9 STIFF GAMES FOR 1916 CAROLINA ELEVEN

To Meet Strong Foes in Princeton, Harvard and Virginia

The 1916 football schedule has recently been announced. There is only one unfilled date, November 18.

For the first time Carolina will meet Princeton and Harvard. She will play Harvard at Cambridge October 14; but it has not yet been definitely settled whether the Princeton game scheduled for October 7, will take place at Princeton or in Chapel Hill.

The schedule begins September 30 with the Wake Forest game, ends November 30, when Carolina meets Virginia in Richmond. Carolina plays on every Saturday between these two dates, excepting the Saturday before Thanksgiving. The schedule comprises nine games in all. It is as follows:

September 30
Wake Forest at Chapel Hill
October 7
Princeton at Princeton or C. H.
October 14
Harvard at Cambridge
October 21
Ga. Tech. at Atlanta
October 28
V. M. I. at Chapel Hill
November 4
V. P. I. at Roanoke
November 11
Davidson at Winston-Salem
November 18
..... at Chapel Hill
November 30.
Virginia at Richmond

CAMPBELL HERE MARCH 1

Spring Football Practice Will Begin at Once

This year Carolina will begin football practice about March 1. Mr. Campbell, who is to pilot Carolina for the next three years, has written Graduate Manager Woollen that he will be on the Hill about the first of March and that the spring football practice will begin immediately.

The new coach is anxious to get a line on all of the good material here, and to meet the men with whom he is to be associated for the next three years. He has already written for the various student publications.

Coach Campbell will probably lay special emphasis on punting and dropkicking. After having worked under Percy Haughton, who is a master in the essentials of football, he is probably thoroughly convinced that the surest way for a team to hammer out victories against strong opponents is to be able to kick.

For her football machine next year Carolina will have to call on those who are already in college, for according to the one year rule no student will be allowed to participate in any kind of varsity game, who has not been registered here as a student for at least one year.

McNAIR LECTURES NEXT WEEK BY WOODBRIDGE

Dean of Grad. School of Co- lumbia to Speak on "Phil- osophy of History"

"The Purpose of History" will be the general subject of the McNair Lectures for 1916 to be given March 3, 4 and 5 by Professor F. J. E. Woodbridge of Columbia University.

On Friday, March 3, the subject of Professor Woodbridge's lecture will be "From History to Philosophy." Saturday he will speak on the "Pluralism of History," and Sunday on "Historical Continuity." The regular hour for these lectures will be 8:00 p. m., and the place Gerrard Hall.

Dr. Woodbridge is the Professor of History in Columbia University and is therefore thoroughly familiar with his subject. He is a delightful speaker and will no doubt command the interested attention of large audiences here.

CAROLINA OUTSHOOT QUAKER QUINT 51-21

Defeats Guilford With Aid of Johnson's and Long's Good Shooting

Carolina, though crippled by the absence of some of her best men, defeated Guilford College Thursday night at Greensboro by the score of 51 to 21. The Carolina team showed superior team work and fast playing at all stages of the game. The goal shooting of Meb Long for Carolina and the work of Walser for Guilford featured the game, Long making 29 of Carolina's 51 points. Johnson also played good ball, shooting six goals. Walser made 10 of Guilford's 21.

Soph Banquet Saturday

Never since Eve fed Adam the apple has there been such feeding as will take place at Swain Hall next Saturday night when the Sophomore class holds its first banquet. The feeding will be interspersed with interesting speeches by members of the faculty and peppy responses from '18ers. An element of comedy will be added to the occasion by the election of members of the Booloo Club and the conference upon certain of their titles. Every Sophomore must be there! Tickets, $1.50, from DeRossetti, Tennent, Cooper, Armstrong and Stephenson.

CAROLINA 31; DAVIDSON 21

Shepard Features With 6 Field Goals

By a score of 31 to 21 Carolina defeated Davidson in basketball at Statesville Friday night.

Shepard, Carolina's right forward, was the star of the game, shooting six field goals. Long also played a good game, shooting four field goals and five out of six fouls. Reese for Davidson shot nine out of ten fouls. King was responsible for most of Davidson's goals.

A good many out of town people were present, and probably the largest crowd ever at a basketball game in Statesville were in attendance.

After the game a dance was given in honor of the two teams.

FACULTY READING FRIDAY

Professor McKie Will Read "Second Shepherd's Play."

Professor McKie will read the Second Shepherd's Play Tuesday night, February 29, at 8 o'clock, in the Peabody Building. Prof. McKie will give the second of the series of Faculty Readings arranged by the Student Activities Committee. Prof. McKie has chosen the Second Shepherd's Play, a Mediaeval mystery. The play abounds in rare humor, both of situation and character. Though of great age its fundamental truth to human nature has endowed it with eternal youth.

Dr. Royster Here For Summer School

Dr. E. A. Greenlaw, head of the English Department has recently sent letters to the high-school teachers of English in the State urging a further interest in the work being done in the University in the field of advanced study in English. Besides suggesting a more hearty co-operation it carries an announcement of the work to be done at the summer school beginning June 13. It also adds that Prof. James F. Royster, formerly of this University but now of the University of Texas, will be here to assist the regular English staff consisting of Professors Greenlaw and Hanford.

Alumni Review Out

The February issue of the Alumni Review comes from the press today with its customary abundance of alumni material. Besides interesting editorials on "University Influence," "The Alumni Faculty Fund," and "The University and Industry," it contains an article on the recent gift of the late George W. Kidder's

URGENT PREPAREDNESS

Washington's Birthday Celebrated on Hill

STRONG DEFENCE SPEECHES

Booker, Frothingham, Latham, and Loughlin Address Students

Exercises commemorating Washington's birthday were held in Gerrard Hall Tuesday morning under the auspices of the Chapel Hill branch of the National Security League. The speakers for the day were Dr. J. M. Booker, permanent chairman of the Chapel Hill branch; Samuel Frothingham, of Boston, Mass.; J. E. Latham, of Greensboro; and Charles Loughlin, of Wilmington. Major Cain, honorary chairman, presided over the meeting.

Dr. J. M. Booker, speaking on "The Father of Preparedness," showed how Washington advocated preparedness and how through the broadness of his views, he seemed almost a contemporary. He read excerpts from Washington's speeches to prove the assertion that "the father of his country" thought "To be prepared."

BOXING CLUB ORGANIZED

20 Members to Start Train- ing Monday in Gym

A club for the promotion of boxing was organized Monday night with 20 charter members. The officers elected were: R. F. Crouse, President; H. D. Sharp, Secretary; J. A. Capps and F. Angel, executive committee. The price of initiation, for the present, is twenty-five cents, and membership is open to all students who may wish to join.

There is only one set of gloves in the organization at present, but others will be added soon. The club will appreciate it if those who have gloves will bring them out to the "Gym" next Monday afternoon at two o'clock. The east room on the second floor of the gymnasium will be used.

This is the fifth time in as many years that this room has been opened for the purpose of trying to get the boxing game started here, but at no time before has there been an organization behind the movement.

It is hoped by the officers that the fellows will stick together and fight the season through; if they will, it may be possible to get a trainer by another year, and at the same time make boxing a regular Carolina sport.

The room will be open from 2, to 5 o'clock each afternoon. Only members of the club will be admitted to the room while classes are being held on the main floor. A regular schedule for the members will be posted soon.
