THE BASKETBALL TEAM

Basketball is the only varsity activity at present. Possibly it may be the only variety activity of the year. It is necessary that the University be well represented in this single activity.

The success of the basketball team depends, first on the work of the players and coach, and then on the spirit of the entire University. No matter how efficient a team is if it does not have the fire and enthusiasm of the school behind it, it will fall below the level.

But fire and enthusiasm does not have to be loud and noisy. There is a certain dignity and reserve about real enthusiasm. Lets get behind the team with real enthusiasm and let them know it. Attend the games and demand that the team gives you the best it has and you will have a successful season.

JULIAN McIVER

Students, faculty, and townspeople were deeply touched by the death of Julian McIver, a member of the class of '20, Tuesday night. Bright, friendly and agreeable at all times, Julian was well known by all, and his sudden death brought an atmosphere of sadness over the campus. The class of '20, the Battalion, and personal friends showed their deepest sympathy by sending flowers and representatives to the funeral.

TOILERS BY THE SEA

Since the sinking on Tuesday last of the "Everleak," owned by the Trans-Slippysloshi Ferry Co., the situation in the shipping world has become even more acute. As we remember, the "Everleak," plying between Apostles Point and Patterson's Cove, was caught in the fog and mistaking Ash-barrel light for Eubanks Shoal, ran aground with the consequent loss of life.

On the day following, while sounding for the channel which had shifted during the storm, the government cutter, Pepsicola, arrived just in time to pick up the majority of the khaki-clad boys from Emerson Field who had gone down in mid-stream on board the Fullaholes.

Many people have been speculating on better weather and so say the situation will be remedied shortly; but Pudd'nhead Wilson says January is an unlucky month to speculate in anything. The other unlucky months are June, September, April, October, March, November, May, February, August, July and December.

In view of the two disasters mentioned above, the TAR HEEL is in favor of floating bonds for the construction of a municipal under-river tube; for one sees at a glance that the present ferries are unable to cope with the Slippysloshi in mid-winter.

PUBLIC HEALTH WORK DISCUSSED

"County Health Work" and "Public Health Nurses in North Carolina" were thoroughly discussed at the regular fortnightly meeting of the North Carolina Club Monday night by Dr. B. E. Washburn, of the State Health Board, and Dr. L. B. McBrayer, superintendent of the State Sanatorium. Both speakers emphasized the necessity of having properly trained public health nurses in North Carolina to teach the people how to prevent the spread of disease, and spoke at length on the importance of the work accomplished in the past by the State and county boards of health.

The State Board of Health, the University of North Carolina co-operating, will in the early spring open a school for the training of public health nurses, according to Dr. McBrayer. The school will probably be located in Raleigh. It is thought this school will meet the ever increasing demand for public health nurses, there being only 65 in North Carolina at present.

Dr. Washburn, in speaking of the county health work in North Carolina, said that this State ranks high among the health organizations of the country, and easily leads the health boards in the South in progressiveness.

"The chief opposition encountered in doing county health work," Dr. Washburn said, "springs from the fact that a great majority of the citizens ignore the laws of hygiene and sanitation. Many citizens in every rural community are averse to putting aside the fallacies concerning health, disease, and medicine, which they have believed and have heard all their lives."

Another reason for opposition to county health work lies in the fact that the people at large have not yet learned that health conservation produces a greater monetary return than any other investment, the speaker asserted.

LOCAL TALENT TO PRESENT PLAY

A treat is in store for Chapel Hill theatre-goers on Monday night, February 11, when two plays will be given in the High School Auditorium. The first of these, a one-act playlet, entitled, "First Aide to the Wounded," will present Captain J. Stuart Allen and Miss Mary Patterson.

It will be followed by a play entitled, "French Before Breakfast."

The plays are given by the St. Hilda's Guild under the supervision of Mrs. J. L. Campion.

ALL-STATE H. S. TEAM PICKED

The All-State High School football team has recently been picked by Coach G. A. Barden for the 1917 season. He refereed the Charlotte-Winston-Salem game in the western championship series, and the Charlotte-Chapel Hill game for the State championship.

The line-up:

Shepherd, left half, Winston-Salem.
Merritt, full back, Chapel Hill.
McDonald, quarter back, Charlotte.
Culp, right tackle, Charlotte.
Crayton, right end; Charlotte.
Taylor, right guard; Greensboro.
Ledbetter, left guard; Chapel Hill.
Linney, center; Charlotte.
Glenn, center, Winston-Salem, and R. Wearn, half back, Charlotte, though not placed in the All-State selection, deserves special mention, in the opinion of Coach Barden.

PLEASING LYCEUM CONCERT GIVEN

The first of the Y. M. C. A.'s Lyceum attractions was staged right in the middle of exams. The Three Artists gave a light and entertaining program to an audience of about a hundred. The manager states that the show was given at a loss to the Association but served its purpose—to relieve the tension of exams for those who felt the need of such relief.

Miss De Marco's sketches on the piano were rather clever. The violinist, a student in the University of North Dakota School of Music, played an unusually well balanced program.

So the next number of the Association Series will be the troupe of Hawaiians who were here last year.

A dance will be given at the Governor's mansion, in Raleigh, tonight for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Robbins Lowe is now president of the Freshman class. He filled the vacancy caused when Alf Scales left to join the navy.

CHAPEL TALK

"If you were twenty-one years old, had just been drafted, and I called you into my office to offer you the very job that you could do best, would you take the offer? Why, my office would not hold the men that would crowd into it."

With the foregoing statement President Graham opened his short talk in chapel last Monday. "Carpe Diem" was the theme of the talk. Dr. Graham declared that the government had recently and very specifically put the foregoing query to him. The government asked him if he would throw open the doors of the University from the first of May to the first of October in order that it might train the men now in the camps, who can learn things here, but who can do nothing in the camps. "But we are full up here," said Dr. Graham. We are here learning to fill some of those 50,000 jobs efficiently. Each man here can fill one of these jobs efficiently. These so fortunate circumstances are those for the University man to take advantage of now. When Uncle Sam calls for us, we will be fit for his work.

Dick Mitchell has left to enter the aviation corps.

of public service," to quote Dr. Graham, "is the wisest possible in a democratic state. To strengthen public institutions so that the extent and quality of their service may give to the youth of the State that equality of opportunity, that equality of preparation and inspiration assures. With equal insight, Mrs. Bingham saw that the strength of an educational institution in rendering service of distinction depends absolutely on the strength of its faculty."
