V. M. I. ELEVEN PLAYS CAROLINA HERE TODAY

BELLAMY AND FITZSIMMONS SLIGHTLY INJURED IN TECH GAME

CADETS HAVE A STRONG TEAM

Have Been Showing Up Well in Previous Games—Team Light but Fast and Aggressive—Line-up

In the game with V. M. I. this afternoon, Carolina will be seen in action on Emerson field for the second time this season. The Cadets have been showing up well so far this season, with a team similar to that one which held Carolina to a 3-3 tie in Greensboro last year.

It is hard to tell what style of play Carolina will adopt this afternoon, as all practice has been secret this week and practically no information has been given out as to the condition of the team. The game last Saturday, especially the last half, shows the team to have improved somewhat. Coach Camp—

DAVIDSON SCRUBS TRIM FIRST YEAR RESERVES

In a close and exciting game last Saturday the Davidson scrubs won from the First Year Reserve men by the score of 6 to 5.

The Freshmen had things much their way the first quarter and rushed the ball to Davidson's ten yard line, but were penalized. Then Blount kicked a field goal from the twenty yard line.

In the second quarter Davidson scored. Starting in the middle of the field, McAllister initiated a series of consistent gains by getting five yards through the line. Runs by McAllister, Patterson, and Singleton followed, Davidson finally shoving over a touchdown, Singleton scoring.

Singleton made some good gains, and quarterback Robson worked the team well. In the third quarter a fumbled pass by Robson resulted in a safety for the Freshmen.

Davidson's interference was the feature of the game.

THE CAROLINA-GEORGE WASHINGTON DEBATE

The preliminary for the Carolina-George Washington debate will be held on Monday night, November 20. All those trying out for this debate must hand their names to C. B. Hyatt, secretary of the Debating Council, by November 13. As stated in the last issue of the Tar Heel, the preliminary speeches shall not be longer than twenty minutes. Further particulars can be had from either the president or the secretary of the Debating Council.

ANTARCTIC EXPLORATIONS GRAPHICALLY DEPICTED

MORE THAN 500 STUDENTS AND TOWNSPEOPLE ATTEND PICTORIAL REVIEW

More than 500 students and townspeople of Chapel Hill assembled at Gerrard Hall on Tuesday night to see the pictorial record of Sir Douglas Mawson's famous Antarctic expedition. In the six reels of motion pictures, lasting over two hours, the entire expedition was pictured, from London, where it was fitted out, to the South Pole region, 10,000 miles from America and 2,000 miles from the nearest habitation in a land never seen before by the eye of man. In this region of water, ice, and snow the ship bearing Mawson's men and supplies was seen ploughing through a sea almost covered with floating snow, wending its way between huge mountains of ice, passing steep hills of solid coal which rose abruptly out of the water, and hurrying past dangerous shoals where the waves were dashing against the rocks with terrific force. At one place a dredge was let down three miles into the depth of the sea, and when it was brought up it was found to contain 100 species of water creatures unknown to science.

When the sea became so obstructed with snow and icebergs that further progress by water was impossible, the party disembarked and allowed the captain to return with the ship. Leaving the rest of the party in a hut near the shore,

DANCE FOR V. M. I. CADETS AT THE GYMNASIUM TONIGHT

MEYER-DAVIS ORCHESTRA AND MANY VISITING LADIES TO BE PRESENT

"—And they're going to have Meyer Davis' Orchestra of Washington, D. C., I hear."

"Yeah, and the dance starts at eight o'clock, so's to waste no time. Glad it's going to be informal. The last time I organized a dress suit, I got all dressed before I found out that the white vest I borrowed had no buttons. I had to use four chicklets with pins stuck through them, and bent over on the other side."

"It would be hard to borrow a full dress now, too. The tax is only fifty cents, and each member of the German Club can bring as many friends as he chooses, excepting freshmen. Some crowd."

"Fifty cents. That's mighty cheap, isn't it?"

"Well, you see the Faculty is furnishing all the decorations (in personam, as wall-flowers) and the German Club provides the music. Speaking of music, I hope he plays some of that stuff from the 'Follies.' The 'pleasuh' of the dance depends on the kind of melodies they have, I think."

"Wrong there! I should say the degree of joy is contingent upon the quality of the chickens. I've heard a lot about these old southern, Virginia born and bred beauties, but I believe we'll have some calico here that'll make those V. M. I. 'keydets' rub their eyes and take another slant. Bet the girls will give those brass buttons the once-over, too. Do you know who any of the fair visitors will be?"

OLIVER RAND INAUGURATES STUDENT FORUM IN CHAPEL

The new Student Forum feature in Chapel exercises was inaugurated Thursday morning with Oliver Rand, President of the Senior Class, as speaker.

He took as his subject "Carolina Spirit." He pointed out the fact that within the past few years the University has grown from a closely knit college into a real University of 1200 men, each school of which is now differentiated and unified within itself.

"From one standpoint this looks optimistic, but is it really so? A few years ago the whole University came into close touch with each other every day in Chapel; now the whole college is never together, and there is a lack of unity among the University as a whole."

"What is true Carolina Spirit," he asked. "It is not merely rooting for the athletic teams, as some seem to think. There are many more ways in which to show this spirit; support the glee club, the dramatic club, and the debating teams as well as the football team. Support all other University activities which go to make Carolina bigger and better."

"It even takes spirit to pass Math I, and every man can do his part in showing Carolina spirit in whatever field he works in everything he does."

STUDENTS AND FACULTY TO HEAR MR. TAFT SPEAK

Ex-President Taft will visit the University again. Those who heard his lectures last year on the duties and powers of the presidency, look forward with much pleasure to his return.

Mr. Taft will deliver an address here on December 7th primarily for the newspaper men of this state in convention here, but students and faculty are invited to hear him.

There will also be several other prominent speakers at this convention.

CAROLINA LOSES TO TECH IN HARD FOUGHT CONTEST

GEORGIANS CRUMBLE IN LAST HALF, BUT HAVE LEAD SUFFICIENT TO WIN

"Those who witnessed that gruelling contest between the North Carolinians and Tech Saturday will recall it with thrilling vividness, even when they have grown old and gray. For as a sanguinary affair it must take rank with the Battle of the Somme and the scrap around Verdun. The Jackets and Carolinians fought like demons, and every man on the two teams put everything he had into the fray."

So said the Atlanta Journal in summing up the Carolina-Georgia Tech game which ended 10 to 7 in Tech's favor.

And yet this closely contested game started off very tame and looked like an easy romp for Tech. Within six minutes after the game started, Strupper, star half-back for Tech, caught a punt on the 50-yard line and by a brilliant broken field run scored a touchdown. Shortly afterwards consistent runs by Strupper and Johnson carried the ball within striking distance again and Spence raised a drop-kick over the bars. Then Carolina got mad. With the opening of the second half a mighty drive was initiated by Folger. Spence and Strupper, two of Tech's best players, were seriously injured and left the field. But the Yellow Jackets succeeded in

SENIOR SMOKER SUCCESS

The Seniors held their first smoker Thursday night in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. Prof. H. H. Williams and Dr. Edwin Greenlaw were the faculty speakers. Prof. Williams spoke on the subject "Marriage." He was responded to by R. M. Ross, who spoke on "What College Should Mean to a Man." Dr. Greenlaw had for his subject "What the Faculty Thinks of the Students." The response was made by H. D. Sharpe, who orated on "Our Responsibilities as a Senior Class." Other speakers heard from were the six Senior co-eds, Misses Barton, Lewis, Pickard, McGlamery, Avery, and Sloan, Messrs. Eagle, Ervin, Crawford, Hughes, and others.

A feature of the occasion was a straw vote for Wilson and Hughes. Eats were in abundance, and the occasion was so pleasant that all voted to have another smoker before Christmas.

NEWSPAPER MEN WILL HOLD CONVENTION HERE

DECEMBER 7, 8 AND 9 CHOSEN FOR DATE OF GATHERING IN CHAPEL HILL

EX-PRESIDENT TAFT TO SPEAK

Leading Journalists of State Will Come Together to Discuss Newspaper Problems and Plans For Improvement

Chapel Hill is soon to have the distinction of being the scene of the first winter state newspaper institute held in North Carolina. On December 7, 8, and 9 newspaper men from the dailies and weeklies of the state will gather here to study, by means of lectures and open discussions, newspaper problems and plans for improvement.

The local committee, with Prof. R. H. Thornton, instructor in journalism, at its head, has secured several men prominent in the field of journalism to deliver the principal speeches. Among these will be Don. C. Seitz, who has been connected successively with

CHAPEL HILL HIGH HAS STRONG FOOTBALL TEAM

The Chapel Hill High School football team, which heretofore has been a thing more imaginary than real, sprang into prominence last week by defeating the Oxford High School, 54 to 0. Though made against a team much lighter this score indicates that there is some good material on the Chapel Hill team. It has a line averaging 165 pounds and a back-field just ten pounds lighter.

Under the direction of Coach Hogan the team hopes to develop into an effective machine, though this is the first year that the Chapel Hill High School has had a football team.

The schedule contains three more games, to be played soon. They are with Cary High School, at Cary, Raleigh High School, at Raleigh, and a return game at Chapel Hill.

The North Carolina Club held its bi-monthly meeting Monday night, and two very interesting papers were presented—one by J. V. Baggett, on Primary Wealth Production of Forest and Wood Lots, and the other by L. H. Hodges, on Fisheries, Mines and Quarries.

On Saturday night, Oct. 28, there will be a Box Supper at Rankin's Chapel, two miles out the Raleigh road. A crowd of ladies from Chapel Hill will be present with boxes. The sale will begin at 8 o'clock. All are invited to attend and enjoy the fun. If you do not know the way out there ask the Secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The following have been initiated into Omega Delta: J. A. Capps, Albert Coates, A. C. Forney and J. Earle Harris.

Rev. W. D. Moss will speak to fraternity men at the Sigma Chi house Sunday at 12:30. He has a message for you!
