FRESHMEN REVENGE DEFEAT OF VARSITY IN GAME SATURDAY

FIRST YEAR MEN SHOW GOOD OFFENSIVE AND DEFENSIVE PLAY

FRESHMEN TAKE FIRST BLOOD

Throwing themselves into the game with a punch that fairly swept their opponents off their feet the Carolina first-year eleven defeated the similar aggregation from State College Saturday on Riddick Field by the score of 14 to 6.

Within the first five minutes of play the Carolinians had run across two touchdowns and bade fair to swamp the Red and White beneath an avalanche of points. However, their brand of play steadily declined, and as the game progressed the State yearlings came back stronger and stronger.

It was just at the beginning of the final period that State broke through for her lone score, and not content with that again rushed the ball threateningly into Carolina territory. It was at this juncture that Rice decided that things had gone far enough, and, picking up the pigskin, raced sixty yards down the field with it and saved the day for the freshmen, for forever after the ball was kept in safe territory. With this exception there were no long runs, Carolina's steady gains being recorded by consistent rushes.

The aerial game was resorted to by both elevens with but small measure of success. Carolina completing but one pass out of ten attempts and that for but five yards gain. State did not attempt a single pass until the final quarter when she tried six, completing one for two yards advance. Carolina made fifteen first downs as against seven by state. In the matter of penalties the Blue and White was unfortunate, losing 85 yards by this method as against 15 by State.

DI SOCIETY FEATURES NEW FANGLED MUSICAL DEBATE

SIGNOR McCALL CONTESTS WITH M'SEUR EDWARDS AS TO MUSICAL ABILITY

A "musical debate" formed a novel and highly enjoyable program at the Dialectic Society meeting Saturday night. This type of program was entirely new to the society, the members of which were highly pleased by the music and humorous oratory.

The affirmative was represented by J. V. McCall, W. E. Wiles, and S. M. Turner, while the negative was upheld by P. H. Edwards, Joe Ervin, and G. B. Porter. The question was as follows: "Resolved, That the music of Signor McCall is better than that of Monsieur Edwards."

The debate began with the sounding of the first strains of the accordion of "Signor" McCall, who pleased the society so much that he was encored. Monsier Edwards then skillfully rendered a selection on his violin, which was also enjoyed very much, as was attested by an encore. W. E. Wiles then proceeded to extol the music of Mr. McCall in language that was flowery and highly humorous, as well as effective. The next speaker was "Judge" Ervin, who lauded the music of the artist of his preference—Monsieur Edwards. He claimed that even the music rendered on the golden streets of heaven could not compare with that of Mr. Edwards. Mr. Turner continued the debate by defending the music of McCall. G. B. Porter then made good use of his large vocabulary in praising the "immortal strains" of Monsieur Edwards. The judges were unable to decide which "artist" made the best music, but from the standpoint of argument they decided in favor of the negative.

VIRGINIA-VANDERBILT TIE UPSETS DOPE ON THANKS- GIVING GAME

With Virginia holding Vanderbilt to a 7 to 7 tie, and with Davidson's victory over Carolina 7 to 0, football dope on the outcome of the Thanksgiving Carolina-Virginia game became even more confused.

South Carolina University bowed to Navy 63 to 0; Richmond College defeated Wake Forest 20 to 7; and Syracuse got the smaller end of a 10-to-7 score with Maryland State.

Trinity kept up her winning streak by defeating Elon 13 to 6; and Georgia Tech continued to march towards the South Atlantic Championship when she vanquished Georgetown 35 to 6. V. M. I.'s overwhelming victory over the Catholic University showed that she, too, was advancing towards South Atlantic honors. V. M. I. and Georgia Tech both remain undefeated and unless a post season game is arranged it now seems probable that the championship will remain in doubt.

SOPHOMORES CONTINUE THE WINNING STREAK SATURDAY

HUNNICUTT FOR THE JUNIORS IS OUTSTANDING STAR OF GAME

The sophomores defeated the juniors on the class field Saturday by the score of 13 to 7. The game was unusual for its thrills, abounding in long runs and sensational plays.

The juniors received, Parker returning the ball to the 15-yard line. Line plays netted thirty-five more and a forward pass, Hunnicutt to Hester was good for 50 yards and touchdown. Hester kicked goal. During the remainder of the half the sophs kept the ball threateningly in the junior's territory, but were unable to score. The half ended with the ball on the juniors' 20-yard line.

The second half opened with the sophs receiving on their 20-yard line. The ball was carried down the field by the steady march of Morris and Spruill, Green carrying it over for a touchdown. Green failed to kick goal. On the following kick-off the sophs scored again. Morris, of the sophs, kicked the ball well behind the junior goal line, and Phillips racing down the field fell upon it for a touchdown. The juniors vigorously protested this score, but referee Shaw ruled it valid. Green kicked goal. For the remainder of the game neither team threatened, though the juniors launched an extensive aerial attack in a desperate effort to put across another score.

For the sophs the playing of Spruill and Morris stands out, while for the juniors the work of Hunnicutt was the feature of the game, though the splendid aggressive work of Captain Hester and the strong defensive play of Parker deserved mention.

DEVEREUX PLAYERS AT THE PLAYHOUSE LAST OF THE WEEK

NOTED ACTORS AND PLAYS WILL MAKE THE OCCASION
ENJOYABLE

COMPANY VERY WIDELY KNOWN

The Devereux Plays will present a series of plays and scenes from plays at the Playhouse in Chapel Hill on Friday and Saturday of this week. These payers are under the personal supervision and include Mr. Clifford Devereux. Besides Mr. Devereux himself the company includes the celebrated actress, Miss Zinita Graf, who occupies an enviable position on the American stage today. In the past Mr. Devereux has done a wonderful work in producing for the people the best literary drama, so little seen in this day of musical comedy. Some of his former productions have been Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," "Comedy of Errors," "Romeo and Juliet"; Sheridan's "School for Scandal"; and "The Critic"; Shaw's "Arms and the Man"; and Dunsany's "The Tents of the Arabs."

The following plays make up their repertoire for this season and are the plays that will be given here on November 19th and 20th. Friday night: "Her Husband's Wife," by A. E. Thomas. This is a delightful comedy in which the young wife, thinking she is on her deathbed wants to be assured of her husband's happiness so she chooses him another wife, but in talking over his future bliss the wife thinks this is too much happiness to miss and decides not to die but to get well. The Saturday matinee will consist of the kitchen scene from "Twelfth Night" in which big, fat, funny Sir Toby Belch and his crowd have a happy time; also, the Screen Scene from Sheridan's "School for Scandal", in which the old British lord finds his young scandal mongering wife hid behind the screen in another man's room; and last, Tchekoff's delightful blustering comedy, "The Boor," in which the angry, loud

FORMER U. N. C. PRESIDENT AUTHOR BIOGRAPHICAL WORK

DANIEL AUGUSTUS THOMPSON, A BUILDER OF THE NEW SOUTH

One of the most recent books is that by George Tayloe Winston, "A Builder of the New South," a story of the life work of Daniel Augustus Tompkins. The author was formerly president of the University of North Carolina, University of Texas, and North Carolina College of Agriculture and Engineering.

Mr. Winston dedicates his book with these words: "To the young men of the South this story of a life devoted to the upbuilding of their native land after its overthrow and impoverishment by Civil War and Reconstruction is lovingly dedicated by a lifelong teacher of Southern youth."

According to the foreword, "among the foremost of the commonwealth builders was Daniel Augustus Tompkins, industrial worker, promoter and missionary. He was fitted for the work by heredity and early environment, by character, talents, and education. Born and brought up on a Southern plantation, educated and trained in northern technical schools, mills and machine shops, inventive and receptive of new ideas, strong and energetic in body and mind, interested in everything pertaining to man, he was a rare combination of worker and philosopher, of a student and teacher, of economist and philanthropist, a Southern Franklin, growing in poor soil and enriching the soil he grew in." Then follows the narrative of the life work of Mr. Tompkins.

"A Builder of the New South" is published by Doubleday, Page and Company, New York.

PHI SOCIETY VOTES NOT TO OFFER AID TO GOOD ATHLETES

RESOLUTION AGAINST PROFES-
SIONALISM PASSES ASSEMBLY
WITH LARGE MAJORITY

NOT TO AWARD SCHOLARSHIPS

A resolution entitled: "Resolved, That the Phi Assembly go on record as disapproving of the University offering pecuniary inducements to baseball and football players to come to the University other than that offered to other University men," was passed by a vote of 35 for to 20 against. Those who voted against this resolution favored the giving of scholarships to players, and not money.

The chief argument hinged on whether the University should approve of professionalism. B. C. Brown spoke ardently in favor of the resolution. "We are not here to win so many football victories. Men who have character and who need financial aid should be given the limited number of scholarships allowed by the University rather than they be donated to athletes who would otherwise not require financial aid. We should get men here who will come up to the standard of clean sportsmanship, but we must not give them any financial inducement," said Mr. Brown. W. T. Shaw contended that inducements to athletes would add to the progress of professionalism. "To pay an athlete's expenses or to give him scholarship would be to pay his price," said Mr. Shaw.

John Kerr opposed the bringing of professional players to the University. "It would be a smirch upon the athletic life and spirit of the University, but I see nothing morally wrong in tendering a scholarship to a deserving high school athlete who is desirous of entering the University," said Mr. Kerr.

On November 21st at 2:15 o'clock a picture of the members of the General Assembly of the Philanthropic Society will be taken in front of the library.

DR. W. S. BERNARD SPEAKS IN CHAPEL THURSDAY NIGHT SPEECH ON "WHAT IS IDEALISM" WELL RECEIVED IN GER- RARD HALL

At the weekly religious meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night, Mr. W. S. Bernard gave a very interesting talk on "What is Idealism." He took the story of Judas Iscariot as his example. The lesson to us is, are we as college men going to hold to our idealism after we leave this campus which is literally filled with idealism, or are we going to accept the world's statement that "you have to do this way to get along?" We are selling our idealism, in the words of Mr. Bernard, if we fail to hold to the principles by which we live here. Has America sold her idealism in its "America First" slogan, was another question raised during the discussion Thursday evening.

The Y. M. C. A., in conducting these weekly meetings, attempts to have good speeches and good subjects pre-

CAROLINA LOSES TO DAVIDSON WILDCATS BY ONE TOUCHDOWN

TWENTY-FIVE YARD RUN OF SHEPARD GIVES DAVIDSON

SCORE IN LAST TWO MINUTES

A lone touchdown by Gig Shepherd within the last two minutes of play turned the tide of an almost certain 0 to 0 tie into a 7 to 0 victory for Davidson. Carolina had the ball upon her 25-yard line, and, due to the nearness of the end of the game, changed her defensive policy, to which she had adhered during the entire contest, and attempted a long pass, Lowe to McDonald, over left end. Poe, of Davidson, rushed in and intercepted the pass, returning it to Carolina's 23-yard line. On the very next play Shepherd took the ball on a long, sweeping run around right end, and eluding the entire Carolina first line and secondary defense swept across the goal for a touchdown. Brady kicked goal, and one minute later the game was over, and Davidson had won her first victory over Carolina since 1910.

Twice the Blue and White lost excellent chances to score through lack of the final punch to shove the ball across. The first opportunity occurring in the first quarter, came as a result of an intercepted pass by Spough upon Davidson's 33-yard line. The ball was then advanced 3 yards by a line plunge by Spough, and 20 more by a neat pass Lowe to McDonald. With the ball on the Wildcats' 10-yard line, successive line plays carried it to the 3-yard mark with fourth down and goal to go, but McDonald's pass struck the goal post and fell dead to the ground. Again in the third quarter Carolina managed to get within striking distance when McDonald received a punt on his 25-yard line and returned it to the 40-yard mark before he was downed, then two forward passes in quick succession, Lowe to McDonald, for 15 yards, and Lowe to Hutchins, for 25, placed the oval on Davidson's 20-yard line, but there the

MUSICAL CLUBS BEGIN TOUR IN CONCERT AT ST. MARY'S

LARGE AUDIENCE ENJOYS OPEN-ING CONCERT OF GLEE CLUB

Great interest and contagious enthusiasm manifested by prolonged applause and an audience which taxed the auditorium almost to its full seating capacity, characterized the fall's opening entertainment by the University Musical Clubs at St. Mary's Saturday evening. St. Mary's, Peace, and Meredith were fully represented, the young ladies constituting the most appreciative audience the Glee Club has commanded in many a year. The yodeling of "Bobbie" Wunsch, the Mandolin Club selections, and the "Symphonic Syncopations" of the Tar Baby Five, that happy, snappy jazz gang were the distinguishing characteristics of the program. Mr. Nichol's solos were received with hearty applause.

The concert began promptly at 8:30 o'clock, opening with "Song of College Days," Adams, by Glee Club and Orchestra. This number was followed by an encore from the Quartet, which also made "a big hit." Each college air from the "College Medley" was met with a spontaneous expression of appreciation.

Between the numbers of the program a ventriloquist minister, a friend of Dr. Way's, gave an amusing impromptu vaudeville act. His entertainment blended admirably with that of the Musical Clubs, and with "Hark the Sound," the program ended, and was pronounced a brilliant success.

Blackburn College, Illinois, has every available space filled and the authorities were forced to turn away 175 prospective students.
