

HUNDREDS HEAR GREAT MINISTER'S SERMON ON CONCENTRATION MONDAY

Dr. George Truitt Visits Chapel Hill and Draws Capacity Audience in Memorial Hall.

NO HELL FIRE EVANGELIST

Filling every seat and almost every available square foot of standing room, more than three thousand students, townspeople and visitors from points far and near poured into Memorial hall at the chapel period Monday morning to hear Dr. George Truitt, whose unusually successful meetings just concluded in Raleigh have attracted state-wide attention.

Dr. Truitt, a native of Clay county, North Carolina, spoke of his early desire to come to the University and study law. Providence, he said, had thwarted that desire and directed his path in another direction, but his interest in the University and his desire to visit it had been kept up for over forty years. If any came to hear Dr. Truitt expecting a sensational brand of "hell-fire and damnation" evangelism, they were doomed to disappointment, for the most outstanding characteristic of his message was its quiet sincerity, backed up by a great reserve of vigorous energy.

Dr. Truitt took as his text a verse from Philippians which he called the three-fold secret of St. Paul's success: "This one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before."

"The first part of St. Paul's secret," said Dr. Truitt, "is concentration. Every man should have a certain work to do and should know how to do it. The business world today is intent upon securing this great essential. Mr. Edison and the Wright brothers illustrate the principle in their own lives. It is of preeminent importance in the highest realm of all, the realm of religion. The tragedy of the Christian religion is that so many of us live it tepidly, in a half-hearted, luke-warm, vacillating manner."

"The second part of St. Paul's secret is how to forget things we ought to forget. Memory is a wonderful power, but it is also a wonderful power to be able to forget the things that it would be harmful for us to remember. First, we should forget our blunders and regard them only as stepping stones to victory; we should forget our losses and not mourn over them; we should forget our injuries, because, if we go through life cherishing malices and grievances, our true perspective will be lost; we should forget our successes, save as we remember one achievement to spur us on and to incite us to higher achievement; finally, we should for-

GUILFORD CLUB GIVES SMOKER TO CHAMPS

Following Championship Game Country Club Entertains Greensboro Team with a Smoker.

The Greensboro high school basketball team was given a smoker in the club room of the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night after the victory over Durham, as guests of the Guilford County club.

Worth Henderson, a member of the law school, acted as toastmaster, in the absence of "Scrubby" Rives, who is president of the club.

Mr. Parks, coach of the Greensboro team, made a short talk, giving a number of reasons why Greensboro was successful this year, attributing the success to the determination and fight shown by each member of the team throughout the season.

Jimmie Poole, who piloted the G. H. S. team last year, made a short talk on how the game looked from the side-lines and concluded his talk by presenting to Joe Brittain, this year's captain, a basketball, to be kept as a trophy from the game for the state championship.

This talk was followed by the distribution of smokers and Polar Bears. The squad elected Kenneth Williams, star guard of this year's team, as captain for the coming year.

ONE RANSON MAY NOT BE HERE THIS SPRING FOR THE CINDER PATH

Track Squad May Have Important Man—P. J. Ranson Says He May Leave College.

SQUAD TRAINING DAILY.

The State Indoor Champions since their return from Durham Friday night, have settled down to a daily grind on the cinder track for the N. C. State meet which will be held April 1st in Raleigh. The non-arrival of the javelinists has been ordered for several weeks, has somewhat inconvenienced track men in this particular phase of the meet, but with men of so much experience as those of last year this should not effectually injure the team's chances.

The track season thus far has been unusually successful, and advance reports tend to show that the team will continue on its victorious path. The encounter with State in April with the exception of the South Atlantic meet, will probably be the hardest that they will encounter. State has been showing up unusually well in running events, but the ability of Carolina's field men will more than counterbalance this.

Ranson, P. J., known more familiarly as "Ratty," says that he ran his last half mile in the State indoor meet and intends to take a job at the end of this quarter. The loss of Ranson will be a hard blow to the track men, since he is probably the most experienced candidate out. His place will be probably taken by Dale Ranson, who has been showing much promise. He was the runner-up of Blakeney in the mile, and it is generally thought that he would have won if he had begun his sprint earlier, since he passed

WORK IS NOW UNDER WAY FOR NEW TENNIS COURTS

Improvements to Be Made on Campus Drainage System—Co-ed Dorm to Come Soon.

The placing of the History and Science buildings on the present tennis courts just back of the gymnasium has necessitated the construction of new courts. It has been a very difficult task on the part of the management to determine for these courts desirable spots where the contour will permit, and that will not be disturbed in the future. It is the desire of the management to provide permanent quarters and not temporary, as is generally believed.

The new plan calls for eight standard-sized courts, 60x120. One is to be placed at Smith building and another adjacent to it just back of the library. Two others of practically the same dimensions are to be placed just back of the new dorms. A space midway between the Y. M. C. A. and Memorial Hall is to take care of two others. The position of the other two is yet to be determined.

It was the aim of the management to finish the new courts before those at the gymnasium were demolished. Despite the fact that all possible efforts have been made to do this, none of the new courts will be ready for use before the others are ploughed up. Work is well under way on those at Smith and it will be wound up probably by the end of next week. It is not known definitely when the other six will be ready for use.

There has been a great deal of talk on the campus as to why these courts were not placed just outside of the east gate, and it was learned from T. C. Atwood, the University contractor, that this space is being reserved for a woman's dormitory. The contract has not been let for its erection, but it will probably be included in the next building program.

In addition to constructing the courts, this same force of labor will overhaul the drainage system on the campus and fill up some of the water pools here and there that were during the last freshet about to be commercialized by some ambitious self-help student who was about to turn the one near the new dorms into a bathing resort. This was in evidence since he placed up a placard stating: "No one allowed in here wearing a one-piece bathing suit." It is rumored that he secured the services of

SPRING WEATHER HERE AND RACQUETEERS ARE TRAINING FOR MATCHES

More on Tennis Courts Than Ever Before—Varsity Players Working Out Each Afternoon.

TO HAVE FINE SCHEDULE.

With the return of spring weather the tennis courts are being crowded daily, and the varsity is being given good opportunity to practice for the tournaments which will be held in the near future. The men who composed last fall's varsity are all out, and it is likely that the same quartet will be the personnel of the spring team.

Manager Barden says that more men are using the tennis courts at the present time than ever before, and although tennis will be hurt a bit by the tearing up of four of the best courts, besides the disadvantage of having the courts scattered around the campus, that the outlook for the sport is good. Manager Woolen has promised to have the temporary courts ready as soon as possible.

The varsity men are showing even better form than that of last fall, and the outlook for a victorious season is unusually bright. Johnson and Tench Cox, Barden and Hawkins will probably compose the doubles team with Jernigan as fifth man. This team was unusually successful last fall, winning 14 out of the 17 matches played. Other men out who are showing much promise are Billy Cox, who ran into the second prelims of the tournament held in Florida recently for the state championship; Bruton, of last year's Trinity team; Bretney Smith, of last year's varsity; Morris, winner of the state high school championship singles.

Louis Graves and Pat Winston are coaching the team. Both of them are experienced tennis players, Graves being rated among the 30 best tennis players in the United States and having played in several tournaments when in the army, and Winston, having won the state championship in singles for a number of consecutive years. Both men play different types of tennis, Graves, a sharply aggressive type and Winston playing on the defensive practically all the time. Their methods are being adopted by men out for the team.

CENTER COLLEGE MAN MAKES TALK ON FAITH

Rev. J. W. Lynch, One Time Minister at the Home of "The Praying Colonels" Here.

A sermonette on Faith by Rev. J. W. Lynch, of Atlanta, Ga., was the feature of the last chapel program for the winter quarter. Rev. Mr. Lynch was for ten years pastor at Center College, Kentucky, and for a like period of time, at Wake Forest.

Of the habit which won for the powerful Center College football team its nickname of "praying colonels," Rev. Mr. Lynch had this to say: "I was at first skeptical about their prayer habits but after careful investigation, I learned of its origin. Once just before a particularly hard game, the captain gathered his men around him and said, 'Boys, I'm not strong on religion, but I do believe in God. Will someone lead us in a short prayer.' There was a moment of tense silence, and then one of the men stepped out with clenched fists, 'Dammit all, let me pray!' he said. And he made a wonderful prayer, and began a praying habit which has been kept up since that time."

Rev. Mr. Lynch took as his text Mark 9:24, which he called one of the greatest prayers in the Bible: "Lord, I believe; help Thou mine unbelief." His long experience with college men, he said, allowed him to see something of the agony of the struggle between doubt and faith. He declared it to be his belief that Jesus Christ himself was once doubted.

He defined faith as trustful recognition of unseen realities. "We do not see gravitation, electricity, growth, love and many other realities in which we trust daily. God is the great Unseen Reality and faith is the act of trusting Him. If you can't believe all the Bible, believe what you can, and hold on fast to that."

TWENTY FOUR MEDALS ARE PRESENTED TRACK TEAM—SPEECHES MADE

Man Fails to Get Cup Over, But Program Is Held and Medals Given Out.

CAROLINA PLACED IN ALL.

With "Scrubby" Rives presiding and Rev. A. S. Lawrence on hand to deliver two dozen medals, individual awards to winners of places in the inter-collegiate track meet held in Durham last Friday were made in chapel Tuesday morning. In addition to the remarks of "Scrubby" and the Episcopal rector, short spirited talks were made by Coach Bob Fetzer and Professor Frank Graham.

The 16-inch trophy cup, given by the Durham Chamber of Commerce to the college winning the greatest number of points in the meet, was to have been sent over and formally presented at the same time. The man who was going to bring it was unable to come, however, and Professor Graham, who was to have received the cup for the University, concluded the program with a few words expressive of Carolina's gratitude to the people of Durham and the various organizations of the town for their enthusiastic support of the event, the first of its kind ever staged in the state.

Before presenting the medals Mr. Lawrence called attention to the fact that Carolina won a place in every single event and walked away with both relay races. He declared that the recent meet is only the beginning of a bigger interest in track throughout the South.

As each man's name was called to come forward and receive his reward, "Scrubby" called for a yell, leading it himself with enough of the old-time zest to put an end to any possible fear that the doctor who took out his appendix recently might have gotten a section of his "pep" organ along with it. The students responded with much spirit and applauded all the medal winners heartily. When Mr. Lawrence began calling the Ransons, there was a "Split-Carolina" for the Ranson family, whose three representatives on the track team took five of the medals.

Coach Bob Fetzer received an ovation when he was called upon for a speech. He thanked the students for their cooperation in helping to put the track team across in such a successful manner and said that it was only the beginning of a new interest in that phase of athletics in North Carolina.

Men receiving medals were as follows: Boyd Harden, 1st place 50-yd dash; L. H. Moore, 2nd place 50-yd dash; G. B. Wynne, 2nd place 50-yd hurdles; T. S. Parker, 3d place 50-yd hurdles; M. D. Ranson, 2nd place 440; P. J. Ranson, O. W. Freeman and Ralph Van Landingham, 1st, 2nd and 3d in half mile; M. D. Ranson, 3d place mile; J. R. Norris, 3d place

REGISTRATION FOR SPRING QUARTER TO BEGIN TODAY

Failure to Arrange Promptly With Treasurer Will Mean Dropping of Work.

Registration for the spring quarter starts today at 2:30. Students are expected, by the registrar to register according to the schedule given below. Course cards, showing definitely the courses to be taken with sections accurately indicated, should be left with the professor who assists in arranging the courses. He will turn them into the registrar.

Bills will be sent out by the Business Office indicating dates when payment must be made. Failure to arrange promptly with the treasurer will necessitate the dropping of a student's name from all class rolls.

The complete schedule is as follows:

Graduate School—14 Alumni, 2:30 to 4:30, March 17-18—Dr. Pierson, Mr. MacMillan.

A. B. Seniors—13 Alumni, 2:30-4:30, March 17, 18, 20—Dr. Hamilton.

A. B. Juniors—13 Alumni, 2:30-4:30, March 17, 18, 20—Professor Graham.

(Seniors and Juniors, A-H, 17th, I-P, 18th, Q-Y, 20th).

BASEBALL CANDIDATES WORK OUT EACH DAY ON EMERSON FIELD WITH FINE PROSPECTS FOR GREAT CLUB

THREE DURHAM MEN ON ALL STATE HIGH QUINT

Tar Heel Athletic Writer Picks High Team—Daniel and Britton of Greensboro on Quint.

(By R. S. Pickens.)

In picking the all-state high school team this year the job has not been especially difficult. The writer wishes to acknowledge the assistance of Billy Carmichael and other members of the Carolina varsity squad, who observed the teams in action here, and as members of the team, and expert exponents of the game, their opinions must bear heavily in the matter.

First Team—Britton, Greensboro, forward; Green, Durham, forward; Daniels, Greensboro, center; Vickers, Durham, guard; B. Hackney, Durham, guard.

Second Team—Harvell, Charlotte, forward; Davis, Benson, forward; Branch, Asheville, center; Williams, Greensboro, guard; Henderson, Greensboro, guard.

Britton, of Greensboro, the first forward picked on the all-state team takes his place as a result of play here at Chapel Hill. He is the life of the Greensboro outfit, a crack shot, and a fast sure floorman and passer. He gets his place without question. Green, of Durham and Harvell, of Charlotte, both had excellent chances for the all-state, but Green's size, his clever team and ability to work with other members of the team consistently, gave him first place. Harvell is undoubtedly one of the cleverest high school forwards seen this year, but his tendency to play individually, and his size puts him on the second team. Next year, with added growth and skill he should be one of the wonders of the high school teams of the state.

Daniel, at center, is the only logical choice. He practically won the game from Durham on account of his immense size, and uncanny ability to shoot from almost impossible angles. He is the class of high school centers, although a little slow and tires quickly on account of his

ACCREDITED COLLEGE IS DEFINED IN CONFERENCE

Educational Meeting in Greensboro Attended by Dr. H. W. Chase and Prof. N. W. Walker.

Dr. H. W. Chase and N. W. Walker returned to the "Hill" Monday from a conference of college presidents, faculty representatives and members of the state department of education held in the O. Henry hotel at Greensboro. This is an organization only one year old but it is doing some very live work. Nineteen representatives from state colleges were present and several members from the state department of education, including Dr. E. C. Brooks.

The most important things discussed pertained to define just what an accredited college is. Several changes were recommended. Also scholarships, entrance certificates, student government, and a means of educating the high school pupil as to the advantages a college course offers were taken up at great length.

The defining of just what an accredited college is took up most of the time, but finally the following conclusions were reached: (1) the completion of a four-year high school course should be required for college admission; (2) a college for graduation should require the completion of 120 semester hours; (3) the faculty should consist of eight heads of departments for every 100 students; (4) a college should not carry on a preparatory department in connection with the college organization.

Student government was discussed at some length. Several presidents gave an account of the systems practiced in their institution, and others spoke against this system of government.

Dr. Raymond Biford, president of Guilford college, is president of this conference, and H. W. Walker, of the University, is secretary.

Examinations Said to Prevent Daily Practice, and Men Are Getting Into Shape

BATTERY MEN LOOK GOOD

Shirley Back in Old Position, and Other Men on Infield Make Up Nice Machine.

The baseball varsity is working out daily on Emerson field in spite of examinations, and from all appearances are being rapidly whipped into shape for the first game with Furman on March 1, just two weeks off.

The battery men are looking exceptionally good. Wilson, Bryson, Captain Llewellyn, and the others are working out daily with Morris and the other catchers, while the infield is getting in its first workout on the diamond.

With Shirley on first, his old position, and Johnson on shortstop, McDonald not being out yet, the infield has been displaying some snappy practice during the past few days, with hundreds of students looking on.

Coach Fetzer says about as little as usual about his prospects, but his general appearance would indicate that he is more than pleased with the initial workouts of his crew. The coach is more at home on the baseball field than anywhere else, and is thoroughly enjoying the batting practice.

Speaking of batting practice, it would not be amiss to remark that the whole team is simply polling the cover off the ball. Long hard hits to the outfield are the order of the day, and every man that steps up to the plate is hitting them hard and far. If the team hits in games like it is hitting now, the rest of the college clubs in the state might as well start getting ready to get beat.

INTERESTING PAPERS READ TO NORTH CAROLINA CLUB

Wilson and Bailey Present "The Landless and the Church," and "Cooperative Marketing."

Two unusually interesting papers were presented at the regular bi-weekly meeting of the North Carolina club in Phillips Hall Monday night. The first of these was by L. G. Wilson on "The Landless and the Church," which was followed by a paper by J. O. Bailey on "Cooperative Marketing."

Mr. Wilson's paper called attention to a new problem and duty of the country church which has been almost entirely overlooked in the past. He showed how farm tenancy and illiteracy are threatening to destroy the country church and that the country church must destroy these twin-born social evils or be destroyed itself. Mr. Wilson used some North Carolina statistics to show that right here at home tenancy, illiteracy, and the city-ward drift are fast overcoming the rural church, and he urged education by the church and church consolidation as a measure to counteract the present trend and solve the problem.

The discussion of Mr. Bailey showed the great possibilities of cooperative marketing in overcoming farm tenancy. Cooperative marketing is already a reality in this state, according to Mr. Bailey, and its success has already been proven. Under this plan he showed how farmers are protected from a flooded market, sudden drops in prices, speculators' practices, and the middleman's profit. In Denmark cooperative marketing has brought about a country of independent, satisfied farmers, and in this country the rapidly organizing movement and the success of those already established show that the same can be done in this state and nation.

Dr. Isaac Manning, dean of the School of Medicine, returned last week from Chicago where he was in the meeting of all deans of medical schools in the country. Dr. Manning while in Chicago was the guest at a number of social affairs as well as attending the meetings of the association.
