"THE ALL WEATHER MAN"

Coediquette

I am one of the first co-eds, I am very proud of that because Of the great amount of bravery it took to face boys and boys and more boys.

Every day in the old times when women were in awe of masculinity
I returned to the University
And there I saw Classes in which there were twelve girls

And ONE boy!
I began to realize that the girl of today is brave to the point Of rashness

Because there is nothing in the University to stand in awe of.

And then
I passed down the street near one of the new buildings late in the evening.

Suddenly a confused roar met my ears
A shout in a bass tone,
A shriek in a tenor,
A yell in an alto,
Groans and explosion of anger, pain and menace!

I fled.
When I reached the post office I met one of the Professors and I asked him

If the students were lynching the bellringer

As they threatened to do in my day,
and he said

Oh, no!
Don't be alarmed. It is only one of the S. A. T. C. Companies Numbering off.

If that is the way they teach Mathematics I could never face a class now.

My heart is too weak!
But maybe the co-eds of today
Have to face so many unexpected things that they have been hardened to that awful sound.

And then I asked the Professor if the soldiers recite in the same tone
And he said

Not always.
Still that sound upset me so that I took the jitney for Durham
And I don't think my heart Is strong enough for me to risk another trip

To my Alma Mater!

Med Society Organizes

At an informal meeting held in the "Stiff room" the other day, the first year medical students decided to organize the class and elect officers.
Suiting the action to the word they suspended their carving-knife activities and immediately after stowing the stiffs in the pickle barrel, began the election of officers.

After many lengthy debates and much balloting the following officers were elected: E. R. Tylor, President; M. E. Bizzell, Vice-Pres.; D. J.
Rose, Sec'y. and Treas.

Between their studies and the fact that they are required to attend all drills, the Med Students are having a rather hard time of late, but, however, they have taken the matter up with the Military Authorities and expect to have some reasonable adjustment made soon.

"Appease that conscience—subscribe for the Tar Heel now!"
"Appease that conscience—sub-
scribe for the Tar Heel now!"

"Say, Bo! That brother of mine is a lieutenant in the army now."
"That aint nothing—my brother is a United States Marine!"

Otimism—A whitewash for the Blues.

Pessimist—A person who can weep for joy.

Time is endlessly long, and every day is a vessel into which much may be poured, if one will readily fill it up.—Goethe.

Boy: "O mama, look at that med-ler!"

Mama: "My dear, he is a hero from the front."

Boy: "Well, anyhow, he's wearing a medal."

"Selma, Selma," shrieked the porter.
Excited Willy: "Pop! Pop! He is goin' to sell ma!"

Teacher: "Little Women,—Louisa
M. Alcott."

Puzzled pupil: "Little women lives in alcohol."
