BEGIN CONSTRUCTION OF NEW ATHLETIC FIELD

Wake Forest Will Soon Have Modern and Up-to-Date Grounds For Games.

Wake Forest, Oct. 25.—Actual construction on Wake Forest's new athletic field will begin tomorrow in the form of excavation and leveling the territory where the field will be built.

The board of trustees of Wake Forest met a few days ago and after accepting the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gore and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Gore, appointed a construction committee which consists of President W. L. Poteat, chairman; Dr. G. W. Paschal, secretary; E. B. Earnshaw, treasurer; Mr. Claude Gore, H. L. Langston and R. E. Royall.

This committee will have the construction of the field in charge and they expect to have the leveling of the field complete by February of 1922 and ready for collegiate baseball by next spring. The contract for the excavating of the field has been let to Chandler and Ragland of Louisburg. As yet the different contracts for equipping the field have not been given and bids will be accepted by the committee later in the year.

President William Louis Poteat announced Monday morning in chapel that the committee had received the funds for building the field which total $8,320, which will evacuate the territory and put it in shape to equip for intercollegiate athletics.

CHURCH SOCIETIES ARE ORGANIZED AT MEETING

All Young People's Societies Are Represented in Union—Officers Are Elected.

Plans for a permanent union organization of all the young people's societies of the various churches in Chapel Hill were completed at a meeting of representatives from these societies in the social room of the Presbyterian church last Monday night.

At this meeting the two B. Y. P. U.'s of the Baptist church were represented by John Purser and W. T. Shaw; the Christian Endeavor Society of the Christian church by G. H. Leonard; St. Hilda's Guild and the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of the Episcopal church by Miss Alma Holland and H. D. Duls, respectively; the Epworth League of the Methodist church by "Scrubby" Rives, and the Campus Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian church by Jas. A. Bradley.

The following officers were elected for the union organization: Jas. A. Bradley, president; John Purser, vice president; Miss Alma Holland, secretary and treasurer. The first union services will be held at the Christian church on Sunday night, November 20, at 7 o'clock.

A leading all-college organization of McGill College, Montreal, Canada, is the McGill Class club. Weekly meetings and tournaments are held throughout the year.

DANCE TO BE GIVEN BY ORDER OF GRAIL

First of Series of Dances to Be Given Under Order's Supervision Next Saturday Night.

Again realizing the need for more social development on the campus, the Order of the Grail will renew the series of informal dances given last year. The first of the new series will be held in Bynum Gymnasium on Saturday night, November 5, at 9 o'clock. There will be an admission fee of 75c for gentlemen without ladies, and 50c for gentlemen with ladies. All students except freshmen are eligible. The proceeds above expenses will possibly be devoted to purchasing blankets for the athletic teams. The proceeds from the first dance will by no means furnish the necessary amount for these robes, but it is hoped that by the series there can be enough raised to cover the cost. The dances have the approval and support of the faculty, and there will be ample and proper chaperonage. The regular German Club rules will be enforced on the floor. Music will be furnished by The Howling Hounds Orchestra.

The dances which were given last year under the auspices of the Order of the Grail were very successful in accomplishing the three-fold purpose of the order; to get the students together; to provide an outlet for social development; and to provide suitable recreation under proper supervision. The order solicits the moral support of the campus for these dances, and it is hoped that there will be a good attendance on Saturday night. Similar dances will be given at intervals of about once a month for the remaining part of this college year, provided the first one is successful.

TAR HEEL EDITOR MAKES TALK ON PUBLICATIONS

information that helped you during the days of adjustment while you were being assimilated into the student life here.

"It was the publications that first gave you the student invitation to the University. Entering, they are the first part of student life, and leaving, you will leave them last behind. In your senior year particularly, the Yackety-Yack will mean much to you as the story of your life here. All these publications play their particular part in your life on the campus. You may get along without one or all of them, but all are necessary to the highest type of University citizenship.

"The Carolina Magazine is the oldest of the student publications. For many years its development was slow and its content uninteresting, but last year it was changed from the old supposedly literary and seldom read magazine to a live publication, teeming with well written articles, stories and verse. More clearly and completely than any other paper it covers and interprets the thought of the campus, its columns being open for the expression of campus ideas by all students.

"The Yackety Yack is the organ of the literary societies and the social fraternities. As the annual of the University it is the most complete picture of activities, personalities, and life on the campus that it is possible to produce.

"The Tar Heel is the newspaper of the University and the official organ of the Athletic Association. It is published twice each week and brings to the student body the news of the campus and Carolina in the best possible way. The Tar Heel is your newspaper and you cannot miss it and keep completely in touch with life here at the University.

"The Freshman Bible is one of the smallest but withal one of the most vital publications here. It is issued and edited by members of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet for the purpose of helping a man to get his bearings when he first enters the University. The Tar Baby is no longer connected with the University, but has been incorporated as a private enterprise.

"These are all, save The Tar Baby, Carolina publications, and as such are yours. The editorial and business boards of them all will be open to you, and you will have the opportunity of working for them and for the University. But if you cannot give them a part of your time and effort, or if you are not interested in that sort of work, you can still help to support them by subscribing to them and backing them in their endeavors."

The University Press of the University of Texas has recently installed a stereotyping machine to facilitate the handling of cuts for the advertisers. Several hundred dollars' worth of type and equipment for the publication of the Daily Texan have been bought lately.

collection. Any commercial laundry on earth would be set a-fire by the owners if it collected that much work the first day. The thing is practically unheard of.

The thing that will be of most interest to the students is the selection of two students have to handle the complaints. In case of lost garments adjustments will be made at the time of complaint.

One thing that has been generally unclear in the minds of the students as to in what manner the $8.50 was collected. Practically every one thought at first that the money was a flat fee. This is not the case. The money was paid to cover a deposit. In case the student does not have enough work done to use all that amount up in charges, he will be refunded the amount left over. On the other hand, if he overdoes the thing, and it requires over the amount deposited, then he will have to make another payment to cover the deficit.

The price to be charged for the work is just one half that charged by commercial laundries throughout the country. The average number of pieces that each student will send in per week was figured at 22 pieces. In due time, a price list will be published in order that the students may know just how much they are paying to have their work done. This has not been done yet, owing to the fact that it is not known how low the cost of operating the laundry will be.

Some students have thought that they were paying for the building and machinery. This is not true. The University is footing the bill for all machinery, and assuming the total amount for the construction of the building.

The delay at first was due to the fact that the enterprise was being operated by unskilled laborers. The whole thing was new to them. Also it required a long time to mark the clothes, in order that they might be returned to their proper owners.

In washing the clothes, there is absolutely nothing used that will in the least possible way injure the fabric. In washing, 88 per cent. soap and 12 per cent. moisture is used. There is no lye or caustic in the soap. The clothes while being washed, pass through seven different changes of water. After they have been washed, they are rinsed in javelle water, which cleanses as well as purifies. You drink javelle water all the time.

The superintendent wishes to conduct all alleged knockers through the plant.

Some misunderstanding has been had in regard to the laundering of stiff collars. In sending the stiff collar ironer, the manufacturers sent the thing assembled, and left a blade out of it that is essential to the finishing of the collar. This was unforeseen by the officials. The work was sent to Durham to be done in order that the students would get their collars back at the earliest possible moment.

All the above statements were gathered from the superintendent of the plant, the president of the University, the dean of students, and the business manager of the University. If there is any further kick coming, some of the above men should be seen and the complaint adjusted.

The Rockefeller Foundation has given Harvard $1,785,000 to found a school of public health. The purpose of the school is to train public health administrators. This gift will enable the University to consolidate various lines of instruction and research.

Along with the graduate school of business administration at New York University there has been established a bureau of business research. This bureau will place the facilities of the school at the service of business men and public officials.
