Woman's Association Holds Business Meeting

The regular monthly business meet-

The regular monthly business meeting of the Woman's Association was held on the afternoon of Wednesday, November 13, in Peabody 5, the old "co-ed room" of last year. At the beginning of the year this room was used as a class room but has been offered again by the University to the women as a meeting place and will be furnished for them.

Owing to the lack of a meeting place plans for the year have been delayed. Definite progress by all committees was reported at this meeting, however, and the work for the year will soon be under way.

Realizing the need of the women students here for the social side of college life the Hostess and Entertainment Committees will co-operate in arranging monthly evening entertainments when the women may get together. The Patriotic Work Committee has asked each member to pledge a definite amount of time each week to be spent in Red Cross work and there will be weekly meetings in the Association room for this purpose. The women have undertaken to raise the money for a number of laypose. The women have undertaken to raise the money for a number of layettes and sets of refugee garments to be made by them and sent through the Red Cross. Six sweaters are being knitted for the local chapter.

The Association hopes to keep in touch with those who leave the University each year and to this end the Membership Committee has sent out letters to all last year's members who did not return asking them for information as to what they are doformation as to what they are do-ing. A news letter will be made up and sent out as soon as possible to the old members. Plans are being made for frequent entertainment of the soldiers in co-operation with the Y. Some form of physical training will probably be arranged for the women by the University

The Association looks forward to year of service to all women who have been at the University and especially to those now here. It hopes also to serve the University in every way possible.

The non-S. A. T. C. Company took a hike last Thursday. The principles of extended order were practiced and the men were taught to advance in skirmish line while under fire. Protecton of an army on the march was also practiced. An advance and rear guard was kept during the whole hike.

On Wednesday, the Country Club was stormed by E Company under Captain Allen. F Company held the position and since it was outnumbered it was forced to retire. All of the methods of real warfare were used, scouts and advance parties being kept out by both parties. Another one of these attacks will be staged soon. It will probably take place at night in the vicinity of the trenches. Quite a number of these attacks were "pulled off" last year under Capt. Allen, and off" last year under Capt. Allen, and so there will probably be a number of night attacks staged each month.

Extended order drill by the battallion and close order drill by the companies is still being carried on. Capt. Allen will continue his lectures on "Extended Order" during the following week. In addition to these he will make several lectures on "Trenches" and "Trench Warfare."

The contest for officers which has

The contest for officers which has been going on for a number of weeks, will probably terminate next week.
The men have been matched pretty closely and the general opinion is that next week will mark the end of the contest.

JUST GOSSIP

Some said it was a mental disorder that caused the strange conduct and behavior of Private ers agree that least there were some symptoms of horrifycabalitudinitaticombusque in the most malignant and deadly form.

He was first noticed one day entering endless volumes of figures in a notebook. When asked as to the purpose of such exacting mathematical calculations, his eyes would take on a dreamy look and in a feverish hollow-sounding voice he would rehollow-sounding voice he would reply that he was figuring the volume of hydrogen that would be formed by the decomposition by electrolysis of all the water on the earth. Much astonished by this reply the next question put would be what caused such an idea. Perhaps he would reply that he has figured out that the earth was a flaming rebulous mass much once a flaming nebulous mass much like the sun and that it was the union of all the oxygen and hydrogen in the mass which formed the water overing a great part of the surface of the earth.

Much impressed by these strange ideas we marvel at the unusual scientific ability of the young man and bow low before the shrine of such a genius. Then some wise gray sline genius. Then some wise guy slips us the word that the young fellow is taking freshman chemistry and much of the interest in the case is lost and many of its seemingly puzzling facts explained.

There is a pleasant river in Europe called the Rhine.

It flows between the land that beongs to Germany and some which she took without the owner's consent.

Several million Germans crossed the Rhine four years ago for a trip across

They stopped quite suddently upon meeting a few Belgians, Frenchmen and Englishmen who were going in GAME WITH "TANKERS" the opposite direction.

After looking for the Atlantic for four years they decided to turn around and go home.

A few mill ons of Americans are on the way to the Rhine also. They are encouraging the Germans in the plan which they are pursuing. If the Germans hurry they may get to the Rhine Rookie: "Who is your favorite author?

Ditto: "My father."
Rookie: "What does he write?"
Ditto: "Checks."

Number 1: "Why is Reveille like the Star Spangled Banner?" Number Two: "Why?" Number 1: "Because everybody rises when they hear it."

Doctor: "You may report either sore throat or a touch of Inflamatory Trachevitis just as you like.' Doughboy (consulting doctor in the Infirmary): "I'll take the last thing doctor, if it doesn't cost any more."

Chapel Hill police force: "Look here, lady, you can't wear that hat in this dry town."

"Why not?" "Because it's full of cocktails."

A CLIMATIC LATIN VERB Skato, skatere, falli, bumptum.

HERE ON TURKEY DAY (Continued from Page 1)

Our husky lads, however, are not dismayed by this formidable line up believing the thing that counts is "not what you used to was but what you now is." At any rate the team is in excellent condition and should be in tip-top form on Turkey Day to meet the Camp Polk aggregation.

AULD LANG SYNE FAILS TO REPEAT (Continued from Page 1)

and Pharr for Carolina. The Carolina line work surpassed that of her op-ponents by far. Davidson was aided somewhat in her scoring because of a clight slope toward the Carolina goal. The Blue and White teamwork, both offensive and defensive, was quite equal to Davidson's.

HON. VICTOR S. BRYANT MAKES INSPIRING TALK (Continued from Page 1)

a democracy fight a great war? They wanted to know if we could effectively enter the conflict and stay together three thousand miles away. Some of our Congressmen voted (and honestly, too) against the declaration of war on account of these unanswerable questions. Each day blought the people opportunities and there is no reason to the realization that the war was one of liberty. The meaning of President Wilson's words, vague to the un-derstanding of those that heard them when they were first uttered, "to make the world safe for democracy," are now clear to every citizen of the na-

"The way in which our part has been done is little short of a miracle. It has been our great power that has decided the issue. Last spring men of national prominence prophesied that the war would last for years. He would have been considered a simpleton who would have said that the end would come before Thanksgiving.

"What is the meaning of this? Th's is the answer: in union there is strength. Another answer is that moral power is the strongest power. Because he considered that his ma-chine was efficient enough the Kaiser proclaimed partnership with God. We were little prepared in a military way, but we had the moral power to put behind the contest. This war is the triumph of right and moral force. Wilson has confidence in the moral power of the world and in man and believing this he has tried to convey to the enemy the false position of their governments.

"If any of you here feel disappointed," concluded Mr. Bryant, "he has no cause for regret. You have the opportunity that rarely comes to man. You have the greatest of all assets—youth. Make the most of your UNIFORMS At Special Prices And all other articles of Uniform and Equipment at comparatively low prices. Send for our special "University Price List"

Pressing Neatly Done Repairing a Spec 16 Years in Business $1.50 a Month

For the Best and Quickest Service Get "LONG BILL" JONES

ARMY & NAVY STORE CO., Inc.

LARGEST OUTFITTERS, GOV'T CONTRACTORS

why you should not become leader President Wilson was a failure lawyer, but he had youth and the for sight to grasp his opportunities. telligence, character, and energy overcome all obstacles. So return your books and use your minds opportunities.'

