

CAROLINA SMOKER WAS REPLETE WITH THRILLS AND ALL-STAR SKETCHES

"WHAT WILL CARRBORO SAY" FAVORABLY RECEIVED BY AUDIENCE

WAS REAL CAROLINA CABARET

Music, Food and Fun Were Combined Into an Appetizing Whole

The long heralded "Carolina smoker" took place Friday night in Swain Hall and that it was all that could be desired can be proven by any who attended. Between six and seven hundred students, faculty, faculty wives, and townspeople gathered to spend an evening of fun, fancy, and good-fellowship. On an especially constructed stage a play, juggling, military tactics, cartooning, and music gave a cabaret-like atmosphere for the onlookers who divided their time between "seeing the sights" and indulging in the "eats and smokes" that were served. Bobby Wunsch had arranged the well-balanced program for an enjoyable evening and to him must be accredited much of the success of the entertainment.

The first number presented was "What Will Carrboro Say?" a burlesque representation of "What Will Barbara Say?" a folk play of Chapel Hill life by Miss Minnie Sparrow which was presented a few weeks ago. Those taking part—Misses Caroline Goforth, Taylor, Reid, MacFayden; Messrs. Burton, Jonathan Daniels, Neiman, Lucas—acted their roles superbly. Misses Sparrow and Lay directed the piece.

Chester Burton, with his clever juggling and eerie chuckle, drew much applause from the spectators.

A reminiscence of Carolina's military days was presented in the form of an awkward squad "corporated" by "Admiral" Simms. Imagine a squad composed of Umstead, Topping, "Fats" Stevens, Will P. Anderson, "Mighty" Smith, and Thompson, on the war path for Bill Hohenzollern's scalp! Simms had a tough time with his mismatched crowd, but they drew a volley of applause.

A neat exhibition of the manual of arms, interspersed with camp tricks, was given by G. D. Crawford, Clark Smith, and T. S. Kittrell. In a bayonet drill Crawford and Luther Hodges depicted what those in the "Big Fight" have been experiencing in that way.

A rather unique number was that of a Japanese quartette composed of Messrs. Aibara, Kita, Niato and Watanabe who sang some of the college songs of their country.

Clever cartoons were drawn by C. R. Sumner and Tom Craven who show skill and talent with the crayon.

Selections were rendered throughout the evening by a stringed orchestra composed of Harold Williamson, Ed. (Continued on Page 4)

DIRECTORY APPEARS

The long-expected Directory of Faculty and students has recently made its appearance on the Hill. The Directory is a decided improvement over any former directory, giving in addition to the students Hill address, his native village, and the class and school in which he pursues dame learning.

The booklet is neatly bound and printed and the statement of the student enrollment is preceded by a list of the faculty, the deans and officers of the university, officers of the Y. M. C. A., the student council and the University Publications.

Enoch Arden Reading Favorably Received

Enoch Arden, a melodrama by Tennyson with musical accompaniment by Richard Strauss, was presented in a masterly manner by Professor Bernard and Mrs. Winston in the High School auditorium Thursday night. The house was crowded by an appreciative audience, who thoroughly enjoyed Professor Bernard's expressive reading and Mrs. Winston's artistic handling of the music. As a poem Enoch Arden is too familiar to require comment. But the music by Strauss is little known and deserves notice. It is seldom played because of the difficulties of technique and interpretation. There are three main motifs which represent the three principal characters: Enoch Arden, Philip Ray, and Annie Lee. Upon these motifs is built up the musical structure, which follows the poem closely and enhances the emotional value of every important passage. Poem and music together make a profound impression on the listener.

This performance was the second of a series called Art and Literature which has been arranged by the English Department for the pleasure of the students and the townspeople.

CAROLINA DEFEATS OAK RIDGE IN INITIAL GAME

VISITORS GARNER ONLY ONE HIT OFF POWELL'S DELIVERY

The 1919 baseball season at Chapel Hill opened in a blaze of glory Saturday afternoon when the Tar Heel boys walked out a 4 to 0 victory over the fast Oak Ridge aggregation on Emerson Field. The contest, although well played by both teams, was for the most part devoid of the brilliant plays and sensational features to be expected later in the season. From all indications the Carolina team is in fine form and should have a most successful season.

Captain Powell, for Carolina, pitched superb ball, holding the visitors to one hit. He almost repeated his spectacular performance of four years ago, when he pitched a no-hit game against Oak Ridge. Joyner went in the box for Powell in the eighth frame and continued to hold the classy prep team scoreless. Younce also substituted for Roberts and Cordon for McLane in the eighth.

The pitching of Powell and the willow-wielding of Roberts, Bryant, and McLane, who each connected safely with the elusive pill twice out of three times at bat were the features for Carolina. Shirley pitched fair ball for Oak Ridge.

Following is the box score:

RHODES SCHOLARSHIP APPOINTMENTS

Appointments for the Rhodes scholarships to Oxford university, England suspended during the war, will be resumed this year, beginning with October, 1919, according to an announcement just received by Chairman of the Faculty, H. W. Chase. Only one Rhodes scholar will be selected from North Carolina by the state committee which is named for this purpose. In June there will be published a list of names to whom application may be made.

A radical change has been made in the method of selecting Rhodes scholars. In the future, the qualifying examinations, which have hitherto been required of all candidates, will be abandoned. Candidates must make formal application for the scholarship which must be endorsed by the authorities of their college. Selection will be made on the basis of a man's past record, including scholarship, character, interest in outdoor sports and interest in one's fellows and in distincts for leadership.

BASEBALL CLASSIC TO BE STAGED SATURDAY NEXT IN GREENSBORO

CAROLINA AND VIRGINIA NINES TO CONTEST FOR HONORS

THE TEAM IS IN GREAT SHAPE

And Will be in Tip-Top Form When Umpire Calls Time

The baseball classic series of the South will have its first performance Saturday, April 12. The scene is Cone Park, Greensboro. Everything points towards a big day, both girl colleges will be there en masse—100 per cent strong. This game, the opening of the historic annual series of three games between the rivals, is the biggest annual spring sporting event of the state and perhaps the South, and not only people from Greensboro but from the entire state turns out to root for the Blue and White.

Now that Wilhelm, Fritz and other of like ills have taken seats in the "peanut" the minds of all can lightly turn to thoughts of baseball. Gobbers, Dopes, etc., will be the order of the day mixed in with an abundance of "pep." The ground hog has finally come out of winter quarters and the man who knows all about the weather—Jo-Jo—has promised to let it be a beautiful day, despite the fact that it is April, and tries to rain now and then—mostly both.

Arrangements are being made for a special. The train will obey everybody's wishes—leaving the Carrboro station Saturday morning, getting to Greensboro about noon, and leaving there in the wee-small hours of the following morning, even if it be the Sabbath. It will be a "Carolina Special" loaded with full blooded Tar Heels, filled to the brim with "pep" out for Virginia's goat.

The game will be called at two-thirty P. M. The admit one fee is the (Continued on Page 4)

The Tar Heel Passes its Twenty-Six Milestone

One score and six years ago the students of this campus brought forth a new institution, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that each student has the right of information about the daily history which he is helping to make. To be specific—on February 23, 1893, the first Tar Heel made its debut on the campus. The introduction of a weekly publication was brought about because of the need of a medium for expressing general campus news and this field was recognized as the best one for satisfying this need. Prior to this date the University Magazine had served both as a newspaper and as a literary periodical. The fall of 1892 saw the first contest between Carolina and Virginia, and perhaps this fact gave some inspiration for founding the Tar Heel as the official organ of the Athletic Association.

The initial Tar Heel contained the following foreword:

"The growing demands of the University have shown the need of a weekly paper. The University Athletic Association, regarding itself as the means by which such a need could be supplied, at a stated meeting elected a board of editors (chief and five assistants), and a business manager.

"With this apology only the first issue of the first volume of the Tar Heel makes its appearance.

"This new venture is necessarily entered upon by the present board with no little trepidation, nevertheless with a determination to make a success which can only be done through the indulgence and assistance of our faculty and fellow-students. Therefore we invite honest criticism and any aid in the advancement of this new project will be thoroughly appreciated."

Among the names found on the original staff are several that now have state-wide reputation. The editor-in-chief was Charles Baskerville, now head of the Department of Chemistry in the City College of New York. His assistants were Walter Murphy, A. C. Wooten, Curran Busbee, J. Crawford Biggs, and A. H. MacFayden.

JUNIOR ORDER DANCE

The Junior Order of the Gorgons Head gave an informal dance Saturday night, March 29, in their Hall on Franklin Avenue. Among those present were: Dr. and Mrs. Dey, Mrs. Bullitt, Misses Taylor, Foltz, Henderson, Temple, Bain and Buice of Chapel Hill; Miss Hitchcock, Mrs. Busbee and Miss Leah, of Raleigh. A large number of Juniors and Seniors were present.

Peace Treaty Will be Published by Conference

The Peace Treaty was finally adopted on March 31 by the Peace Conference in English 21, and its publication was authorized. The Treaty includes articles fixing the responsibility for the war, the military and naval terms of peace, the indemnity terms imposed on Germany, definite settlements for territorial disputes and mandatory problems, the position of new states, and articles providing for the establishment of a strong League of States, which will go a long way toward preventing future wars.

The Conference believes that in this Treaty is embodied the right solution for most of the world's big problems. The Treaty is built on facts obtained by extensive and careful investigation. Slavish imitation of the Paris Conference has been avoided. In fact most of the provisions of the constitution were decided upon before the publication of the Paris Conference's constitution. The Conference hopes that upon the publication of this Treaty the thinking men of the University and the state will give it careful consideration. If the document succeeds in creating a greater interest in the international situation and greater support for the League of Nations, its purpose will have been attained.

VARSITY NINE RETURNS WITH BRAGG'S SCALP

IN ONE-SIDED CONTEST TAR HEEL LADS WALK AWAY

The varsity nine added another victory to its collection of victory trophies when it defeated the artillerymen at Camp Bragg, Fayetteville, by the score of 7 to 4. The pitching of Wilson for Carolina and Hart for the soldiers, and the fielding of McLean, Carolina's second bagger were the features of the game. Wilson allowed no hits during the five innings which he was on the mound for the Tar Heel team. The work of Hart was good, but the support given him by his team-mates was poor as the box score shows. The bad condition of the grounds upon which the game was played, was in a large respect responsible for the errors made.

The box score and summary follows:

DI ELECTS OFFICERS

The first regular meeting of the Di Society for the third quarter was held. Installation of the newly elected officers took place. The new officers who assumed their duties are:

President, Luther Hodges; Vice-President, G. D. Crawford; Secretary, C. P. Powell; First Corrector, R. B. Gwynn; Second Corrector, W. H. Bobbitt; First Censor, C. D. Beers; Second Censor, E. E. Rieves.

An interesting debate on the question of whether the term system is better than the new quarter system or not, was staged. G. D. Crawford and C. T. Boyd upheld the quarter system, while C. H. Smith and R. D. Doughton argued for the term system of ante-S. A. T. C. days. The members of the team arguing for the new system succeeded in proving that the "new is better than the old."

Mr. Ted Lenoir, who was recently discharged from the Officers Training Camp at Fortress Monroe, has returned to the Hill to resume his studies.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED, GAMES WITH STRONG TEAMS

RUTGERS, YALE, UNIV. OF TENN. ARE SCHEDULED FOR GAMES

COACH CAMPBELL WILL BE BACK

Coach Campbell Will Be Back and Several Varsity Men From the Great Eleven of 1916

Including games with the Rutgers, Yale, University of Tennessee and other strong foot-ball teams, the university football schedule, just announced, indicates the resumption of varsity athletics on the Hill next fall on a complete pre-war basis. Perhaps the most interesting announcement made by the schedule is that of the classic Carolina-Virginia game which will close the season as usual this year, being staged November 27,—location to be determined at a later date.

News of the greatest interest to all Carolina supporters is that next year's team will be strengthened by the return of Beemer Harrel, Graham Barden, and Bill Grimes, all varsity members of the great eleven that defeated Virginia in '16.

Coach "Johnny" Campbell, recently returned major in the A. E. F., has been released from active service and, it is understood, will soon make his appearance on the Hill in preparation of the coming season.

Following is the schedule, just announced:

Seniors Hold Monthly Smoker in Y. M. C. A.

The April Smoker of the Senior class was held Wednesday night in the reading room of the "Y." This was the third of the series that the seniors voted to have at their first reunion in January, not including the Senior Coed Smoker.

President Luther Hodges presided over the meeting. The first part of the evening was devoted to business—athletics, Yackety-Yack, Magazine, Senior Stunt, Banquet, Commencement, never before had the dignitaries had so much important business to transact.

"Snooks" Durham, Captain of the Senior Basketball team, spoke of the enviable record of his quint. "The seniors although they are getting old and dignified still showed fight. The class of '19 came out second, second only to the Bloody Sophs." T. P. Brinn next spoke of the baseball outlook past and present. "Of course we couldn't afford to beat the faculty, because they were right in the midst of correcting exam papers.

The Senior Stunt next came up for consideration. Miss Elizabeth Lay, chairman of committee, put the situation before the class. "We, the committee, have already written a Stunt that we are sure would compete favorably with any senior stunt in the past. But we have decided that it is a waste of time and energy for the seniors to put on such a performance. Instead we propose to put on a Senior Play during commencement, the nature of which will be a Pageant or some historical incident of this historic institution." The seniors voted unanimously to drop the stunt and take up the senior play instead. Thus '19 broke another time worn tradition. At the present rate President Woodrow won't have a thing on the class now in power in Chapel Hill.

"What is the will of the seniors concerning the banquet?" President Hodges next asked. Again tradition went smash. Instead of the Seniors leading off with their banquet it was decided to give the honor of first place to the Juniors. The Senior Banquet will be staged sometime during commencement.

Acting Dean A. H. Patterson, the only faculty representative, next spoke "This custom of having members of the faculty at Smokers reminds me of the custom of the Roman Emperor who always kept a wise man near by to remind him that life was short and good times could not last forever. This has been a critical year in our history, not since the days of the Civil (Continued on Page 4)
