

First Aid for Every Home

FROM the little things that keep you well to the things that make you well, you will find this store complete in every detail of its service.

Keep sickness away by keeping on hand such things as we can suggest. For cuts, burns and bruises, have a real first aid remedy. Stock up well with the sanitary bandages, antiseptic bandages, etc., that first aid needs require.

Services such as suggesting these things is but a part of our job every day. In addition you'll find us a ready source of supply for hundreds of "First Aids to the Home."

THE SHEAFFER Fountain Pen is typical of the quality of our merchandise. The pen that "always writes all ways" is like the quality that is "always the same always."

"And the SHEAFFER Sharp-Point Pencil's as good as the Pen" Ask for a demonstration of both.

THE POET SAYS

We are living, we are living,
In a grand and awful time!
And a quarter we are giving
For things not worth a dime!

ONE DANCE A MONTH OKLAHOMA'S LIMIT

Norman, Okla.—Fraternities and sororities of the University of Oklahoma may have one dance a month—if the faculty doesn't decide to stop that one. But out-of-town guests are not to be invited.

There's too much touching of the "cheek you love to touch," and too much agitation about the shimmy to suit President Stratton D. Brooks, he said in effect when he promulgated the one-dance schedule. Three new dance halls died when the sentence was executed.

But "prexy's" heavy hand didn't stop there.

Curfew for the university is at 10:30. To enforce the rule Dean Gittinger, social mentor, parks himself unannounced upon sorority porches and begins checking in strollers when 10:30 arrives. Later arrivals are subject to faculty inquiry.

MY CONGRESSMAN

I know I have a congressman
In Washington, D. C.,
For now and then he comes around
To get a vote from me,
He proudly shakes my hand
And asks about my needs,
And when he goes to Washington
He sends me garden seeds.
Whenever there's a bill for which
I'd like to have him vote,
I trust in him and tell him so
By telegram or note,
And he gets every one, I know,
And every one he reads,
For always when the spring has come
He sends me garden seeds.
The other day I wrote to him;
"We put our faith in you
To make the League of Nations safe
If Wilson puts it through,"
His answer came right back to me.
"Appreciate your needs
Am sending in tomorrow's mail
Some lovely garden seeds."
I'm glad I have a congressman
In Washington, D. C.
His legislative efforts there
Mean, oh, so much to me!
He is my representative,
For me he intercedes,
And always when the spring has come
He sends me garden seeds.
—The Mississippian.

FURMAN UNIVERSITY

The students at Furman are debating the question of having their mail delivered to their rooms. For a small sum letter containers could be put upon every door in the dormitories, and then some college student could be secured to assort and deliver the entire amount of mail.—The Furman Hornet.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

After two days' grace granted the Freshmen to learn their songs, they feel confident of surviving the song test. The vigilance committee will award either a green card, certifying that the exam has been passed, or the customary dose of iodine will be put on their hands in case of failure.—Columbia Spectator.

UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI

The Co-eds are to be congratulated on being able to form a literary society this year.—The Mississippian.

WINTHROP COLLEGE

Recently the students challenged the faculty for a game of hockey. However, the student team met its match and the score still stands 2 to 2.—Winthrop Weekly News.

BAYLOR UNIVERSITY (TEXAS)

The students at Baylor have to pay poll tax in order to be able to represent the University in any athletic event, according to the constitution of the Student Self-Government Association.—The Lariat.
