SOCIETY VOTE PUTS JINX ON ELECTION OF HARDING

J. M. BROWN SUPPORTS HARDING AGAINST ALL COMERS IN DI SOCIETY

For the first time in several years the program of the Dialectic Society was devoted entirely to the discussion of political candidates Saturday night, when the society voiced its disapproval of the election of Harding. The question for discussion was: "Resolved, That the Dialectic Society go on record as favoring the election of Harding as president, and both the discussion and the vote of the society revealed that Harding is unpopular among the majority of the society members. At this meeting R. A. Lemberly was initiated into the society. President Bobbitt appointed T. C. Taylor, C. T. Boyd, and J. H. Ervin as a committee to arrange for the election of some faculty members to honorary membership in the society. The discussion was well conducted, was devoid of "mud slinging," and, although spirited, did not become as heated as might have been expected. The supporters of Cox were numerous, while there was only one defendant of Harding. J. D. Dorsette, the first speaker on the negative discussed the issues at stake and spoke of the wavering policy of Harding. Mr. White also discussed his change in policies. J. H. Erwin introduced effective irony into the discussion, claiming that Harding is an "all-sided" man and that there is a Harding for every type of voter. C. H. Oliver discussed Harding's record as a senator and as a business man. J. M. Brown was the sole defendant of Harding. He claimed that Cox had also wavered in his policies, and stood out against the League of Nations.

The Society Entrants Should Hand In Names

Persons going out for the intra-society debate this fall are requested to hand their names to B. C. Brown, President of the Debating Council, at No. 12 Pettigrew, not later than next Friday, November 5th. The query will be: Resolved, That the Policy of the Open Shop Should Prevail in American Industry. The affirmative preliminaries will be held November the 18th and the negative preliminaries November 19th. The final debate will be staged on Saturday night December 15th.

Washington and Lee continued in running by defeating V. P. I. 13 to 0, while V. M. I. kept unbroken her long string of victories by breaking through the North Carolina State defense for a 14 to 0 decision.

In the North, Virginia lost to Harvard 24 to 0, and Princeton defeated West Virginia 10 to 3. Yale beat Colgate 31 to 7, and Cornell won from Rutgers 24 to 0.

NEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OCCUPIED FOR FIRST TIME

CHURCH IS GIFT OF JAMES SPRUNT AS MEMORIAL TO WIFE

The Sprunt Memorial Church, which has been under process of construction for about two years, was occupied Sunday morning for the first time since its completion. Parson Moss preached a very logical and commonsense sermon, on "Our Institutions" and paid special attention to the church.

James Sprunt, of Wilmington, gave funds for building the church as a memorial to his wife. Due to a shortage of materials and labor, work has dragged along on the church for a long time.

BUS OF BULLY BERNARD SHIES AT TRASH CAN

PROFESSOR AND CAR NARROWLY ESCAPE OVERTURN AT POST OFFICE

One of the University's landmarks was in peril Wednesday when Prof. "Bully" Bernard's gas chariot shied at an ash can in front of the postoffice and threw its left-forward wheel, careening into the ditch at a dangerous angle. Luckily, both Professor Bernard and the car escaped any permanent injury. A couple of strong horses were at once chartered and they towed the disabled craft up to the garage where it will lie in dry-dock for repairs for a day or so.

This car, the sole production of a now extinct firm, is an old Carolina tradition on par with the Davie poplar and the well. It antedate many of the newer buildings, but notwithstanding its age is still in better running order than many a 1920 Packard or John Henry. The "one-horse shay" was compared to this work of art. All the campus congratulates Prof. Bernard in preserving the relic for the future enlightenment of further generations of freshmen.

Many of the County Clubs are arranging to send the Tar Heel to the libraries of their county's high schools. We want to put it in every high school library in the state, and to this end the management offers a reduction in subscription price for this purpose. Anyone interested in doing this should see the business manager or the editor for more complete information.

We should like to get this across at once because it can be made of inestimable value to the University.

FAMOUS DRAMATIC BARITONE TO SING IN GERRARD MONDAY

BISPHAM IS KNOWN AS WORLD'S GREATEST DRAMATIC BARITONE

SINGER AN ACTOR OF ABILITY

Under the auspices of the University of North Carolina department of music, David Bispham, the World's Greatest Dramatic Baritone, will sing November 8th in Gerrard. Mr. Bispham is of the Society of American Singers, of the Metropolitan Opera Company and of the Royal Opera of London.

The fact that Mr. Bispham is the world's greatest dramatic baritone should serve to attract a crowd that will pack Gerrard Hall.

Mr. Bispham delights to appear before college audiences and for his reason he is appearing here at greatly reduced rates.

Mr. Weaver announces that one of the songs on David Bispham's program for the 8th of November will be the world-famous "Danny Deever." The words of this song, written by Rudyard Kipling, tell the intensely dramatic story of the hanging of a British soldier who has murdered one of his comrades. The music, by Walter Damrosch, of New York, adds to the intensity of the song, and as it is rendered by Mr. Bispham it is one of the most thrilling and most hair-raising combinations in the artistic world.

An interesting story is told by Mr. Bispham about this song. He once sang it for Mr. Kipling himself, at a private concert in New York City. As the climax of the song was reached, it was noticed that Mr. Kipling bent forward and covered his twitching face with his hands. And when the song was finished Mr. Kipling hurriedly arose from his chair and left the room and building. A year later, again in New York, Mr. Bispham met Mr. Kipling at a dinner. Kipling's first words were an apology for his apparent rudeness on the previous occasion, he went on to explain that (Continued on page four)

"Be it Resolved, By the Philanthropic Assembly of the University of North Carolina, That we express to you our deepest sympathy in your sickness; our esteem for the manner in which you have championed our cause; the cause of free people all over the world; and, now, when the clouds may seem darkest, in defeat or victory, we pledge our faith in your cause, and our loyalty to that cause as long as we are able to support the ideals for which America lives. To us you represent the typical America, the exemplar of Christian civilization; and we confidently believe that the cause will yet prevail and America will not break faith with the dead and the future."

FIRST YEAR ELEVEN DROPS VICTORY TO BINGHAM MACHINE

BINGHAM WINS BY TAKING ADVANTAGE OF MISPLAYS OF FRESHMEN

HOGAN STARS FOR FRESHMEN

Taking advantage of every misplay by their opponents the light but well-coached Bingham eleven won Friday from the Carolina first-year team 14 to 12. The weather was ideal for football, and the game being the first appearance of the freshmen at home was witnessed by quite a number of students and townspeople anxious to get a line on next year's possibilities.

Bingham kicked, and the freshmen returned the ball up the field by a steady march culminating in a 30-yard pass, Woodard to Hogan, for a touchdown. Rice missed goal. For the remainder of the half the game resolved into an interchange of punts after Bingham had twice held for downs within the 35-yard line.

The second half opened with the freshmen receiving. They were unable to gain and an exchange of punts followed, leaving the ball with the freshmen upon their 20-yard line. Here Bingham made their first score when Herring recovered a fumble and raced across the goal line. Groves kicked goal. Less than five minutes later in the same quarter Groves for Bingham repeated the stunt by picking up a freshman fumble on the 30-yard line and carrying it across for the second touch down. He again kicked goal. The freshmen also made their second touchdown in the third quarter, Gillam taking the ball across. The freshmen again missed goal.

In the fourth quarter the freshmen threatened again, carrying the ball to Bingham's seven-yard line. But Clarke intercepted a pass and returned the pall to the 30-yard line, from where the ball was punted to a safe distance.

SOPHS BEAT FRESHMEN BY 6 TO 0 SCORE THURSDAY

MORRIS MAKES ONLY TOUCHDOWN OF GAME IN THIRD QUARTER

In a hard-fought game the sophomores defeated the freshmen Thursday by the score of 6 to 0. The game was tied at the end of the first half, neither team having scored. The scoring came in the third quarter, Morris taking the ball over after a fifteen-yard run. Ragsdale was a feature in getting off punts, one long spiral totalling no less than fifty yards. The backs of the sophs ran well, the line too showed a good offense, a soph tackle breaking through at one time and blocking a punt which paved the way for the touchdown.

The freshmen played hard during the entire game. Minstead intercepted a forward pass and was downed only a few yards from the soph goal. The fresh were unable to put the ball across; a drop kick was tried but failed.

MARYLAND DEFEATS CRIPPLED CAROLINA ELEVEN BY 13 TO 0

SWEEPING RUNS OF SEMPLER ARE FEATURES OF THE GAME

CAROLINA USES NEW BACKFIELD

A well-nigh perfect interference covering the sweeping end runs of Semlar, a freak touchdown by Epperly, and a 15-yard run by Mackert for touchdown, were the principle factors in the defeat of Carolina's crippled eleven by Maryland University Saturday by the score of 13 to 0.

The Carolina line did excellent defensive work stopping the visitors' rushes for mere nominal gains, and proving impregnable whenever its goal line was threatened, as it was within the first half when Maryland twice brought the ball to the ten-yard mark by steady marches up the field only to lose it on downs at that point. Around the ends however the Marylanders were able to gain almost at will, and Semlar, following his perfect interference registered no less than seven first downs by that route.

A completely new backfield was used by Coach Fuller, all of his regulars being kept on the sidelines by injuries. McDonald, playing his first game at quarter showed up well, exercising excellent judgment, and making his passes with precision. Hutchins also did well in his new position.

Carolina clearly excelled in the aerial game, completing eight passes out of eleven attempts. Three were completed in succession during the third quarter carrying the ball to the ten-yard line, where it was lost on downs. Again in the fourth a long pass, McDonald to McGee, netted 35 yards, and another immediately afterwards, McDonald to Crayton, added 15 more, placing the ball upon the 12-yard mark. But again it went over on downs.

Maryland's first touchdown came at the beginning of the second quarter. Carolina had the ball on her 20-yard line. A line play was called, and in (Continued on page three)

COUNTY HOLDS RALLY DAY ON FRIDAY IN MEMORIAL HALL

DEAN NOBLE AGAIN MAKES COMMUNITY FAIR FOR ORANGE SUCCESS

Rally Day, last Friday, just a get-together meeting of the people of the community and this part of Orange County, proved a big success, brought about by the untiring efforts of Dean M. C. S. Noble and his corps of assistants. Farmers brought their produce for exhibition purposes and these exhibits proved that Orange County was the rich agricultural county that it has been said to be. When the kids weren't playing with the monkeys they were viewing the contents of the food exhibits table with as much relish and smacking of lips as the grown-ups. Hiram and Nora were there with their lunch baskets and soon staged an old-time country picnic with their neighbors from the crossroads on the college campus. The Chapel Hill High School had an exhibit of drawings and paintings done by the students. The University Library had an exhibit table of books which could be borrowed and also the assistants advised the people interested in books concerning those books which would be more valuable to them than others. Farm machinery and labor-saving devices for the farmer's wife were on display.

Singing contests were held between the children of the surrounding countryside and community. Various other exercises enlivened the meeting and helped in making the day a success.

The Community Club has for its purpose the making of Orange County into a model town. Rally Day brings solidarity among the people and gives them a better impression of the State University and its work.
