DEFENSIVE GAME DURING ALL OF THE FOOTBALL SEASON

CAROLINA WINS TWO GAMES OF THE SCHEDULE CONTAINING EIGHT

ONLY SIXTEEN POINTS SCORED

Carolina closed her 1920 football season Thanksgiving when the biggest game of the year was lost to Virginia in Charlottesville by the score of 14-0. In the last game of the schedule and the always notable classic between the two rival Universities, the Tar Heels put up a magnificent fight but finally succumbed, outclassed and defeated. Thus closed what has been termed an unsuccessful season for Carolina in the great college sport.

Coaches Myron Fuller and Clay Hite, of Yale and West Virginia, respectively, found a hard working and eager squad of football players here early in September and commenced training it for a hard season, with hopes of rounding out a successful team. The sentiment on the campus was that there existed plenty of material, and a good season was anticipated by all. The first game with Wake Forest was somewhat of a disappointment but the game with Yale that followed revived all hopes and showed that the Blue and White possessed a hard, scrapping team. There followed a series of injuries and bad breaks and frequent defeats. Carolina lost her two big games with North Carolina State and Virginia, and the season was pronounced a failure.

But now that the season is over, and desiring to put up no alibi for our defeats, it must be admitted that an abundance of material has never existed for the Carolina coaches to work with. It is true that there were a number of good football players and plenty of punch and fight, but what the team apparently lacked was two or three big stars, overshadowing the rest. In Robbins Lowe, next year's captain, there existed a football player of great ability, and who was always counted on, but "Runt" was never at his best during the season, suffering a number of disheartening and serious injuries. The rest of the

A PENNSYLVANIA ALUMNUS SENDS $50.00

CO-EDS HAVE REGISTERED 100 PER CENT STRONG IN CONTRIBUTING

A check for fifty dollars from Judge Samuel E. Shull, of Stroudsburg, Pa., has been received by the Greater University Student Committee for the furtherance of this work. Other contributions are being received daily from other alumni. Along with his contribution Judge Shull sends a very encouraging letter in which he says, "As an alumnus of the University I have a keen interest in her success, but unfortunately, living in another State and at a considerable distance, I cannot be of any real assistance in movements for the advancement of the University, but my heart is with her in every step forward. If I can be of other or further assistance in this or any progressive movement, command me."

The committee also received among these contributions one from Hon. A. L. M. Wiggins, of Hartsville, S. C. In his letter Mr. Wiggins says, "This is fine, go to it. Public sentiment must be aroused to the vital necessity of building a greater University. Education of the masses of men and women is the only salvation of our people against the destructive tendencies of the times."

In this movement the Co-eds have contributed 100 per cent strong. A complete report of the progress of this work will be given to the student body soon.

In memory of Ohio State men who lost their lives in the war, taps will be sounded every Wednesday at 10:58 a. m. during the school year.

UNIVERSITY ALUMNI GATHER AFTER THE TEACHERS' ASSEMBLY

RINGING RESOLUTION IS PASSED
CALLING FOR RELIEF

EIGHTY THREE ALUMNI MEET

The alumni of the University of North Carolina assembled for their annual banquet in connection with the State Teacher's Assembly in the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria at Asheville Thursday night. Eighty-three alumni were present, this number including a score or more of the members of the Buncombe county Alumni association.

A splendid spirit prevailed, and ringing resolutions were adopted, calling upon the state to make adequate provision for the state university and for all the state's institutions of higher education and teacher training.

President H. W. Chase made a very effective exposition of the pressing needs which now confront the university. Dr. Chase pointed out that pressing needs are encountered now not only by the university, but by all the state's institutions for higher education. He pointed out that the situation is critical and that the state must come to the relief of all of its institutions promptly if they are to function as the youth of the state urges that they function. "North Carolina cannot afford to delay longer in making adequate provision for the university and for all of her institutions of higher education," he declared.

Dr. Edwin Mims, formerly head of the English department of the university and now head of the English department of Vanderbilt university, "but always," as the late President Graham expressed it, "of the University of North Carolina," made an effective talk in which he called upon the alumni to shoulder their full share of responsibility in making the University of North Carolina one of the

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY ASKS FOR QUESTIONNAIRES

EFFORT IS BEING MADE TO RE-DUCE COST OF EDU-CATION

In an effort to compile the average cost of educating a student at the University of Kentucky and to reduce that cost if possible, that university is requesting all its students to fill out questionnaires concerning same.

The following is clipped from "The Kentucky Kernel":

Every student who has not filled out a cost of education questionnaire should get one at the postoffice at once and fill it out.

Instructors and students who still have questionnaires in their possession are urged to turn them in at once at the postoffice.

Every man and woman in school should consider it their duty to help get complete results in this tabulation by filling out one of these questionnaires.

UNIVERSITY LAUNDRY NOW BEING ERECTED

The foundation and basement of the University Laundry has been completed and work on the first story of the building has begun. This building will fill a long felt need on the campus. For years the laundry question has been a continuous nuisance and bother to the students. For a long time the students have been forced to submit to paying the exorbitant prices charged by the janitors for the low grade work they do. Four years ago one could get his laundry done for $1.25 per month, but now it costs almost that amount per week. Coupled with this is the low grade of work done and the continuous loss of clothing. Such conditions as these have caused the students to cry long and loudly for a University Laundry, and their cry has been heard and is now about to be answered.

MAX SENNETT'S BATHING BEAUTIES INSPIRE MUSICIANS

GLEE CLUB COMPLETES FIVE-DAY TOUR IN WEST

The University Musical Clubs have returned from a tour of the western part of the estate, a tour which was successful in almost every respect. The financial end of the tour is one of which the Clubs are very proud, as there is quite a sum remaining in the Club treasury.

Tuesday morning November 16 the Clubs assembled at the Carolina Goody Shop, and facing a blinding rain they rode out to Carrboro where they boarded the "Chapel Hill Limited" for Charlotte. That night in spite of the inclement weather they gave a concert at Queens College.

On Wednesday morning the Clubs were greeted by the sun and fair weather. On entering the train for Spartanburg the boys encountered a group of Mack Sennett Bathing Girls who were traveling on their way to Greenville, S. C., with the "Yankee Doodle Co." The fine weather and the girls put the boys in such high spirits that they entertained the passengers aboard all the way to Spartanburg.

As in Charlotte, on reaching Spartanburg, the boys were met by a committee of alumni who took charge of them and hesitated to do nothing for their pleasure and comfort. That night the Clubs gave a concert before a very appreciative audience of Converse College girls and citizens of Spartanburg.

On Thursday from Spartanburg the Clubs migrated to Salisbury where they appeared that night before an audience of townspeople. Hence to Winston on Friday. Here the Clubs were welcomed by the metropolis of the state and that evening they played and sang at Salem College for the Salem College girls and the Winston alumni and friends.

The climax of the tour, as well as the climax of concerts, was reached at N. C. C. W. on Saturday evening. Playing before their largest and most appreciative, as well as most critical audience the Clubs did justice to themselves and to the University.

SHECKELS PRODUCE WHERE PROFESSORIAL HUNTERS FAIL

Many of the faculty members and a few students went hunting on Thanksgiving day. The report has it that a small number of these hunters got a bird by the aid of dog and gun but many more got birds through the exchange of silver currency. The rate of exchange being 40 cents per bird. And they say, "Tis a manly sport."

DR. MURPHY WILLIAMS MAKES PRESBYTERIAN DEDICATION SERMON

DR. VENABLE MAKES PRESENTA-TION FOR THE DONOR

GIFT OF MR. JAMES SPRUNT

At the dedication ceremonies of the Presbyterian Church of Chapel Hill Sunday Morning, attended by a large gathering of townspeople, students and out-of-town visitors, Dr. Murphy Williams, of Greensboro, preaching the dedication sermon, exhorted the students especially to take advantage of the opportunity of worshipping in this beautiful church erected through the generosity of Dr. James Sprunt, of Wilmington, and the result of the realization by the parishioners that the most strategic point in the state at which to build a great and beautiful church to administer to the needs of the coming generation was at the seat of the state institution of learning. Dr. Francis Preston Venable, in behalf of Dr. Sprunt, the donor of the church, presented the church to the Community, the University, and to the State, expressing the desire of Dr. Sprunt to see a beautiful church at the seat of the state university which would be of lasting service to the state and its young manhood and which would stand as a lasting monument to christian progress. In a forceful and appreciating message Dr. Moss, the venerable pastor of the church, expressed the gratitude of the parishioners and the University to Dr. Sprunt for his generous gift.

Mr. Hobart Upjohn, prominent architect, of New York City, planned the design and building of the church. Mr. Upjohn's grandfather, who built and designed the beautiful Trinity Church which stands at the head of Wall Street in New York City, designed and built the Episcopal church which stands on the edge of the University.

DI SOCIETY FAVORS GRANTING COLLEGE UNITS TO DEBATERS

RESOLUTION PASSES BY LARGE MAJORITY AFTER SPIRITED DEBATE

The sentiment in favor of giving college credit for work in intercollegiate debates was strengthened Saturday night when the Dialectic Society expressed itself in favor of the following resolution by a vote of 88 to 21:

"Resolved, That the Dialectic Society go on record as favoring the granting of academic credit to students for work done in intercollegiate debates that are held under the auspices of the Debating Council." Among the business of the evening was the initiation of D. E. Scarborough.

The sentiment of the speakers were divided on the question, but the affirmative was in the majority. The affirmative presented a number of facts which they claimed justified the giving of credit for such work. Some contended that such debates required so much time and work that it was a great burden to carry the usual amount of college work and the debate

BASKET BALL PRACTICE RESUMED IN EARNEST

Coach Boye's basketball squad began work in earnest when it resumed practice Monday night after laying off since Wednesday night, practically all the members spending Thanksgiving and the week-end off the hill.

The squad is considerably strengthened by the presence of a number of new men out for practice. Among these are MacDonald and Hanby of last year's freshman team, Liipfert and Woodall of last year's varsity squad.

Coach Boye has two or three teams about equal, and indications point to a team that will be hard to pick from such a likely squad. Two or three Y. M. C. A. games are scheduled before Christmas, though this has not been given out yet by Manager Person.

THE FALL DANCES TO BE HELD AT THIS WEEK-END

WEIDEMEYER SAXOPHONE OR-CHESTRA TO FURNISH MUSIC

OVER A HUNDRED GIRLS COMING

With the football season closed and the Virginia game history, Carolina students are turning their attention to the annual fall dances, which will take place Thursday and Friday of this week.

The dance managers have been busy in making preparations, and everything possible has been done by those in charge to make the dances a success and a credit to Carolina. The usual favors and other essentials of a successful and delightful dance have been secured, and the Gymnasium is to be lavishly decorated for the happy occasions.

Good girls are to be here galore. The committee has had its hands full in mailing out over a hundred invitations to girls asked by members of the German Club. The young ladies coming from all over the state and adjoining states will begin to arrive about Thursday noon, and from that moment on joy will reign supreme.

The Gorgon's Head dance will be on Thursday night. On Friday night the German Club dance will be given. The leaders for the latter dance will be Billy Carmichael with Miss May Waller, of Durham, assisted by Dick Lewis with Miss Louise Haysworth, of Florence, S. C., and Jno. Harding, with Miss Frances Whedbee, of Greenville, S. C.

Music for the dances will be furnished by the Weidemeyer Saxophone Orchestra, hailing from Huntington, West Virginia. Word comes from elsewhere that this band of musicians is rendering better dance music than any rival orchestra in the South. Last week the orchestra played at V. M. I. where they made a decided hit.

Following the dances on the Hill a dance will be given in Durham on Saturday night in order to complete a week end of mirth and pleasure for the young ladies attending the Carolina fall hops.

UNIVERSITY ALUMNUS DOES MEDICAL RESEARCH WORK

DR. E. J. WOOD, OF WILMINGTON,
MAKES STUDY OF TROPICAL DISEASES

Dr. E. J. Wood, of the class of '99, now a prominent physician of Wilmington, has been in London, England for some time engaged in the study of tropical and nervous diseases. While an assistant in clinical medicine at Guy's Hospital he made a study of quantitative variations in the appreciation of the vibrating sensation in various nervous diseases, which will be published in the next number of the hospital reports. He also lectured on various aspects of pellagra and on the tropical sprae disease. In a letter to a member of the faculty he says in part:

"The most important part of my work for the year was the discovery of the greatness of the British in medicine. They are our superiors in many things. In the laboratory I believe we are ahead but from the standpoint of keen observation and painstaking work they excel us at many points. Certainly the combination of American and British medicine today makes a product which the Germans will not be able to reproduce. All through my stay in London I was filled with regret that I had gone to Germany in the past when I might have gone to London."
