MEMBERS OF ALUMNI MEET AT UNIVERSITY AT CALL OF FACULTY

REPRESENTATIVES OF ALUMNI
DISCUSS CONDITIONS RELAT-
ING TO DEVELOPMENT

TAYLOR SPEAKS FOR STUDENTS

A meeting of University Alumni, brought about by the Faculty Committee on the University's growth and development composed of Drs. H. W. Chase and L. R. Wilson, Professors Branson, Bernard and Graham, and Messrs. Bradshaw, E. R. Rankin and Lenoir Chambers, was held Saturday night last in Chapel Hill.

This meeting, which was called on about four days notice, was the largest alumni meeting the University has ever had in such short notice. The men who attended the meeting made up the most serious minded and loyal hearted group of men who have ever come together for the purpose of discussing the University's growth and development. Dr. Bernard presided over the meeting and acted as chairman, while Mr. Lenoir Chambers acted as secretary. The opening talk was made by Dr. Chase who expressed the faculty viewpoint concerning the housing situation as it affected the students and faculty alike. Mr. Tyre C. Taylor followed Dr. Chase with a short talk on the student viewpoint concerning the congested living conditions prevailing on the campus. He was followed by Professor Frank Graham who emphasized the crying need of the University to better her living conditions and the still greater need of insuring the further expansion of the University. The meeting was then thrown open for open discussion by the alumni. Many proposals were brought forward as to the means of remedying the situation. Finally action consisted chiefly in passing a series of resolutions:

1. Many alumni meetings will be planned for October the 12th, University day, at which the troubled situation at the University will be discussed and a discussion as to the best possible means of remedying the situation will take place.

2. Local alumni associations will call meetings at later dates at which the alumni of other state institutions will be invited for the purpose of discussing the situation; namely, the acute housing situation (Continued on page two)

UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS NOW PUBLISHING ARTICLES

DR. HENDERSON AND PROF. SAVILLE HAVE ARTICLES IN NATIONAL JOURNAL

Among the members of the University faculty having articles in recent numbers of the national periodicals are Dr. Archibald Henderson and Mr. Thorndyke Saville. Dr. Henderson, head of the Mathematics Department, has in the September issue of Century, an article entitled "Daniel Boone and the American Pioneer." It will be remembered in this connection that Dr. Henderson has contributed to North Carolina history a book on the life of Daniel Boone.

Mr. Saville, associate professor of hydraulic and sanitary engineering has an article in the Engineering News-Record for August 26th entitled "French Government to Regulate River Rhone." The project will develop water power, improve navigation and provide water for irrigation, at an expenditure of about three hundred million dollars. This article was the result of investigations carried on by Mr. Saville when he was in France on professional business.

Miss Mary Moses, who was secretary to President Chase last year and who has been away the entire summer, has returned to take up her duties as secretary to Dr. H. W. Odum of the School of Public Welfare.

ONE BIG UPSET IN SOUTH-EASTERN FOOTBALL

With all the larger colleges playing for the most part weak opponents the 1920 football season formerly opened last Saturday. With the exception of the N. C. State-Navy game there were no startling upsets, the same teams failed to show expected strength.

Interest in the state centered chiefly upon the U. N. C.-Wake Forest, and State-Navy contests, much surprise being evidenced at defeat of the Middies by the Aggies, while the Blue and White were being held to a single touchdown by Wake Forest. But it is to be remembered that it was the University's first game, and that the early season dope is so often upset.

Yale defeated Carnegie Tech 44 to 0. The University of South Carolina seems to have taken a new lease on life and defeated Wofford 10 to 0. Maryland State also showed formidable qualities by holding Rutgers to one touchdown, while Virginia, jumping into midseason form, swamped Randolph-Macon 65 to 0. V. M. I. also, with Leach running wild in the backfield overwhelmed Hampton-Sydney 136 to 0.

All indications show a hard schedule ahead for Carolina, but with the seasoning of another week, and the Yale game, we shall undoubtedly see a squad amply able to equal and better the record of last year.

PHI SOCIETY HOLDS FIRST REAL MEETING

SPEAKER GRANT IN INAUGURAL ADDRESS URGES CO-OPERATION OF EVERY MEMBER

The Philanthropic Society held its first regular meeting of the collegiate year on Saturday night, October the second. At this first meeting the newly-elected Speaker of the House, D. L. Grant, delivered his inaugural address.

Stressing the importance of the fall term and what responsibilities and opportunities it held in store for the society, he urged the society members to do their very best and make this fall term and this year the best year by far in the history of the Philanthropic Society. He emphasized the need of a requirement which every member must measure up to. He also emphasized the need of more rigid enforcement of the by-laws and rules of the assembly. "We have obligations which we must respect. The administration of any organization lies in the enforcement of its laws," he said. "We have a great problem before us," he said, "and that is our financial problem. With the exception of last year the end of every collegiate year found the society in the hole. We must put the society on a more substantial financial footing. The Magazine was established when all students of the University were required to join one of the two societies. We have helped finance The Magazine for its entire lifetime. The Dialectic Society has done the same. The combined enrollment of the two societies is not equal to half the number of students enrolled in the University. Therefore we are assuming a great responsibility, whereas, the students not belonging to either societies entail no responsibility at all. The Magazine has come to be a student publication, not a society publication. Let every student be equally responsible for its publication. We recommend that the societies and The Magazine each stand on their own footing. Our financial situation, as the treasurer will soon state in his report, is acute. We must entail no more extra expense," he said. The newly-elected president said the society was contemplating an extensive debating program for the coming year. He stressed the need of

COLLIER COBB MAKES ADDRESS IN SEATTLE

DR. COBB POINTS OUT THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN N. C. AND WASHINGTON

At an address given by Dr. Collier Cobb before an informal gathering of business men at the Ranier Club of Seattle, Washington, Dr. Cobb pointed out the historical relationship between North Carolina and the state of Washington. He said that King County of the state of Washington was named in honor of William Rufus King, who was elected vice-president of the United States on the same ticket with President Franklin Pierce, and who was a native of North Carolina and a graduate of the University of North Carolina. Another historical point of contact between North Carolina was the fact that Capt. Charles Wilkes, on returning from the expedition in which he discovered the Antarctic continent, sailed into Puget Sound in 1841 and named many of the islands, points and bays in this section. Admiral Wilkes spent many years in North Carolina, said Dr. Cobb.

"It will be recalled that Captain Wilkes took from the British mail steamer Trent the Confederate commissioners, Mason and Sidell, and by that act came very near involving the United States and England in war," recounted Doctor Cobb. The British had named many points in Puget Sound. Captain Wilkes on arriving here in 1841, changed many of these names to those of officers on his ships, and among these officers so honored were many North Carolinians and University alumni." Doctor Cobb also related that Captain John Blakeley, commander of the Wasp in the war of 1812, had at least two points in Puget Sound named for him. Blakeley was also an alumnus of the University of North Carolina.

The main part of Dr. Cobb's address was a report on the coastal regions of Alaska and the North Pacific Coast conditions. Dr. Cobb has made an extensive study of shore line processes in relation to harbor and has made an extensive survey of the Alaskan coast as far north as the Seward Peninsula in the last few months. He thinks that the possibilities of Alaska are unlimited—with its fishing, agricultural, mineral and timber resources. In his opinion, Alaska's greatest need is more settlers.

Dr. Cobb has made this study of the Pacific and Alaskan coasts as a Kenan research professor, founded by the late Mrs. Henry M. Flagler of North Carolina. After investigating Oregon shore lines, Doctor Cobb will leave for a two months' trip to the orient and will return to North Carolina via Seattle.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB MAKES PLANS

Under the direction of Dr. W. W. Pierson, Jr., the International Relations Club is planning an active year's work. The International Relations Club is a new society formed by the reorganization of the old International Policy Club. It is a club composed of men selected from the departments of history and government who are interested in the study of international relations and problems. Monthly meetings are held at which members make reports on topics under consideration and study. Dr. W. W. Pierson, Jr., is director of the club and J. E. Banzet is secretary.

CAROLINA WINS FROM BAPTISTS IN THE FIRST GAME OF SEASON BY THE SCANT MARGIN OF 6-0

GRADUATE STUDENTS FORM ORGANIZATION

DRS. CHASE, GREENLAW, AND VENABLE SPEAK TO STUDENTS AT FORMATION

Last Friday evening the graduate students of the University met in Phillips Hall to organize a Graduate Club and to submit plans for the future activity on the part of the graduate school. Officers for this year were elected, there being E. S. Lindsey, president, John Aycock, treasurer, and Mrs. Latshaw, secretary. The meeting was presided over by Dr. Greenlaw, chairman of the graduate school, who made a short talk in the purpose of the graduate school, and introduced Dr. Cline who responded with a timely speech. Dr. Venable, the last of the faculty speakers, gave the history of the Graduate School and present work at the University.

It was decided to make the Graduate Club a definite and permanent organization, a committee being appointed to draft a constitution. Dr. Greenlaw was made chairman of this committee, and is to be assisted by two members of the Graduate School.

The Graduate School has a membership this year of 50 students, representing the largest number of students who have ever registered in this department of the University.

PROF. KOCH SEES NUMBER NEW PLAYS IN NEW YORK

Prof. F. H. Koch lectured at the University of Chicago on the folk drama after the closing of the summer school at this University. After completing his lectures Professor Koch then went to New York city where he attended a large number of plays during the time he stayed there. In this manner Professor Koch keeps in touch with the commercial drama, thus enabling him to give his students the benefit of an understanding criticism of present day dramatic tendencies. Professor Koch says the large crowds which a play like Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon," continued to draw despite the hot summer weather is a sign of the coming of better things in the commercial drama.

BUILDING COMMITTEE TO MEET OCTOBER 7TH

The Trustees' Building Committee will meet in Chapel Hill on the 7th day of October. The Trustees' Executor's Committee will meet here on the 8th day of this month. Both meetings are to consider the program which the University should present to the State Budget Committee this fall.

Work on the new building has been somewhat delayed on account of the scarcity of labor, but it is hoped that the construction of the building will be gotten under way in a week or two. The contractors have found that it is a very hard matter to induce carpenters and masons to come to Chapel Hill and aid in the construction of the building. Thus the delay.

DR. WHEELER RETURNS TO UNIVERSITY FROM WEST

Dr. A. S. Wheeler of the Department of Chemistry has recently returned from a visit to his parents at Tacoma, Washington. While away from Chapel Hill, he also attended a meeting of the American Chemical Society at Chicago, and presented at the meeting two papers which were the result of research work done here. Dr. Wheeler also visited Quincy, Detroit, Buffalo, and Syracuse, and the Chemical Exposition at New York City.

SATURDAY'S GAME MAKES THIRD SUCCESSIVE VICTORY BY THE SAME SCORE

WAKE FOREST GIVES HARD FIGHT

Carolina Held for Downs Inside Wake Forest's Five-Yard Line in Third Quarter

Approximately two thousand people witnessed the opening football game of the season on Emerson field Saturday when Carolina defeated Wake Forest by the score of 6 to 0. A special train conveyed about three hundred Wake Forest students to the Hill, and a large number of alumnae and visitors from Durham and Raleigh and nearby towns were present to see the opening game. The weather was perfect, not too cold and not too warm for either spectator or player, an incident portraying a striking contrast to the weather last year when Carolina defeated the Baptists by the same score on a field of mud and slush and in a heavy downpour of rain.

The margin of victory was small. It was generally expected about the campus that Captain Harrell's eleven would get away with a larger score, and some expressed disappointment over their failure to do so. But the fact that the Blue and White outplayed the visitors in nearly every phase of the game cannot be disputed, and the score tells only half the tale. A hundred and five yards lost in penalties checked Carolina to a great extent in piling up points, and the visitors playing a defensive game, did out punt the Blue and White, another handicap to our offense. On the other hand Carolina showed weakness in working forward passes, making one successful out of a number of attempts, and Wake Forest held magnificently at crucial times.

The lone score of the game came in the fourth quarter when "Runt" Lowe, star in the Virginia game last year, carried the ball over for a touchdown, after the Blue and White had made a steady march up the field, gaining almost at will, mostly by off tackle plays by Pharr. An attempt to kick goal by Pharr failed, and the score remained 6 to 0 to the end of the contest. The nearest (Continued on page four)

DIALECTIC SOCIETY HOLDS INITIATIONS

FORTY-EIGHT NEW MEN JOIN SOCIETY; S. H. HODGES MAKES SHORT TALK

At the meeting of the Dialectic Literary Society last Saturday night 48 new men were initiated. After the initiations the meeting took the form of a smoker. Speeches were made by old men and neophytes and the whole evening was given over to enjoyment.

E. Hoke Martin and "Tubby" Murdock enlightened the new men on matters concerning the graveyard keeper and his duties. A discourse on the Booloo Club was given by R. O. Smith, a gentleman who, it was pointed out, was well qualified to present the subject. "Pike" Trotter rendered a selection of poetry dealing with matters concerning the graveyard.

During the evening the society had the pleasure of hearing from Mr. S. H. Hodges, a former president of the society, in a short and effective speech. There were numerous other brief talks and these together with the other two features, initiations and refreshments, made it a very pleasant evening for everyone present.

It is interesting to note that the 48 men who joined the society did so without any campaign for securing members. The membership of the society was also enlarged by the addition of several old members who are returning to college.
