each year an army advances
Like hordes of heathen Huns.
They capture and fill old Chapel Hill

Unaided by swords or guns.
Their attack is fierce and horrible,
The natives tremble afraid,
They shiver and shake, they quail and quake

'Fore the charge of the Fresh Brigade.

O the charge of the Fresh Brigade!

O the charge of the Fresh Brigade!

The Sophomores fade,
The town is afraid,
'Fore the charge of the Fresh Brigade.

Fierce as the bloody vandals
They swoop on their innocent prey.

The Carrboro Flier sets the town on fire
With two loads every day,
While over the hill from Durham,
Prepared for merciless raid,
They spin and scoot with honk and toot

In the charge of the Fresh Brigade.

The summits of breezy Buncombe
Their proud detachments send,
While whoop and screech from Wrightsville Beach
Pristine exuberance blend.

So the natty kid from Newbern
And Charlotte's custom made,
Join hand in hand with the Twin-City band

In the charge of the Fresh Brigade.

The pride of Yadkin's cornfields,
And Robinson's rustic swains,
All nature picks such rubes from the Styx

And ships them in by trains,
So with carpet bag and hayseed,
And in rural styles arrayed,
Rough neck uncouth joins gay city youth

In the charge of the Fresh Brigade.

Tom Linn in Europe.

Tom Linn, our Managing Editor, has been delayed on his journey back to the states from Europe where he and "Pap" Whitaker have spent the summer. We can easily believe they have had some exciting times trying to get back home. Tom is expected to reach the Hill before the last of this month.
