

OUR SISTERS AND BROTHERS

The association with the thinking men and women of 1,000 colleges was of greater value than can be estimated (at the Student Volunteer Conference in Des Moines). To actually live with over 7,500 picked young Christian leaders of North America was an inspiration not soon to be forgotten. And especially did the delegates receive much from the other representatives of our own state. It is said that sisters and brothers don't agree so well, but the trip to Des Moines disproved any such idea. We, as U. N. C. students, didn't know we really did care so much for our fellow colleges.

One college, of course, we claim more as our real sister—N. C. College for Women. Leading all colleges of the state in the number of delegates and living up to every prestige of their beloved college, we are proud of our sister. Closer than ever before are the ties drawn that binds us to each other. More convinced are we now than we were, and we knew it then, that the girls of N. C. College are real sports. All that is good, fine, wholesome, uplifting, and enjoyable, we wish for our sister college.

Meredith is not our "sister" college ordinarily but on this trip she was in the fullest sense of the word. If we envy Wake Forest for nothing else, we envy their connection with this great institution, which from sample, is unsurpassable. Meredith we are happy to know you better than ever before. It will be our great pleasure to strive to perpetuate our honest-to-goodness friendship with you.

Nor did we realize that we had so many sisters before. The girls of G. C. W. measured up to the high standards for which we knew them before and our enthusiasm for them shall remain the whole year around as great as it is the day after their Glee Club performance when they are our guests.

Another girls' college for which we hold highest regard is Peace, of Raleigh. And surely we did make peace with them on our trip to Des Moines. The more we know you, the more we love you, and the more trips to Des Moines we take, the more we know you.

We didn't know Flora MacDonald well before the conference. They didn't have such a large number at the conference, but those who were there were there with the goods. The very best to you Flora MacDonald.

Although close together in linear measure, we have not been so closely connected with Trinity College. Now we know you, Trinity, and from the type of delegates you sent to Des Moines, we feel that we have lost by not being closer to you. But never again.

The Quaker College showed us the real stuff men are made of. We were pleased to know you and the memory of you shall remain with us and has already crystallized into good fellowship and friendly feeling.

We have always known that Elon could play basketball, now we know that it is not only the basketball quint who are O. K., but from the delegation to Des Moines, every man and woman of you are good "fellows."

To our three brother colleges, Davidson, N. C. State and Wake Forest, we extend the hand of good fellowship. No finer spirit could have existed between four men's colleges than existed between the above named schools and U. N. C. while at Des Moines. We feel more now than ever before that, although we are rivals, we are friends and sportsmanlike rivals. May we always give each other all that is due and more in that congeniality which was with us at the conference.

We are proud to give a line to the colored colleges of our state. North Carolina colored colleges had more representatives at the Des Moines conference than any other state in the Union. Congratulations!

CHAPEL HILL HIGHS TIE CARY TOSSERS

Chapel Hill, Jan. 23.—Chapel Hill high school and Cary high school played to a tie in basketball here this afternoon, 29 to 29. The score at the end of the second half was even 29 all. A five-minute extra period was played out but in spite of desperate effort neither team could score. Merritt with seven goals for Chapel Hill and Matthews and Timberlake with five each for Cary lead in the scoring.

quarters for the football and baseball squads. To remedy this it is suggested to enclose the rest of the space under the west stand, lay a concrete floor, and thereby make an ideal dressing and locker room where 500 athletes could be cared for. Here additional showers could be installed and a steam room fitted up. It will be remembered that there is under this stand a small dressing room with showers already connected with the main water line.

The gymnasium at present can accommodate only 400 students with lockers. It is recommended further that the gym building be put on the main heating plant making it possible to have warm water throughout the day. Although under the present conditions some 600 students bathe daily according to an estimate made by the director.

PIANO RECITAL TOMORROW

A piano recital will be given in Gerrard Hall Sunday afternoon, February 1st, by Mr. Paul John Weaver. This is the first of the series of musical programs which will be given under the auspices of the Community Club and the University Department of Music, the following numbers coming on the first Sunday afternoon of each month during the remainder of the school year.

Mr. Weaver will play five groups of piano pieces, about half of the program consisting of modern music which has not been played before in Chapel Hill. The recital will begin promptly at four o'clock and will last one hour. It is free to the public, and all who are interested are invited to come.

The complete program reads:

I. Greig—Wedding Day at Troldhaugen, Poeme Erotique, Puck, Norwegian Peasant March.

II. Chopin—Berceuse, Ballade, A flat, Nocturne, (Posthumous).

III. Debussy—Danse, La lune descend sur la temple qui fut.

IV. Cyril Scott—Valse Caprice, Danse Negre.

V. Rachmaninoff—Prelude, C sharp minor, Melodie.

HIGH SCHOOLS WILL DISCUSS IMMIGRATION

The High School Debating Union will have for its query this year the following, Resolved, That the United States should adopt a policy of further material restriction of immigration. The contest will be carried on this year as it has been for the past seven years, with the schools grouped in triangles and the winners of both affirmative and negative sides coming to Chapel Hill for the final debates.

The Aycock Memorial Cup, donated by the intercollegiate debaters of the University, will be awarded to the winning school, together with the honor of the State championship. The triangular debates will be held the latter part of March and the final contest early in April.

From a friend at Chapel Hill comes an inquiry for the address of Mr. Herschel Johnson. It is No. 3 Brek Hall, Cambridge, Mass. Mr. Johnson has resigned his commission as captain in the army and is a civilian again. On his return from France he was undecided as to whether he would remain in the army or not. Having always had a penchant for the law, the pen finally proved mightier, in influence, than the sword, and he laid his armor by and went to Harvard where he is now armed and equipped with law books.—The Charlotte Observer.

CLASS BASKETBALL TAKES ON GREAT IMPETUS

Did anyone ever hear of basketball? Did anyone ever hear the like of basketball? Everyone is playing basketball. Every dormitory has organized a team, from Carr on the east to Smith on the west; from Battle on the north to South on the South. Even the Graduate Club, under the able leadership of Clement Eaton, has organized some kind of a team, or is in the process of organizing one. It is rumored that this is not the entire scope yet, as County Club teams are subject to make their appearance at any time.

The class teams, too, are in the process of being organized. Already the Junior and Senior classes have completed their organization. Joe Pearson was elected captain of the Junior team and G. D. Csawford captain of the Senior team. Every night finds worthy aspirants making their way in the direction of either the Gymnasium or Memorial Hall. Many are even going so far as to keep training, since competition is growing so keen for places on the different teams.

It is reported that class basketball has the most promising outlook that it has ever had since being instituted at the University in 1911.
