FIRST YEAR WARRIORS TO MEET VIRGINIANS TOMORROW AFTERNOON

VA. FRESHMEN HAVE SHOWN UP WELL AGAINST PREP SCHOOLS

FRESHMEN MUST FIGHT TO WIN

Three days of hard, driving practice this week has prepared Knox Proctor's freshman team for the battle tomorrow on Emerson Field with the ancient rivals from Virginia, the first year team of that institution. The Carolina crew is in good shape, believes Coach Proctor, and although the record of the team so far has been disappointing to say the least, the eleven goes into the fray in better shape tomorrow than in any former encounter, and the chances of victory are large and encouraging.

The freshmen played real football in the game last Saturday with the North Carolina State Freshmen up to the second half, and the victory over the Raleigh school boys was decisive and earned. In the closing stages of the game, just as they have done in every game played so far this season, the eleven weakened and played loose and ineffective. It is simply whether or not the team can keep its punch throughout the game tomorrow, and play as hard in the second half as they always do in the first, if victory is to be considered. The team has the material, the plays, the fight, and the ability if they will put all into the game that they are capable of doing.

Virginia is going to send down a freshman team that is typical of their freshman teams every year, composed of prep school stars trained by coaches at Fishburne, Woodberry, Episcopal High, and others of those spirited schools that lie around the Virginia University. Although they suffered a heavy defeat at the hands of Staunton Military Academy, they have registered several victories over other worthy foes, among them Woodberry and Fishburne.

The game tomorrow will be attended with the enthusiasm of a varsity contest, for it is expected that it will be a real fight. Last year the Virginians won by a healthy margin, but the chances for victory for Carolina this year are much larger. Coach Proctor has not yet announced the team that will take the field at the opening of the contest, but it will be pretty much the same line-up that battled State freshmen last Saturday.

N. M. JEARNIGAN ADDRESSES NORTH CAROLINA CLUB MEET

INDUSTRIAL NORTH CAROLINA IS SUBJECT OF SPEAKER'S TALK

"Industrial North Carolina" was discussed by N. M. Jearnigan at a meeting of the North Carolina Club held on Monday night Nov. 15th. Dr. Howard W. Odom, Kenan Professor of Public Welfare, presided and after the reading led the open discussion. The discussion brought out several significant facts.

There are several problems facing our industries: The growth of strikes and the influence of labor unions, the tendency of the wealth of the state to be concentrated in the hands of a few.

In 1850 the total capital invested in industry in the state was a little over seven million dollars, while in 1914 it had increased to over $243,000,000. In 1850 there were a little over two thousand industries in the state while in 1914 there were over four thousand.

In 1914 we produced over 200,000,000 pounds of tobacco and imported $2,000,000 worth, all of which was used in our own factories.

We have the problem to face of the conservation of our state's natural resources.

The manufacturing of North Carolina is distributed over a great number of small corporations which tend to keep the wealth of the state evenly distributed which is quite a contrast

CANDIDATES TURN OUT FOR FIRST BASKETBALL TRYOUT

FIVE MEN FROM LAST YEAR'S VARSITY SQUAD ARE OUT

About twenty candidates reported Monday night for the first basketball practice, and went through an hour's workout in the fundamentals, doing little more than goal shooting and passing the ball. Major Boye, Head Coach of varsity basketball last year and who will have charge of the squad again this year was unable to be present at the initial workout on account of sickness, but will report out with the squad in a few days.

This early squad has been practicing regularly every night since Monday, and look likely enough for so early in the season. Many of the men now out for football will report after Thanksgiving, and will greatly strengthen the squad, since some of the best men are now working on the gridiron. Among these are Liipfert, letter man of last year, McDonald, freshman star last season, Hanby, captain of last year's freshman team, and Woodall, Griffith, Lewis, on last year's varsity squad.

Douglas, Erwin, Anderson, Rourk, Morris, all of whom played pretty much of the time on the varsity last year with the exception of Anderson, who is a Trinity letter man, are now working out. Among the new candidates for the varsity are Carmichael, Moore, Williams, Corbett, and Eaton, on the freshman squad last year.

Captain Shepherd of this year's team has had charge of the squad, owing to Coach Boye's absence, and has been directing the practices this week. Manager Person has not yet completed the schedule for the team but states that it promises to be one of the hardest that a Southern team has ever had. There will probably be a few games before Christmas but most likely Y. M. C. A. games, according to the manager.

TRAGIC WORLD IN HAMLET THEME OF KOCH'S LECTURE

PROFESSOR KOCH TALKS TO SOPHOMORES ON SHAKESPEAREAN TRAGEDIES

For the benefit of English III, a class making a study of several Shakespeare plays, Professor Koch, of the Department of Dramatic Literature, spoke in Gerrard Hall Wednesday night, using as his subject, "The Tragic World in Hamlet." Besides making a general talk on the social aspect of Shakespearean tragedies Professor Koch held his audience of English III students with a gripping, stirring and remarkable reading of the court and closet scenes of Hamlet.

He paid a high tribute to Shakespeare and described his tragedies as the embodiment of perfection. In this respect he answered many arguments advanced against the Shakespearean tragedy, showing that in all these plays in the end there is "a revaluation, a restoration."

MARY D. WRIGHT MEMORIAL DEBATE TO BE HELD SOON

Recently a committee appointed from the Phi Society met and decided upon the following query for the Mary D. Wright Memorial debate: "Resolved, That the policy of the United States in requiring its ships to pay Panama Canal tolls be maintained." As the Phi Society had the privilege of selecting the query, the Dialectic Society had its choice of sides, and chose the affirmative side of the query.

This debate, which was instituted last year, is an annual affair. This year it will be held December 4 in Gerrard Hall. The best speaker on the winning side will be awarded the Mary D. Wright Memorial medal. The question of the direct primary was first intended for use in the debate this year, but it was discarded and the Panama Canal question was adopted.

The Dialectic Society will hold its preliminary November 22, and the date for the Philanthropic preliminary will be announced later.

President Chase was called away from the University Monday by the death of his father, Charles Merrill Chase, of Georgetown, Mass.

STUDENT AUDIENCE PLEASED BY CONCERT OF GLEE CLUB

TAR BABY FIVE MAKES THE DISTINCT HIT OF PROGRAMME

The Carolina Musical Clubs rendered a delightful program in Gerrard Hall Saturday night before a good-sized audience of students and townspeople. The program was the same that the organization is using on its fall trip which opened with a performance in Charlotte Tuesday night.

The far-famed "Tar Baby Five," perhaps received the greatest storm of applause. This jazzy little orchestra composed of Billie Powell on the mandolin, Ernest Thompson on the piano, Harold Ross at the traps, and Jean Shaw on a ragged saxophone, was the hit of the evening in the interpretations of their own creations, "Symphonia Syncopations" and "Studies in Polyphony."

Other numbers of pleasure were the several melodies so delightfully sung by Charlie Nichols, a bass solo, "Rolling Down the R'o" by LeGrande Everett, and the selections rendered by the regular orchestra and mandolin club of the organization.

Critics proclaim the Glee Club to be the best in several seasons, their program being unusually well balanced, full of what Glee Club audiences want and expect, and thoroughly up to date in every respect.

HALF OF TRINITY STUDENTS TAKE GRATS ARMISTICE DAY

THOSE WHO TOOK HOLIDAY HAVE HARD LIFE FROM NOW ON

Durham, Nov. 16.—More than half the members of the student body of Trinity college are to be "firmly dealt with" by the officials of the institution as a result of an organized "cutting of classes" on Thursday, November 11th (Armistice day), Dean W. H. Wannamaker announced today. Reports that there will be a wholesale expulsion of students were emphatically denied by the dean, who stated that there are not more than four students known as the ringleaders of the Armistice day trouble that are considered for expulsion. As yet no students have been shipped.

As a means of asserting discipline the college officials have inaugurated a plan whereby the members of the freshman class of the college who participated in the organized movement to skip classes, must pass four of their five regular courses of study to remain in school. The upper classmen must pass five out of five courses of study to gain promotion. No student who participated in the demonstration for an extra holiday can be absent from classes unless it is physically impossible for him to attend. The usual petty excuse will not be tolerated for the remainder of the term. No student included in the list, failing to make passmarks for current work will be allowed to participate in any form of public appearance, such as athletics, literary and musical performances.

The system inaugurated in no way applies to the students who did not skip classes. They will be allowed to continue their studies as heretofore. The dean states that only about seven girls and boys of the senior class had any part in the affair.

Since the trouble occurred last Thursday the dean has had each participant, numbering about 240 "on the carpet." Very few of the students, he said, were found to have had an idea of really starting trouble. Many of them, he said, have openly expressed regret over the affair and some of the ringleaders have asked for an opportunity to apologize to the faculty and student body.

VARSITY SQUAD PRACTICES FOR THANKSGIVING CLASSIC

TEAM ALL SET TO THROW OFF THE SEASON'S JINX

Undaunted by the defeat administered them by Davidson last Saturday at Winston-Salem, the varsity football squad is out again on the field, practicing with a renewal vigor and punch in an effort to whip into top-top shape for the annual Thanksgiving clash with Virginia, which will take place in Charlottesville this year. Bad weather prevented the squad from taking the field Tuesday but Coach Fuller was not so sorry of the weather's inclemency and took advantage of the day by giving the squad an indoor blackboard drill outlining the Virginia plays and formations. Wednesday the team took the field for the first time since the Davidson contest and went through a light, snappy, signal drill. Since that time the plays of Virginia have been practiced, and the squad is working as it has never worked before in preparation for the season's biggest game.

The record of the Carolinians so far this season has been decidedly disappointing. Our two victories have been won by small scores and some of our defeats have been rather humiliating. What the team has apparently lacked is speed and the final punch. But the team has been followed by a jinx, unusual in its persistence, and everybody believes that the old stuff lies in the eleven and is bound to come out. Since the season began the breaks of the game have played against the Blue and White, and in most of the games a crippled team has been forced to play. Injuries have been frequent which has necessitated changing the line-up so many times that the team has not found itself in an ability to play together.

FIRST UNIVERSITY SERMON TO BE DELIVERED SUNDAY

WELL KNOWN BAPTIST DIVINE TO PREACH IN GERRARD HALL, 7:30 P. M.

The first University Sermon of the School year will be delivered by Dr. John Jeter Hurt, Sunday, November 21st, at 7:30 P. M. in Gerrard Hall.

Dr. Hurt is the pastor of the First Baptist Church, Wilmington, N. C., and is widely known as a forceful and eloquent speaker.

The University Sermons have hitherto been held in the mornings at 11 o'clock but in order to allow the congregations of the different churches to worship in their respective churches Sunday morning and to also have Dr. Hurt, the time has been changed from the morning hour to the evening hour of worship.

The University Sermon is delivered under the auspices of a Faculty Committee, and are delivered at intervals of a few weeks throughout the year in the Chapel by prominent clergymen.

During the war these Sermons were discontinued but were resumed last year.

OUTSIDERS SHALL NOT ATTEND FALL DANCES GERMAN CLUB DECREES

GERMAN CLUB EXPRESSES ITS DISAPPROVAL OF RIDING AFTER DANCES

CARD DANCES IN VOGUE AGAIN

Due to the greatly increased number of students, and to the limited space in Bynum Gymnasium, the fall dances this year will be restricted exclusively to students, alumni, and faculty of the University and their partners. This drastic ruling which is included in the regulations for the dances just made public, is necessitated by the overcrowded conditions existing at the recent dances which so detracted from the enjoyment of all present.

The second and third of December are the dates chosen for the coming dances. The Gorgon's Head dance takes place on the second, while the Gimghoul affair is in the afternoon, and the Fall German on the evening of the second. The complete text of the governing regulations as drawn up by the representative committee appears below:

REGULATIONS FOR THE FALL GERMAN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA GERMAN CLUB

Due to the limited capacity of Bynum Gymnasium and the increased number of students attending the University dances, the Committee on Regulations of the German Club, has deemed it necessary to restrict the dancers at the Fall German to the students, alumni and faculty of the University and their partners.

This step has been taken with deepest regret, as the Regulation Committee thoroughly appreciates the fact that there are numerous students of other educational institutions and people of towns, throughout the state, who under ordinary circumstances should be invited to the Carolina dances.

The overcrowded conditions at recent dances, however, have so detracted from the enjoyment of all present, that the matter of some restriction as to the number of visitors, has been unanimously recognized as an absolute necessity.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS MEET IN DEPARTMENTAL DISCUSSION

SHORT TALKS BY STUDENTS AND FACULTY FEATURE OF EVENING

The Electrical Engineering Society held its second meeting of the year in Phillips Hall recently with an attendance of over fifty. Short talks were made by the members of the Electrical Engineering Faculty and student members of the department.

Professor Daggett discussed the principles underlying the Electrical Engineering course in the University, showing how the course has been modified as a result of the lessons learned from the army experience in training technical experts during the Great War.

Professor Mustard explained some of the various fields in the Electrical Engineering profession, pointing out some of the qualifications necessary for success in each.

Professor Lear explained some of the advantages of the membership in the society and injected his customary enthusiasm into the meeting.

Mr. A. B. Wright of the Senior class discussed the advantages to be gained from summer work in the industries, and Mr. D. A. Wells of the Junior class made a very effective appeal for support of the society.

The Electrical Engineering Society holds a charter as a student branch of the national organization of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers of which there are some sixty branches in recognized technical schools in the country. The University branch is the largest and most active in the South.
