

ANCIENT HISTORY

1893

Why is it that so many fellows practice warbling in the main hall of the South building?

Why don't the faculty remove those abominably uncomfortable seats in the English room?

To say the least it is not a little disturbing to have a baseball come crashing in at one's head while buried in deep reflection over some musty tome.

There is but one way to secure a healthy code of observances among students and that is to let the college body judge, advise and conduct itself. Barring the matter of pedagogical duties the faculty of U. N. C. have little to do with University internals.

Carolina Wins the Fourth Annual Debate From Georgia

The query was: "Resolved, that the English system of government answers better to the needs of a true and self-governing people than does that of the United States." Carolina defended the negative.

RESUME OF GAME GIVES RESULTS OF TEAM'S NORTH TRIP

Last Monday night the Carolina basketball team met the Georgetown quint on their home floor. Georgetown had a small edge on the Tar Heels in weight and experience, but this was offset by the pass work of the latter team. The game started off evenly matched, Georgetown scoring first, and Carolina immediately followed with two field goals. From then on, until the end of the first half the pass work of the Tar Heels was bewildering to the Hilltoppers and the score at the end of the first half was 16 to 14 in favor of Carolina. This was the first time this season that Georgetown had not had the lead at the end of the first half. However, they came back strong at the beginning of the second half, scoring four field goals in as many minutes. Then the game settled down to a steady grind, with odds about equal. The foul shooting of Fees, who caged 15 out 16 free throws decided the game in favor of Georgetown, 36 to 27. The game was fast and clean, good sportsmanship being displayed on both sides. Score as follows:

Carolina 27; Georgetown 36.

Carolina	Position	Georgetown
Shepard	Left Forward	Zazzali
Carmichael	Center	Fees
Liipfert	Right Forward	O'Connell
Morris	Right Guard	Dudack
Douglas	Left Guard	Longsheak

Timekeeper: Spruill.
Referee Slosser.

By goals: Carolina, 24; Georgetown, 22.

By fouls: Carolina, 3; Georgetown, 14.

Tuesday night the team met the strong aggregation at Catholic University, and ably assisted by a bunch of old Carolina "rooters," including four young ladies with the "blue and white," they came out winner. Although the game started with two of the regulars out of the game, Irwin replaced Carmichael at Forward and Griffith taking Liipfert's place at Center, the Tar Heels began to scoring from the very first and during the entire half the Brooklanders were not able to stop them. The passing was very good during this half, and the score stood 22 to 16. As in the Georgetown game, the opponents came back strong and came near tying the score several times, but each time the Tar Heels would toss a goal in time to stay ahead. The game was put on ice when Carmichael, Liipfert and Ruork were substituted for Irwin, Griffith and Morris. The new life put into the game by the fresh men enabled the Tar Heels to win 32 to 28. In spite of the closeness of the score, the Catholic U. team never really had a chance. Score as follows:

Carolina, 32; Catholic Univ., 28.

Carolina	Position	Catholic U.
Shepard	Left Forward	Lyons
Irwin	Right Forward	McNamara
Griffith	Center	Hopke
Morris	Right Guard	Glascott
Carmichael	Left Guard	Dunn

By goals: Carolina, 30; Catholic U., 20.

By fouls: Carolina, 2; Catholic U., 8.

Substitutions: Carmichael for Irwin; Liipfert for Griffith; Ruork for Morris.

Wednesday afternoon the team played its last game on the trip against the strong Navy team. The Carolina team started in this game with a good deal of pep and scrap and obtained a six-point lead on the Navy which it held for the greater portion of the first half. Then the Navy began a scrap of their own, and the two fast forwards assisted by the center were soon dropping the ball in the basket with an irritating frequency. When the dust cleared away after the referee had blown his whistle for the first half, the Navy lead by a score of 22 to 11. During this period the fouling of the Carolina team greatly impaired their playing and added to the scoring of the Navy. The second half was practically the same as the first. The Tar Heels seemed to have lost the scrap that characterized their last two games, due perhaps to the numerous fouls called on them, and the Navy finally won 36 to 24. The game was hard played on both sides, but the sportsmanship was good. All of the members of the team enjoyed their trip and the treatment they received while at Annapolis.

Carolina, 24; Navy, 36.

Carolina	Position	Navy
Shepard	Left Forward	Byerly
Carmichael	Right Forward	Burkholder
Liipfert	Center	Graber
Douglas	Right Guard	Walters
Rourk	Left Guard	McLaury

By goals: Carolina, 30; Navy, 28.

By fouls: Carolina, 4; Navy, 8.

Substitutions: Carolina, Rourke for Liipfert, Morris for Rourke; Navy, Ault for Graber; Parr for McLaury, Olsen for Byerly, Blue for Burkholder.

Umpire: Battersby, Swothmore.
Referee: McDevitt, Penn.

The "Tar Heel" now has about thirty of the leading college publications of the country on its exchange list. These exchanges can be seen at the Y. M. C. A. reading room.

R. O. T. C. INSPECTION HELD BY COLONEL PALMER

Colonel Palmer said that the purpose of the R. O. T. C. training was to teach the fundamental things an officer had to know at the same time that an education was secured. He explained the fact that most of the men who were army officers during the last war had returned to civil life and would soon forget their army life or would become too old for active service. Realizing that college-trained men make the best officers, the government decided to form a nucleus from which officers could be drawn, and the R. O. T. C. was formed. The proposition was made attractive to students by offering them pay, and by giving them a chance for a commission as a reserve officer in the army. The govern plants to get 5,000 officers each year in this way.
