PEP AND SCRUBBY REIGN COLLEGE NIGHT FOR THE NEW MEN

DR. CHASE MAKES WELCOMING ADDRESS—STUDENTS SPEAK

THE "Y" SERVED REFRESHMENTS

Serving as a climax in initiating the new men into the traditions and customs of Carolina life, College Night was held Thursday night in Gerrard Hall. The mass meeting was followed by an informal reception in the Y. M. C. A. building.

College Night is an annual affair promoted by the Y. M. C. A. and its purpose is to afford a get-together meeting for the old men and the new men who have come to Carolina for the first time. As was the case this year, the exercises begin with a mass meeting in Gerrard Hall, at which time the new men are given the intricacies of University life here in its various phases.

Daniel L. Grant, editor-in-chief of The Tar Heel, presided. President H. W. Chase was the first speaker of the evening. In his happy style he welcomed the new men to Carolina, telling them of the privilege that was theirs in being University men, and enjoining them to live up in every way to the trust that has been placed in them. This privilege, he explained, was also a responsibility that each man must bear, since he now bears the stamp of the Carolina man, and since the community at large will judge the University by the kind of a man he is. Dr. Chase expressed his confidence that the year is just beginning will be one of great advancement to Carolina, and he urged the new men to take up the reins and to do their share in making this year's work all that it promises to be.

Speaking on "Studies" which he termed "the chief thing for which we came to Carolina," William Lobnitz told the freshmen to see to it that they kept on good terms with the registrar's office, telling them that the man who does not pass his work is as bad as a shut-in book.

THE FORMAL OPENING IN MEMORIAL HALL AT NOON THURSDAY

STUDENTS ADDRESSED BY PRESIDENT CHASE AND DEAN BRADSHAW

THE BEGINNING OF 126th SESSION

Swinging forward into the second quarter of the second century of its existence the University of North Carolina on Thursday flung wide its doors to receive the largest number of students who have ever gathered at Chapel Hill.

Although classes were started this morning and the formal exercises of the 126th opening were held today, lines of incoming students were still besieging the registrar's office and the Y. M. C. A. was still busy finding rooms for late comers who could not crowd their way into the college dormitories where many rooms are already being housed for students.

Student organizations, beginning to function even before the University was formally opened, have joined hands with the authorities to relieve congested conditions. The campus cabinet in its first meeting projected plans whereby class rooms be kept open at night and specially fitted so that students may find quieter places for study than in the crowded dormitories. Members of the faculty and citizens of Chapel Hill who have never rented rooms are this year turning over space for students. "The congestion is worse than ever before," said President Chase, "but we hope that no student will be unable to find room."

The formal opening exercises were held this morning in Memorial Hall with addresses of welcome by President Chase and Francis Bradshaw.

COACH M. E. FULLER IN CAMPBELL'S PLACE AS FOOTBALL COACH

CLAY HITE, QUARTER ON LAST YEAR'S WEST VA. TEAM HAS CHARGE OF BACKFIELD

Myron E. Fuller, Yale, '13, who was secured last spring by the University as Head Coach to succeed Tommy Campbell, and his assistant Clay B. Hite of the University of West Virginia, '19, have been on the Hill since early in September at work with the 1920 squad. Both of these men have had long and successful careers as players, and Head Coach Fuller has several years of coaching experience.

Coach Fuller while at Yale played two years of varsity football: one year at guard and one at tackle. He has since coached two years at Stephens Institute; two years at Colby; and also at Haverford College, Swarthmore University, the Hog Island Shipyard, and last year was line coach at the University of West Virginia where he developed a team that was generally regarded as about the strongest in the country, losing only one game to Center College, and that immediately after the hard-fought West Virginia-Princeton game when the Tigers were swamped about thirty to nothing. His entire coaching experience has been altogether successful, although not to the same degree as last year.

He has inspired the absolute confidence of the Tar Heel squad since he first came here last spring when he told them "You need have no fear of a change in the system. There are no systems in football and the fundamentals you have learned under Mr. Campbell will serve you in good stead with me. There are different styles of coaching, but there is no difficulty of adopting oneself to them."

Assistant Coach Hite, while he has no coaching record, has an eminent playing record in all the major sports with the exception of baseball. While in high school at Huntington, West Virginia he played football for the entire four years, being captain of his team one year; and being picked as all scholastic state tackle for two years. Hite also played three years of high school basketball being captain for one year, and all scholastic state guard for one year.

At the University of West Virginia he played varsity football for four years and varsity basketball for three years, being elected captain of each team for one. He never served as captain of the football team as he spent that year in France as a first lieutenant. In 1915 and 1916 was All State Halfback and was All State Quarter last year on the team that defeated the Tigers (and lost only one game during the entire season) and was favorably mentioned by Walter Camp for All American honors. Hite also won All State honors for the three years that he played basketball.

It is reported that Jonathan Daniels is contemplating writing a novel entitled "The Wanderings of the Faculty" since a favorite occupation among faculty members seems to be checking out for a year, and wandering.

H. D. Stevens, '20, was on the Hill Wednesday. He enters Yale University this fall to take up the study of law.

RALEIGH PAGEANT TO BE GIVEN AT COUNTRY CLUB

PROF. KOCH WRITES PLAY NOW BEING PRODUCED BY MISS GRIMBALL

The Raleigh Pageant written by Professor Frederick H. Koch of the Department of English, and Director of the Carolina Playmakers will be given in Raleigh during Fair Week on the grounds of the Country Club. The Pageant will be produced under the active direction of Miss Grimball who has had long and wide experience in work of this sort. Already the eyes of the dramatic world are on Raleigh and from all indications this pageant will be second only to the Boston Pilgrims Pageant among all the tercentenary pageants being given throughout the country.

The part of Sir Walter Raleigh as he appears early in the play will be played by Lieutenant Walter Simpson while Dr. W. C. Horton will represent Raleigh as an older man later in the play. Mrs. Frank Castlebury, a native of Devonshire, England, and a lady of much dramatic ability, will appear as Queen Elizabeth. Several hundred school children are being trained in the old English folk dances under the direction of Miss Houcher. The men-at-arms and knights will be supplied from the Raleigh Post of the American Legion.

The Carolina Playmakers are very interested in this undertaking and may supply men to fill parts, if the need arises.

NEW BRICK COTTAGES WILL HOUSE STUDENTS

COTTAGES ARE TO BE BUILT IMMEDIATELY BY J. S. HILL AND W. S. ROBERSON TO RELIEVE CONGESTION

One of the largest real estate deals transacted in Chapel Hill for many years was the sale by Mrs. Julia Graves, of New York City, of the Graves' property on Cameron Avenue and Columbia Street to Messrs. John Sprunt Hill, of Durham, and W. S. Roberson, of Chapel Hill. The front of this property will continue to be occupied by Mrs. Daniels for the present, but it is contemplated to erect here, facing Cameron Avenue, a large inn.

The rear of the property is to be immediately developed at an estimated expenditure of about ninety thousand dollars, in an effort to relieve the acute housing situation. Brick cottages large enough to accommodate eight men each are to be constructed. Contracts have already been let on two of these, and the plan is to continue their construction as rapidly as possible until twelve have been built. These will be single story buildings. The first two should be ready for occupancy by Christmas. It is planned to rent these rooms only to juniors, seniors, graduates and professional students.

This is the first time that private capital has undertaken a scheme to help house University students. Messrs. Hill and Roberson are very enthusiastic about the plan as a business scheme, because of the economy in the cost of construction of the cottages. Numerous of the big institutions of the country have agreements whereby private capital helps to house students. This is the beginning of the same sort of scheme in Chapel Hill.

TWELVE HUNDRED STUDENTS ARE REGISTERED AT THE END OF THE SECOND DAY OF REGISTRATION

COACHES WHIPPING TEAM INTO SHAPE FOR HEAVY SEASON

TEN VARSITY VETERANS WORKING HARD WITH LARGE
SQUAD OF NEW MEN

The fifty-odd members of the football squad who have been driven hard by Coaches Muller and Hite for the past three weeks have passed from fundamentals and are spending the bulk of their time on formations, signals work, and scrimmaging.

Ten varsity veterans are on the squad now at work morning and afternoon on Emerson field. They are Captain Beemer Harrell and Pritchard, tackles; Cochrane, end; Jacobi, center; Lowe and Pharr quarters; Tenney, Abernathy, and Grieth, half backs, and Spaug, full back.

Many changes from the early line-up has been made, but the ten veterans will undoubtedly form the nucleus around which will be built up the first string squad. Besides Cochrane, who held down one wing last season, he has Crayton and Woodall, who were used in several games last season Liipfert and Lewis, from the second team, and two unusually promising men in Fred Morris and Hutchins, from the 1923 freshmen, both of whom have good prep school reputations.

Captain Harrell and Pritchard give two experienced tackles for the line, though a shortage of guard material may cause Fuller to shift Pritchard in nearer center. Hanby, the 190-pound tackle from the 1923 team, is receiving a lot of attention at tackle, and Whiting, Wright, and Meyer, all with scrub experience, are on the ground.

The loss of Grmes, Robbins, and Barden at the guard positions leaves a big hole in the center of the line. Roy Morris, captain of the 1923 baseball team, has been worked in one position, and Owens, a substitute from last year, and Corbett, Heath, and Harman are other prospects.

David Jacobi, who alternated in nearly all the games with Blount last year, has returned heavier and faster and looks to have first call at center. Fuller has two capable understudies in Bell, from the second team, and Linney, from Bond's freshman team.

The greatest of the Tar Heels appears to be in the back field where Lowe, Pharr, Spaug, Tenney, Abernathy, and Grieth have all faced the fire of varsity games. Lowe and Pharr have been used at quarter, with McDonald, from the 1923 team, and Wearn a second string man, as substitutes. Spaug played full in all the games last year. Tenney was a regular halfback, and Abernathy and Griffith developed fast enough to be used effectively in the last game. Harden, Smith, and Fulton, all of whom were used in varsity games last year, are on hand and two promising 1923 men in Williams and McGehee.

COTTAGES FOR FACULTY COMPLETED

The ten new cottages for the use of the faculty which have been under construction since commencement have been completed and several of them already occupied. These have been built by the University to relieve the acute housing situation for faculty members. This construction, recently named "Park Place," is south of East Franklin street, and is located along the edge of Battle Park. The houses are of the ready-made "Aladdin" type and were erected at an approximate cost of sixty-five thousand dollars to the University.

These cottages will be occupied by Messrs. F. F. Bradshaw, C. M. Baker, J. F. Dashiell, F. H. Koch, P. J. Weaver, C. A. Hibbard, W. F. Prouty, A. S. Winsor, D. D. Carroll, and F. W. Boye.

THE NUMBER OF WOMEN REGISTERING SHOWS SLIGHT INCREASE

1700 SINCE COMMENCEMENT

Physical Condition of the Freshmen Above the General Average

The second day of registration came to a close with registration still unfinished. According to an estimate made that time by Dr. Thomas J. Wilson, Jr., Registrar, about four hundred freshmen and seven hundred and fifty upper classmen had been enrolled. The total enrollment of freshmen last year was somewhat larger than the present figure but, as yet, no detailed comparison can be made. The total registration of college credit students since commencement is about 1,700.

A fairly large number of women students have registered, the total number of which will probably exceed somewhat the thirty-seven in college last year. It is probable that the number of last year would have been trebled if suitable accommodations could have been found here to care for them.

Up until Thursday night the number of foreign students registering was lower than for the average year. Men have come from Japan, Cuba and Porto Rica. The number of Japanese students has fallen off considerably.

At the present count the number of students enrolled since the beginning of the college year exceeds by about one hundred and fifty, the record of any previous year in the history of the University.

Dr. R. B. Lawson, Physical Director who has been conducting a thorough physical examination of all freshmen reports that the physical average is high. His report indicates that the present class will equal if not surpass the record of any previous class.

CAROLINA WINS FIRST PLACE AT NATIONAL EVENT

D. REID HODGIN WINS FIRST PLACE IN PEACE ORATORS' CONTEST

Headquarters of the International Peace Association has just announced that D. Reid Hodgin of this University has been awarded first place in the National contest of Peace orators.

The purpose of the Peace Association is to foster world peace, and toward that purpose, held last spring, contests in each of the states. It was the state contest held at High Point, it will be remembered, that Mr. Hodgin took second place for North Carolina.

Winners of all first and second places then sent their orations to National Headquarters of the Association to be judged and the national winner selected. The University represented by Mr. Hodgin was awarded first place, and Earlham College second place.

Mr. Hodgin, in winning second second place in the state made fifty dollars. He also received fifty dollars in winning first place in the national contest. The winner is a member of the Phi Society in which he was worked very actively since coming to the University.

NOTICE
All organizations will please hand to the Managing Editor report on any initiations that they may hold, especially the names of men initiated, and the class of which they are a member.
