

RALEIGH WINS EASTERN FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeats Wilmington High 9 to 0. Silverman Stars

Wilmington lost the high school football championship of the eastern part of the State here Saturday when Raleigh, after a hard fight, secured a drop kick and a touchdown in the last two quarters, making the final score 9 to 0. Despite the chilling hail which fell from the first to the fourth quarter, both teams fought fiercely and kept the gridiron hot with brilliant runs and long passes. Ikey Silverman, of Wilmington, was the star of the game, showing extraordinary speed and pluckiness. Wilmington's fighting spirit was admirable to the end. Even in the last few minutes Raleigh was forced to fight desperately to avert a possible tie.

In the fourth quarter Raleigh made her only touchdown. Faucette, Raleigh's fullback, received Wilmington's punt on his 30-yard line and, by a brilliant 65-yard run through the whole Wilmington team, brought the ball within five yards of Wilmington's goal posts. Champion went over the line for a touchdown on the first attempt. Mills failed to kick goal.

Mills, Champion, Faucette and Terrell for Raleigh did stellar work also.

Y. M. C. A. HAS GREAT YEAR OF SERVICE

Institution is of Real Help and Inspiration to Campus and Community

A number of the various activities of the Y. M. C. A. have been presented from time to time in these columns and elsewhere, but in the following accounts practically all its departments are described that the question may be answered "What does the Y. M. C. A. do with the $2 fee?" and "What does the Y. M. C. A. stand for?"

Weekly Meetings

The desire of the Y. M. C. A. is to stand for the highest ideals of Christian manhood and the larger ideas of service; to help keep the standards high, to join in every good movement, to encourage and participate in the "Carolina" spirit; to link the surrounding community to the University and its members with ties of friendship formed thru acts of service; to stand for the larger brotherhood which knows no class distinctions; to be a big brother to the new man a true friend of the upper class man; to be an outlet for the ambitions of those who would serve; to encourage others to enlist their talents in this great idea. To this end meetings are held weekly for the discussion of these ideas by the faculty, students or outsiders. At such meetings every student is welcomed and at student meetings, free to express his opinions. The Y. M. C. A. takes pride in the fact that its offers of service and cooperation with the various churches, church organizations and community organizations are so gladly accepted. It is glad, too, to ally itself with the Student Volunteer Movement and Ministerial Band.

Bible Study Department

Bible Study at the University of North Carolina has always been an important part of the campus life, but never has it gripped the students as a whole in the way it should. This fact has been due to many causes, chief among them being the lack of sufficient teachers, the inadaptability of the Bible Study books to the type of mind we find on our campus, and to the real problems of student life that connects them with the Bible. The enrollment in Bible Study has now passed the three hundred mark, while the attendance from Sunday to Sunday runs between 120 and 160 in the 22 organized groups that meet every Sunday at 12:30.

All the while, however, Bible Study at Carolina has stood as an outpost of the spirit here, has stood out as an ever ready means of promoting special interest in higher things, as a rallying point for the ideals of the campus. And it has performed its mission well. It does not attempt to take the place of the Sunday School in teaching merely the historical narrative in the Scriptures, but attempts to interpret student life in the light of the Old Testament and of Christian ideals, to lay down the facts on which a man may build a sure foundation, and to emphasize the principles which guarantee a pure life and highest service to God and one's fellowman.

Directories

One of the largest services the Y. M. C. A. performs for the campus community is the publication of the Student Directory which is of great usefulness to the students and townspeople as well. The Handbook published mainly for the new men is also presented by the Y. M. C. A. to help the new men learn something of the University spirit, campus, customs and ideals.

Self-Help Bureau.

This same spirit of helpfulness is demonstrated on the campus by the operation of a bureau where townspeople can find students to do work for them and the students who desire it can find work to pay part of their expenses. This bureau is in constant operation placing some job every day.

The Lost and Found Bureau follows right along this path in being a depository for all the things the honest find and a place of rejoicing to those who have been careless. Numbers of things of value are returned to students.

is a large factor on the campus is shown in the fact that the reading room is never vacant except at meal times and after midnight. The game table is in constant use. Nor is their hardly a time that the meeting rooms on the second floor are not occupied for studying, for some county club meeting, some committee conference, or by the Tar Heel board which has its office in the building, or the Magazine which has a room devoted to its files and business office. The Y. M. C. A. building is the meeting ground of the campus, the convention hall of classes, clubs, and organizations.

Freshman Continuation Committee

The Freshman Continuation Committee, not yet passed into its Sophomore stage, is only beginning to work out for itself a great student idea. It is in short to make the connection between High School compulsion and University freedom; to pilot High School boys into the paths that lead to educated manhood.

The process begins in the summer with a personal letter to each boy who is known to be planning to enter the University in the Fall. At least 35 members of this committee wrote letters this summer, with many responses that made friendships before introductions. The piloting began at the University station where the committee met the new students and welcomed them to the campus. A meeting was arranged for between these committeemen and every new student in groups of 8 to 10. The new men were told that they could find in their particular committeeman a friend who would be glad to help, advise and assist them in any and every way possible.

These 35 men were to see to it that the High School boys should now become University men, taking part in every activity on the campus for which they had any adaptability; to see that his group was connected up with campus life and college activities.

To develop an efficient system so far reaching takes time. It is having fine results already that justify its existence and demand its continuance.

Social Life

With regard to interest in the new men at the beginning of the year the Y. M. C. A. conducted "College Night" at which student speakers explained the work of the Literary Societies, the Publications, Athletics, Musical Clubs, Dramatics and other forms of campus life. After this speaking the new men were invited to meet the faculty, young ladies of the town, and upper classmen at

CAROLINA QUINT LOSES TO DURHAM Y. M. C. A.

Defeated in First Game of the Season 26 to 16

Carolina lost the first game of the basketball season here last night to the Durham Y. M. C. A. by the score of 26 to 16.

The Durham team took the lead in scoring from the first and kept it. Holcomb, Durham's left guard, shot six fouls, and Clay five field goals. For Carolina, Andrews, right forward, is credited with the largest number of points, three goals and two fouls.

The Durham quint showed excellent team work and ability in the art of shooting long distance goals. Captain Johnson, right guard, was the individual star of the game for Carolina. Andrews, Long, Tennant, and Davis also showed up well.

Lyceum Courses

This year it was the desire of the Y. M. C. A. to give the students a higher type of attraction than the old Star Courses gave and so the "The Servant in The House" was brought here on a $250 guarantee, fulfilling well its purpose of presenting a higher ideal to the student body.

It was its pleasure and privilege, too, to have secured Mr. William Jennings Bryan to address the student body and University community. Mr. Bryan was so generous as to make the two addresses complimentary.

Negro Night School

For the first three years the Y. M. C. A., as a part of its social service program, has been conducting a night school for negro boys. Difficulties were encountered in establishing this school, in enlisting the interest of the negro boys and creating among them a desire to learn more. For the last two years, however, the attendance has been continually on the increase and genuine interest has been manifested.

The school is conducted five nights in the week, every Monday night, however, being turned over to debating. This debate night has as a usual thing been successful. A corps of twelve teachers composes the teaching staff. The enrollment has climbed from 45 last year to 65 this year, the attendance remaining proportionate.

Nights are sometimes given over to lectures and special entertainment in line with the general purpose of the school. Through it all the spirit of unselfish service on the part of the students
