DR. KOCH WILL WRITE MASQUE RELATING TO THE ROANOKE IS. SETTLEMENT

Perhaps it is not generally known that in 1920-21 an elaborate international celebration will be held throughout the United States and Great Britain, commemorating the many events of English-American history. The year 1920 marks the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers. Around this event as a nucleus, the other events have been arranged, in such a manner as to make the celebration a conjoint one.

The North Carolina Legislature has appointed a commission to arrange for the celebration in 1920 of the landing on Roanoke Island, N. C., of the first English settlers in America, the colonists of Sir Walter Raleigh, conjointly with the anniversary of the permanent settlement of Virginia, Magna Charta, the Revolution of the British Commonwealth, and other correlated events.

North Carolina's particular share in this celebration will be the presentation of a masque in Raleigh next spring, the masque having been written by Professor Koch of the University.

During the past week, Professor Koch lectured at a meeting of the Woman's Club of Raleigh on Community Drama, by way of preparation for the Ter-centenary celebration of next spring. Mrs. R. W. D. Connor presented the matter of a Raleigh commemoration and plans were made for the presentation of Professor Koch's masque.

The masque centers about the activities of Sir Walter Raleigh and his colonists, who were the first settlers of the new continent. The title of the first part of the masque is, "Raleigh, Shepherd of the Ocean." In this part are presented two episodes; first, "The Spanish Armada, 1588," and second, "Raleigh's Vision of the New World, 1596."

The subject with which part two deals is, "The Martyrdom of Raleigh." Three episodes are included in this part: "The Lure of the Orinoco, 1617," "Raleigh's Last Venture, 1617," and "The Sacrifice, 1618."

It is assured that the presentation of Professor Koch's masque will be an elaborate affair and will accurately represent North Carolina's famous part in the settlement movement.

Varsity Basketball Men Start Training

Regular varsity basketball practice began Tuesday night when about 30 men reported. Maj. Boye, who made an enviable record as captain of the West Point quint during his stay at the Academy, is coaching the squad. Among the old men out are Capt. Carmichael, Morris, Shephard, and Rourke. Douglass, a former star of Trinity, is also out. Lipfert, Brown, Fulton and Farrington, who are now in football training, will probably report for duty as soon as the football season closes. Manager Spruill is arranging a very attractive schedule which will be announced at a very early date.

TAR HEELS, DESPITE DEFEAT OF LAST WEEK, AWAIT VIRGINIANS

Before defense such as this V. M. I. was helpless and was held to a baggardly 29 points.

Seriously, however, the game was a bitter pill, but such doses are often needed. We need our overconfidence well cleaned out. And the game was the best thing that could have happened to our student body and our team.

To be beaten by a team which in its turn has been swamped the week before by N. C. State, an eleven we have trounced, is no easy dose. But it happened. And let there be no mistaking this part. The light cadet team had the upper hand at all stages; they played rings all around us. They deserved to win. The only time our boys recovered from their semi-hypnotic trance was at the beginning of the second half when they received the ball and drove straight through the cadet line for five first downs and a score.

The team is not to be blamed. Overconfidence perhaps played a small part in their defeat. What is more likely however is that the mid-season slump which comes to many teams struck us at this period. And it is exceedingly fortunate that it does come now. The first climax of the season was reached October 23 at Raleigh when, after weeks of strained tension we defeated N. C. State in a grueling contest.

The natural tendency was to relax; the team did this.

Making no excuses for our defeat from the splendid cadet eleven, we are still firm in our contention that with the Carolina team playing as it played N. C. State, the cadets would have bit the dust.

But—we look forward now. Defeat will help our team. They are coming out of their slump and on Turkey Day (this is our prediction), we will see the machine at its highest form.

Realizing the need and the mutual benefits of a closer association the men from Bertie County met on Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of organizing a county club. Mr. Eric Norfleet was elected President and Mr. Harrel, Secretary. Owing to the small number of men in school from Bertie the club does not at first expect to accomplish very much, but the members hope that this attempt will be the nucleus of a larger and bigger Bertie County Club in the future.

At a meeting of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society Tuesday night in Chemistry Hall, Dr. H. V. Wilson read a paper on some crustacea of the North Carolina coast and Dr. F. P. Venable and D. H. Jackson demonstrated the reaction of hydrochloric and hydrobromic acids with potassium permanjanate. A large number of the members were present and after the program a discussion of the general policy of the Mitchell Society followed.

STUDENT BODY HOLDS PEP MEETING AND SNAKE DANCE ON ATHLETIC FIELD

Are we down hearted? H—No, was the answer as expressed by a large majority of the student body that gathered on the tennis courts where a series of yells began and sent their echo to every part of the campus and athletic field, Monday evening at four thirty, following up the suggestion made by Frank Graham, Monday morning in chapel.

The crowd began to gather soon after the ringing of the four-thirty bell, and grew in immensity with each moment. A few minutes after the bell had rung, "pep" and enthusiasm was at its height. No onlooker would ever have dreamed that that enormous crowd of students were cheering a team that had gone down to defeat only two days before. In that mass meeting was exemplified the true spirit of Carolina, a spirit that knows no defeat, and cherishes every victory.

When the crowd had completely gathered the yells began, led by Tom Wolfe and G. D. Crawford. They were not content to remain out of sight of the team they were so heartily cheering, and as an irresistible wave they swept down on the athletic field, where yells were again given for the team. After many and long lusty yells, they began a snake dance around the field, which is emblematic of victory and not defeat. And a victory it was for them for the spirit that prevailed knows no defeat. The team, every member of it knows that the student body is behind it to a man.

When the students had yelled to their hearts content, when they were completely satisfied that they had expressed themselves well, they disbursed, each as happy as if a victory had been won.

Glee Club Starts Next Week on Trip

The University Musical Clubs, consisting of the Glee Club, the Orchestra, and the Mandolin Club, will leave the Hill on Wednesday, November 19th for the first trip of the year. Concerts are scheduled as follows: High Point, November 19th; Charlotte, 20th; Greensboro, 21st; Asheville, 22nd. The regular concert on the Hill will be given early in December, during the dances.

Mr. Weaver, Director of Music for the University, is in general charge of the Clubs. Ben Cone and Ed. Lindsey are assistant directors. James Howell is business manager. Under Mr. Weaver's expert direction a splendid program is being worked up. The organizations are unusually strong this year. Much good material appeared in the Freshman class; and a number of the old men are back. The program will contain all varieties of music, everything from standard overtures and classical chorus numbers down to the latest and raggiest rags.

The following men will make the trip: Mr. Weaver, Howell, Lindsey, Cone, Rondthaler, Lucas, Horne, Ross Powell, Turrentine, Craven,

PLAYS ARE SELECTED

God" by Mrs. Latshaw, presented a picture of an old mountain "prophet" and his struggle to obey "the voice of God" in caring for little children, even after his last charge has been taken from him.

The plays were voted upon by the audience and the Play Committee, Professors Dey, Daggett, Hanford, Howe, and Coker, selected the three making the best combination for the first program. The plays to be given are Miss Sparrow's play, "Who Pays?" Miss Lay's play, "The Hag," and Thomas Wolfe's play, "The Third Night." Tryouts for these plays will be held Monday afternoon in Peabody Hall and the rehearsals will begin as soon as they can be cast.

The plans of the Carolina Playmakers for the year are promising. The first volume of folk-plays will be published soon and will contain three of the plays written last year. At a meeting of the Executive Committee Wednesday afternoon it was decided to accept a loan from the University for the improvement of the Forest Theatre which will be turfed and planted with shrubbery so as to form a natural outdoor stage. The Playmakers plan to present some form of outdoor drama on this stage in the spring. The organization of the Playmakers into definite permanent committees is being completed. It is desired to make the organization representative of the students, faculty, and the community, a truly democratic group. The Executive Committee is composed of Professors Daggett, Wheeler, and Woolen, Misses Roberson, Lay and Taylor and Mr. Dougald MacMillan.

SURRY BOYS GIVE SMOKER

One of the most enjoyable and interesting meetings of the year was experienced by the members of the Surry County Club when they got together last night for a smoker and general session. Some very interesting talks were made and plans were formulated for a big "blow out" for all Surry men at the University at an early date. Every man on the Hill will wish that he called "old Surry" his home before the year is out. The following are the officers of the club: C. M. Lewellyn, President; J. B. Yokley, Vice-President; E. S. Hale, Treasurer; and W. E. Merritt, Secretary. There are fifteen members in the Club.

Latin-American Club will meet Monday night November 17th, at seven o'clock in the History Room of the Library.
