

DI MEETING CUT SHORT FOR BASKETBALL GAME

Fronberger, New Member, Receives Ovation When Introduced; Expresses Appreciation.

The Elon-Carolina basketball game broke into the program of the regular meeting of the Di society Saturday evening.

A query of timely interest that would evoke much discussion had been arranged for the meeting and also an important amendment to the constitution was to be discussed and voted on by the hall, but on a motion by one of the members and by a unanimous vote the entire program was dispensed with in order to allow the men to attend the game.

The amendment that was to be discussed was read to the hall two weeks ago by J. D. Dorsett. The purpose of this proposal was to have the president of the society elected on the third meeting in February so that his picture can be placed in the Yackety Yack along with the other two presidents. This motion will be taken up and settled at the next meeting.

The feature of the meeting, if it can be said to have any, was the speeches of two new initiates, F. C. Fronberger and G. N. Honeycutt. Fronberger received a great deal of applause from the hall when he was introduced by P. S. Trotter, but this ovation seemed to incite some nervousness on the part of the speaker. He expressed his willingness, however to devote some of his time to society since he had observed the profit to be derived from such work.

LOCAL CHAPTER LEGAL FRAT HOLDS INITIATION

Eight Men Taken Into Vance Inn Chapter of Phi Delta Phi Fraternity.

Eight men have been initiated into the Vance Inn Chapter of the international legal fraternity of Phi Delta Phi on February 13. They are: Daniel W. Perry, Rocky Mount; James S. Battle, Tarboro; Robert A. Hope and Edward B. Hope, Waterloo, S. C.; Joseph G. Tucker, Plymouth; Joseph W. Ervin, Morganton; Fred B. McCall, Charlotte; and John P. Trotter, Charlotte.

To be eligible for Phi Delta Phi here the student must have passed every subject for one term, and averaged more than 80 per cent. on a majority of them. The fraternity is the oldest and largest collegiate professional Greek letter organization, being founded at the University of Michigan in 1869 and having more than 15,000 members among its fifty chapters, or Inns, as they are called after the old English custom of lawyers belonging to the Inns adjoining their courts.

AT THE PICKWICK

The Raoul Walsh special production, "The Serenade," is coming to the screen of the Pick on Saturday evening. The story, which is a tale of Mexican senoritas and senors, is full of pep and action. George Walsh, an exponent of the art of Douglas Fairbanks, and Miriam Cooper, who was featured in "Evangeline," are co-stars in the production.

Marshall Neilan's intensely human picture, "Bits of Life," will be the feature attraction at the local show-house on Monday evening. This picture was adjudged by distinguished critics of the dramatic world as one of the best productions of the year. The story is new and unique, and it is somewhat different from the general run of productions.

Lovers of the gridiron sport will see one of the best football pictures ever filmed when they see Charles Ray in "Two Minutes to Go," at the Pick on Tuesday evening. This picture, one of his latest productions, is full of action from start to finish. In it intimate glances of college life are given.

NEW COURSE INTRODUCED IN ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT

Course In Observation To Be Offered To Freshmen—Another Great Step Forward.

Taking one more step forward toward making the Engineering Department of the University the best in the South, the Electrical and Civil Engineering departments of this University have instituted a course in observation which will be offered during the spring quarter for freshmen registered in those two schools.

"A student should make up his mind to observe every detail of his work," said Professors Daggett and Braune, at the heads of the Electrical and Civil Engineering schools, respectively, "and to know the reason 'why' for every detail. There is much to be learned about the handling of labor and about human nature as represented by the skilled and unskilled mechanic and foreman. By the exercise of tact and patience and by close observation he can gain a great deal of useful information regarding his work.

Silibi will be prepared for each trip, telling what will be seen and questions calling attention to particular points to be observed. The students will make sketches and collect data while on the trip. Prior to the trip they will be given a talk on what they will see, and in what manner they are to observe details, and just what they will be expected to do. After the return they will write the trip up under the direction of an English professor.

This is altogether a new thing for freshmen. Heretofore only seniors and juniors have been allowed to take these trips, but during the Spring term each of the trips to be taken will be a regular part of the freshman course.

Ten trips will be taken during the quarter. The following ten places will be visited: The water purification plant, the sewerage treatment plant, end of the first half. Wake Forest came back into the game when the ten minutes was up and looked like an entirely different team, showing more fight, more roughness, better passing and better shooting than it was thought possible. The good Baptists are to be congratulated on coming so near defeating Carolina. They have done more than any other team in the state has.

Practically every team in the state can sing to the state honors that justly famous Hawaiian lyric and hymn, "Farewell to Thee." With the two Carmichael brothers taking the leading parts, and Green, McDonald and Perry joining in at opportune times, in order that the harmony be perfect, the Carolina quint has been singing "I Need The Every Hour" to those honors for nearly two months. The singing of the Carolina quint has delighted large audiences all over the state, and from all appearances the need is going to be satisfied.

The next number on the program is the South Atlantic Championship which will be decided on the trip through Virginia and Maryland. "Marching Through Georgia" also promises to be one of the successful numbers of the Carolina quint for the season. On the 24th day of February, in the year of Our Lord, 1922, the Tar Heels will go into the Southern Collegiate Basketball Tournament at Atlanta to fight for Southern honors. No other team to be represented there will have a better record than Carolina, and no other team will have a better chance of winning out than the Tar Heels, barring injuries to players.

Line-up:
Carolina Position Wake Forest
Green Stringfield
r. f.
Perry Gleason
l. f.

Field goals: Carmichael, C., 4; Green, 4; Perry 2; McDonald and Mahler, one each; Gleason, 3; Carlyle, 2; Heckman, 2; Ellis, 2; Stringfield, 1. Referee: Steiner (Trinity). Time of halves, 20 minutes.

a railroad trestle, the reinforced concrete building, the hydro-electric plant, the sub-station, telephone exchange, a traction company, the University power plant, the Carrboro cotton mills, a tobacco factory, an iron foundry, and a fertilizer factory. It is thought that this course will cause the freshmen to take renewed interest in their work, and will greatly encourage them, owing to the fact that they will make a special study of the accomplishments of other engineers, realizing all the while that later they will be called upon to make similar contributions to industry.

CORPORATION COMMISSION JACKS UP CHAPEL HILL TELEPHONE COMPANY.

ments on the 260 odd phones in Chapel Hill. They want their money back or they won't play, or something of that nature. The people feel that if nearly $40 has been spent on each telephone in the city they ought in the famous words of a local wit "Have self starter phones instead of the ones that crank." In other words, they don't see just where all this ten thousand dollars has gone.

So it seems that the telephone company must remain out in the rain and look in until the state body says they may come in the house through the window "raised."

Protests have been both indignant and profane among the good people of Chapel Hill. The telephone company honestly avows that they will sell the whole blooming business for about $25,000, although they are paying taxes on only $10,000 of that amount. The University, the city council, and the subscribers have all been offered a chance to buy, but have all kindly, but firmly, very firmly, refused.

No date has been set for the hearing before the State Corporation Commission, but when a date is set there are a number of indignant subscribers to the cranking telephone system who will go to Raleigh to impress on the minds of the good brethren there that a raise is not necessary, not wise, is altogether out of the ordinary, and "for the Love of Mike, Mr. Commission, don't run the high cost of living and talking any higher." The telephone company will say, "Oh, please Mr. Commissioners we spent $10,000 we are giving better service, and please, Mr. Commission we want our money back and we want to be properly paid for our efforts, and we want just a wee little slice of income from our investment." Nobody, not even the Tar Heel knows what the commission will tell the good people.

It's not the things we do

That we so often live to regret. It's the things we might have done. Every middle-aged man will tell you that he regrets not having begun to build up his insurance early in life. You have their experience to guide you. Don't make the same mistake they made and put it off too long.
