

THE TAR HEEL

Library ✓

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

Volume XXVI. No. 26

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, APRIL 13, 1918

(DELAYED)

Price, Five Cents

Regular Annual Tar Heel Contest for the Selection of Next Year's Board Begins Monday

Carolina 3--Virginia 0

As the Tar Heel goes to press reports of the Carolina-Virginia game state that the Tar Heels were victorious, shutting their opponents out with a 3 to 0 score, and that the work of Powell and Pippin played a conspicuous part in the game. A detail report will cover the game next issue.

The regular Tar Heel contest board starts with next week's issue and will continue four consecutive weeks. All University students regardless of race color and previous conditions of servitude are eligible for membership on the board.

First: hand in your name to the editor.

Second: Select two or more of the topics posted on the bulletin board of the Y. M. C. A. and write your name opposite them. Any number of topics may be chosen and any number of contestants may choose the same topic.

Third: When you have covered the topic bring it to the Phi Delta Theta hall and place it in the box just inside the door.

Fourth: Continue to write up two or more topics each week for the entire contest.

Of those contesting 20 will be selected by a board consisting of the editor in chief, the managing and assignment editor, head of the journalism department, and another member of the English department. These 20 men will be recommended to the athletic association for selection.

Previous service on the board, popularity or pull have no place in the choosing of the board. A careful consideration of every article submitted will determine the election. Don't hold back, but make your intention known at once. Any member of the board will gladly offer such suggestions as his experience will permit. There are ten places to be filled.

Tickets for Dramatic Club play tonight on sale at Eubanks.

What's to Happen and When

Saturday, April 13—Carolina Battalion at Greensboro. Carolina vs. University of Virginia.

Sunday, April 14—Bible Classes at all the Churches. Bible Study classes in all the dormitories at 12:15 P. M. Dr. Moss at Sigma Chi Hall.

Monday, April 15—President Graham in Chapel. Carolina vs. University of Virginia on Emerson Field. Latin-American Club in the History Room of the library at 7:30 P. M.

Tuesday, April 16—Kamiechi Kato leads Y. M. C. A. Discussion at 7:15 P. M., in Reading Room.

Wednesday, April 17—Music in Chapel.

Thursday, April 18—Student Forum in Chapel.

UNIQUE EASTER DANCES FEATURE JUNIOR WEEK

HANDY'S JAZZ BAND AND THE BEST GIRLS IN THE SOUTH GRACE OCCASION

With the Gorgon's Head Dance Wednesday night as the first wave, the big spring drive on the shrine of Terpsichere was begun. Under the leadership of Arthur Ambler, with Jim Flicklen and Donnell Cobb assisting, the soldiers and soldierettes of the Battalion of Pleasure stormed the palace of the Dance Goddess and took her captive. Handy, the composer of those famous "Memphis Blues," was on hand with five other handy wielders of the tuneful instruments and ably urged the dancers on toward their objective.

This was an invitation dance in honor of the Junior Order of Gingham and was attended by girls from all over the state and neighboring states. These additions to the ranks were declared to be the best ever and it is reported that they shared the greater part of the burden in this big drive.

The gym, tastefully decorated in pine and cedar boughs, was a veritable sylvan glen, fit place for nymphs to dance. Strung among the thick branches overhead were purple incandescent bulbs and around the gallery every light was covered with square shades bearing the insignia of the Gorgon's Head. Streamers of purple were entwined.

(Continued on Page 5)

Novel Senior Stunt Presented by Class '18

Strikingly presented, appreciatively received, and ever to be remembered as one of the best Senior Stunts in the history of the University, "The Fall of the House of Hohenzollern" (dramatized by the class of '18 in Gerrard Hall Thursday night of Junior week) carried imperishable glory with it to the grave. Such, at least, is the consensus of opinion as expressed by those most merciless critics, the campus and the faculty.

Beginning with a scene of leaving on the University campus as the boys depart for the front, the audience was carried rapidly to the Imperial Palace of the Hohenzollern family at Potsdam, through the American trenches, "over there," and then again back to the final catastrophe in Potsdam.

Supported by an all-star cast (not to mention his wife) the Kaiser is bending all his energies towards preparing for the great decisive battle impending on the next day. An intimate glimpse of the Emperor's private family life is here seen, and its disturbed condition is well illustrated by the "Hohenzollern Blues," music especially prepared for the occasion by Mr. E. S. Lindsey. The spirit of revolt which has been seething throughout the kingdom then bursts forth, the populace rise against William II, the American forces storm and take the Palace, the Hohenzollern dynasty is no more.

C. R. Pfaff, as the Emperor, and B. L. Meredith, impersonating Mrs. William II, were hailed as the star actors of the play. They

BASEBALL TEAM RETURNS FROM HARD SOUTHERN TRIP

WINS TWO OF FIVE GAMES PLAYED. BUT SHOW FINE FORM AT ALL TIMES

The Carolina baseball aggregation returned to the Hill Sunday from their Southern trip after a week's hard playing. The men were in fairly good condition, considering the fact that they had been steadily on the "go" since leaving the Hill the previous Saturday week and were playing under adverse circumstances. Belated trains caused the team much trouble. In fact the last game of the trip with Georgia could not be staged because the train was five hours late.

In spite of the fact that the team lost three out of the five games played, losing to Camp Sevier, Wofford, and South Carolina and winning the Clemson and Guilford games, the trip was a success in that it gave the players the much needed training and experienced preparatory to the Virginia games. Each player and the squad as a whole showed marked improvement during the trip.

Manager G. Holding became so infatuated with Wofford College that he became sick while there and was confined to the college infirmary for several days, being unable to make the rest of the trip, and returning to the Hill just ahead of the team. He says he knows "what hard luck is."

Holmes Herty, short stop, was forced to return to the Hill after the Guilford game because of a "Charley Horse," and was unable.

(Continued on Page 3)

Greensboro Trip Called Off

It was a great disappointment to the battalion when it was learned that the big trip to Greensboro Saturday had been called off. Many hard practice drills preparatory to going to Greensboro had been carried on.

Transportation for the battalion could not be gotten. In reply to the request for a special train the management learned at the last minute that every available car was needed in the transportation of soldiers to and from northern and southern camps. An exhibition drill, however, will be given on Emerson field Monday afternoon before the Carolina-Virginia game here.

were ably seconded by W. D. Macmillan, the shade of Frederick the Great, who gave the motif of the play. The whole play lasted scarcely 45 minutes, quick changes of scenery and the late start on account of lack of electric power hurrying it up.

GOLDEN FLEECE

V. S. Bryant, Jr.
J. C. Bynum.
W. C. Eaton.
Walter Feimster.
N. G. Gooding.
G. D. Holding.
Jack Powell.
Howard Rondthaler.

JUNIOR ORATORICAL CONTEST WON BY NATHAN GOODING

HODGES AND WILLIAMS REPRESENT DI—GOODING AND MILES, PHI SOCIETY

In the annual Junior Oratorical Contest, held in Gerrard Hall, on Wednesday of Junior week the committee consisting of Messrs. Chase, Daggett, and L. A. Williams, awarded the Carr medal to Mr. Nathan G. Gooding. The contestants were L. H. Hodges, Di; Forrest Miles, Phi; R. D. Williams, Di; and N. G. Gooding, Phi.

Mr. Gooding's subject was "The Growth of an Idea." He traced briefly the career of Lafayette showing how he developed in spite of every corrupt influence that could result from wealth and feudalism, and the early loss of his parents, and always remained unsullied, true to his great ideal, just liberty for all men. It was this ideal that influenced him to come to the aid of America in her struggle for freedom. He then showed how a year ago America was confronted with a similar question. We had watched the struggle in Europe for three years, until the liberty and freedom of the world was threatened with destruction. To hold off longer would have been cowardice. We entered, not to thrust democracy on any one, but to provide that no one should be denied the right to choose.

(Continued on Page 5)

High School Debaters Again Contest for Cup

The sixth annual High School week started last Wednesday when hundreds of debaters, tennis players, and track athletes began pouring into Chapel Hill and the University from all over the state. Many teachers came with the teams, swelling the number of visitors to well over four hundred. They were here as guests of the University; the girl debaters were entertained by the town people and the faculty, and the boys were taken care of by the students in the dorms. and given their first taste of college life.

The fun and work started for the high school students with the preliminary debates which began on Thursday at 7:00 p. m. The teams were divided into twenty groups, ten affirmative and ten negative, and a separate set of judges heard each set speak. The best team was selected from each group and the next contest was between these twenty teams. The teams selected Thursday night were the following:

NEGATIVE

Jamestown: Miss Clara Craven and Miss Ruth Reynolds.
Aberdeen: Miss Virginia Ferree and Harold McKeithan.
Selma: Miss Lillian Snipes and Elmore Earp.
Wilson: Thomas Burton and Will Anderson.
Brevard Institute: Gola Bennett and R. L. Young.
Concord: Miss Ruth Crowell and William Lentz.
Gastonia: Miss Myrtle Warren and Robert Boyd.

(Continued on Page 3)

TAR HEELS MEET U. VA. REGULAR ANNUAL SERIES

CONDITION OF BOTH OF THESE TEAMS WARRANTS FAST CLEAN EXHIBITIONS

GOOD RECORD FOR EACH TEAM

Very Few Letter Men Found On Either Club—New Men Comprising The Two Teams

The regular baseball series between the University of North Carolina and the University of Virginia will be the chief attraction of the week. Severe weather has caused the uncertainty as to the date but many rooters are anxiously waiting for the series. From many standpoints the contests promise to be lively ones.

Both teams have been going through rigorous training for weeks and have played a number of games in preparation for this annual championship series. The Virginia team is composed of three letter men, two last year's substitutes, and four men from last year's first team.

Letter men are: Rixey, brother of Eppa Rixey, of Philadelphia Nationals, who has pitched two years, is showing up well, having won games against Virginia Christian College and Richmond College. Gwathmey of last year's team is the same steady catcher and is batting well. Mahood, centerfielder and Captain, is showing his usual speed and good hitting. Howze, playing at second base, a substitute from last year's team, is playing a star game. Moran, left field, is a substitute of last year's team and a good hitter.

From last year's first year team: McCall, in right field, is the fastest man on the team. Toy, at first base, is showing up well. Petway, at short, was an outfielder last year but has proved a good man on the infield, and his well. Mount at third base, of last year's team, rounds off the infield by being a steady, dependable player. Woolfolk and Thomas, of last year's first year team, are infield and outfield utility men, respectively. Taylor is a pitcher of last year's first year team. He showed up very well in the game against William and Mary, which he won. Also Gresham, a pitcher with lots of speed, is a dependable player.

Season so far for Virginia: Virginia Christian College 0; Virginia 8.

William and Mary 3; Virginia 11.
Richmond College 8; Virginia 11.

PROBABLE LINE UP

McCall r. f., Toy 1b., Howze 2b., Mahood c. f., (Captain); Pettway s. s., Mount 3b., Moran l. f., Gwathmey c., Rixey p.

Rixey and Taylor will most probably be the choice of pitchers for the two games. The team has been hitting exceptionally well for early season and is in charge of Pop Lonnigan, Virginia's veteran trainer.

With a season's record about fifty-fifty, our team having met pretty strong opposition on the Southern trip, Capt. "Jack" Powell says that Carolina is going to

(Continued on Page 4)