A. E. F. MEN ORGANIZE EIGHTY MEN STRONG

As a very fitting celebration of Armistice Day, Carolina's men of the A. E. F. held their first smoker last Tuesday evening in the "Y." Eighty veterans of Uncle Sam's armed forces were present for this first gathering. Among the professors and instructors present were, Drs. Hamilton, Towles, and Abernethy, and Messrs. Frank Graham, Campbell, Efrid, Totten, and Chambers.

Doctors Abernethy, Hamilton, Graham and other members of the faculty gave very interesting and instructive talks. El-Rees-So's and tempting eats consisting of sandwiches, cakes, and hot chocolate were served by young ladies of the Red Cross. While the fellows assaulted the eats and filled the atmosphere with the clouds of smoke from the vile weed, they recalled experiences of one year ago.

The Carolina men who were members of the A. E. F. have organized into a club, which has already selected its officers. They are as follows: President, C. I. Taylor; Vice President, Bryce Little; and Secretary and Treasurer, P. E. Green. No definite plans for the future activity of the club have been formed, but it is hoped that it will become one of the best organizations on the Hill. It is now planned that it shall be a permanent affair until the last man of its body has left school. The membership of it now totals eighty men, both students and faculty members who have seen service abroad.

One of the most important matters considered by the organization was that concerning an allowance upon the part of the college for credit given for military service by members of the A. E. F. now back in school. In a petition to the Dean of the School of Liberal Arts, the question has been very clearly brought to the attention of the faculty.

The subject of Dr. Prouty's paper at the Geological Seminar on the 17th of October was "The Graphite Deposits of Clay County, Alabama." At the meeting of October 31st Professor Collier Cobb gave an account of the recent geographical excursion to study the waterpowers of Cumberland, Sampson, and Bladen Counties, and the lake district of Bladen County, in which he and Professor Saville took part.

The November number of the Alumni Review has recently made its appearance on the Hill. In addition to the usual Alumni news and to the discussion of the trend of University affairs at the present time, the Review devotes considerable space to the celebration of the 126th anniversary of the University, not only on the campus but out in the state. A summary of the proceedings of the many Alumni meetings throughout the state on October 12 is included in the issue. The football games of the season are also featured, several cuts of the games being shown. Of particular interest to students are the articles upon the gigantic endowment campaigns launched by several of the large northern Universities, notably Yale, Harvard, Princeton, and Cornell.

The following is the exact copy of a letter received from a man in Massachusetts. The letter, which is of recent date, is self-explanatory.

"Athletic Association,
University of N. C.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

Dear Sirs:—

To settle a bet, will you please advise me if in a game of baseball between the years of 1908 and 1911 with Colgate College did the University of North Carolina use a negro pitcher? Your prompt answer will be greatly appreciated.

Yours truly,

Listen, fellows! Did we ever use a nigger around here for anything except to sweep up our rooms? "All together! One-two, one-two. —NO!"

Don't give the poor fellow the horse-laugh—he really must not be responsible. You know it would be possible in some places, but around this neck of the woods—not hardly. "Ask 'Big Stuff' if he wants a good partner to help him hold down the old mound, or mention it to Nemo. They'll get you told."

As a remembrance of the deep and sincere feeling the late Dr. Kempt P. Battle held for the University, his cherished orange tree has been given the library, it was learned, and the librarian stated that it was the custom of Dr. Battle to tie the oranges to the limbs after they had refused support so great was his desire to see it continue bearing, to feel that it, like he, continued to give cheer and good works.

It was stated that since being placed in the periodical room several unthinking persons have taken a few of the oranges, a thing that it is expected they will desist from when they know how the owner of the tree cherished its fruit.

The Glee Club left Wednesday on its annual western tour. They showed in High Point Wednesday, Charlotte Thursday, Greensboro Friday, and will show in Asheville tonight.

They will return to the Hill on Sunday and will give us an opportunity to hear them on Friday, December 5. This will be a delightful extra attraction added to the frivolities of dance week.

The personell of the Club was published in full in last week's paper.

Dr. D. D. Carroll, dean of the business school, spoke Monday night in the Y. M. C. A. reading room on the subject of War Risk Insurance. His talk was of the nature of an explanatory discussion to ex-service men about the ten thousand dollars insurance policy issued by the government to men in the service during the war. Many men had dropped their policy and were wanting to renew it, but were unable to find out how to do so and it was for their benefit that Dr. Carroll explained the steps necessary to pursue in order to again take up the policy.
