

McNAIR LECTURES DELIVERED BY DR. CHARLES DINSMORE PLEASES LARGE AUDIENCE THREE NIGHTS

Science-Religion Argument in Foreground at This Time Speeches Were Timely

HE CAN SEE NO CONFLICT

Yale Divinity School Speaker Makes Powerful Plea for Realization of Harmony That Exists.

The McNair lectures on Religious Certitudes in an Age of Science, delivered by Dr. Charles Allen Dinsmore of the Yale Divinity school, drew large and enthusiastic audiences to Gerrard Hall last Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. The recent speeches of William Jennings Bryan on Darwinism and the narrow margin by which the Kentucky legislature defeated the bill prohibiting the teaching of evolution in state schools and colleges has brought the science-religion argument to the foreground and the lectures this year aroused much greater interest than usual.

Dr. Dinsmore has more in common with Darwin than with Bryan. He accepts as true all that science has discovered about the evolution of man, but denies that the acceptance of these truths implies any surrender of religious faith or "certitude," as he prefers to call it. "Man is incurably religious," says Dr. Dinsmore, "and that in itself is evidence of a moral and spiritual order to satisfy this inward craving."

The first of the series delivered Friday night dealt with "The Influence of Science upon Religious Thought." Dr. Dinsmore laid the foundation for his argument by accepting in toto the Darwinism theory and the modern scientific structure based upon it. This idea, he said, does not conflict with religion, because the two fields of thought are not identical. He compared life to a house in which science occupies the lower floor and keeps the house in order, while religion dwells on the upper floor and supplies the home atmosphere, sweetness and faith.

Saturday night, the subject of the lecture was "The Nature and Truth of Religion." He showed how the religious impulse was innate in the most primitive races, how there have always been certain aspirations, desires and intuitions beyond the pale of science and which can only be satisfied by a religious attitude.

"There are two moral and emotional claims which science cannot satisfy in man," said Dr. Dinsmore. "They are: A keen sense of dependence on a great unseen power from which he came, and a feeling of admiration for something higher and nobler than himself. Both are expressions of the supreme reality out of which we came, and which our faith calls God."

The subject of the Sunday night lecture was "Religious Certitudes and Beliefs." The question of religion and science, he maintained is not a question of knowledge on the one hand and faith on the other; but it is a question involving two different

(Continued on Page Four.)

KENTUCKY AND CAROLINA TO DEBATE HERE IN MAY

Dillingham Law to Be Discussed. Carolina to Have Negative, Kentucky, Affirmative.

The debate council has arranged for a debate with the University of Kentucky, to be held in Gerrard Hall on the night of May 13. The query to be debated is: "Resolved, That the present Dillingham law should be retained as a permanent measure, namely that 3 per cent. of each nationality that was in this country in 1910 be the only annual quota of immigrants allowed from that country, constitutionality granted."

The affirmative side will be upheld by Kentucky and the negative by Carolina. The preliminary to select two men to represent the University will be held in the Phi hall on the night of April 12. Eligibility for the debate is limited to members of the two literary societies whose dues are paid up at the time of the preliminary.

The Kentucky debate will be the last inter-collegiate debate of the year. Next spring, representatives from Carolina will return the visit of the Kentuckians and the debate will be held in Lexington.

TWO FRATERNITY DANCES ON HILL THE WEEK-END

Two dances provided social entertainment for the campus during the week end, and coming after the winter term examinations, were especially enjoyable and appreciated. The Alpha Tau Omega fraternity gave a dance Friday night in the chapter house and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity entertained Saturday night with a dance in their handsome new quarters on the future fraternity row.

Both dances were formal, with the Tar Baby Five, the newly reorganized student orchestra, rendering the music. A large number of girls from many of the near by towns spent the week-end on the hill and were guests of the fraternities at the two dances. Most of the girls arrived Friday afternoon, and left Chapel Hill Sunday.

The A. T. O. house was attractively decorated for the first dances, and besides members of the other fraternities, visiting girls and local girls, there were present a number of other students on the campus, and a large number of former members of the chapter. Among the alumnae members of the fraternity on the Hill for the dance were William Poindexter and Phil Booe of Winston-Salem, Sidney Pruden, of Greensboro, John Underwood, of Fayetteville and others.

The new brick home of the S. A. E.'s was the scene of the second night dance. This was really a housewarming to the other fraternities given by the Sigma Alpha Epsilon and the new chapter hall was the subject of much praise and admiration. The two big living rooms were used for the dance, and the orchestra played in the hall between.

Among the visiting young ladies were Misses Billie Brant, Jessie Meyers, of Greensboro, Louise Cooke of Greensboro, Julia Mae Sutherland of Goldsboro, Dorothy Mendenhall of Lexington, Mildred Barnes of Wilson, Elizabeth White, Katherine Arthur of Greenville, Julia Carver, Morna Wilkerson, Cecile Noellis, Ruth Early of Durham, Rosebud Underwood, Hannah Lily, Lura Kyle Underwood of Fayetteville, Landrum Norris, Anne Virginia Ward.

Bonner of Raleigh, Katherine Allen of Kinston, Florence Penick, Curtis Henderson, Dorothy Russell, Frances Venable, Lula Martin McKiver, of Chapel Hill.

PLAYMAKERS WILL MAKE ANOTHER STATEWIDE TOUR

Ten Day Trip to Include Six Towns Which Have Not Been Visited Heretofore.

The Carolina Playmakers will start on their third state tour on May 1st. They will go into the western part of the state this time and will be gone for ten days, will return to Chapel Hill and give a home performance on May 12th, which performance will be followed by the Satyr Carnival in Swain Hall.

Three towns which have been visited by the Playmakers before will be included on this trip. They are Greensboro, Charlotte and Durham.

Six new towns also appear on the list for performances, Burlington, Salisbury, Hendersonville, Asheville, Winston-Salem and High Point.

The Playmakers will be able to appear only at these places because of the time limit for their trip, although many demands from various other towns have been received. It will be the longest tour ever undertaken by the organization.

They will spend the only Sunday of the time in which they are away at Asheville and expect to find the western North Carolina towns to their liking.

The plays to be used on the tour have not, as yet, been selected, but will be within a very short time and some announcement will be made in connection with the program to be presented.

SATYR CARNIVAL WILL BE STAGED ON MAY 12 GORGEOUS COSTUMES

Satyr's Will Also "Spot" New Men at Annual Affair—Campus and Town Await Event.

COMES IN BIG WEEK-END

Promising excellent music, brilliant dances, gorgeous masquerade costumes, and unique "spottings" of new Satyrs, the Satyr Carnival is coming. It comes in the very late evening of May 12th, in a week-end filled with attractive amusements for Chapel Hill, but this "regular midnight cabaret affair" bids well to excel them all.

Following two successful years of fun-making and joy in its previous appearance the campus and town awaits its coming with interest and pleasure. It will start soon after the Carolina Playmaker performance of the western state tour program at the Play House, and the Playmaker performance follows the N. C. State-Carolina baseball game here that afternoon.

Many out-of-town girls are expected for the Carnival because of its own significance, but also because of the big game and the dance to be given by the Order of "13" the following night. Only persons in masquerade costume will be allowed on the dance floor between the eight members which are to appear on the program. This program will consist of several brilliant dances given by Dr. Richard Crozier and Miss Dalores Crozier, a dance by Wood Williams and partner, an appearance of the University gym team, and various other attractions. Dancing will take place between these acts.

The dances are to be led by Bailey Leipfert, assisted by LeGrande Everett and George Denny.

Prizes are to be offered for the most original and most handsome costume. The Satyrs have a committee through which costumes for the affair may be secured. Serving on this committee are Dougald MacMillan, Hubert Heffner and G. V. Denny. Further announcements regarding prizes will be made later.

The new Satyrs will be selected from men who have excelled in acting in dramatic productions. They are "Spotted" each year at the carnivals and this selecting of new men is one of the most attractive parts of the program.

A complete program will be published soon and those who have seen the dancing of the Croziers for the past two years will be pleased to see that they appear again for several dances. An out-of-town orchestra will furnish music, if the present plans for the affair are not changed.

University Will Entertain High School Contestants Next Week

"High School Week" Under Supervision of University Extension Bureau, To Be Featured by Debates, Track Meets, and Tennis Tournament—Finals Friday, April 7.

Next week is "High School Week" at the University. State championship track meets, tennis tournaments, and debates all come off at once, with the finals for everything coming on Friday, April 7, the cups and medals being presented after the final debate in Memorial Hall that night.

These contests are conducted under the general auspices of the bureau of extension of the University which has recently issued a bulletin announcing the athletic contests for North Carolina high schools, a bulletin announcing the debate with material for it having been issued last fall. The bulletins give rules for: Seventh annual inter-scholastic tennis tournament, tenth annual inter-scholastic track meet, tenth annual triangular high school debate and ninth annual championship in baseball.

Secretary E. R. Rankin of the extension bureau states that he expects approximately five hundred visitors on the Hill for the week-end and requests that the county clubs make arrangements for the entertainment of as many of their home people as possible.

The Debate
The query for the triangular debate is, "Resolved, That the United States should enter the league of nations." The preliminaries for this debate were held last Friday night throughout the state from the moun-

REGISTRAR MAY RULE OFF TRACK CANDIDATES WHEN GRADES APPEAR

Squad in Fine Shape, However For First Meet With N. C. State Next Saturday.

MORE INTEREST IS SHOWN

How many men Registrar Tommy J. Wilson will rule off the track team before the N. C. State meet to be held in Raleigh next Saturday and how this grand slam which he is expected to make will affect the chances of the team, is being talked very much in track circles. No definite dope on who the unlucky ones are has been obtained yet, but rumor has it that some of the best men out will be on the black list.

During the past week Coach Bob has been holding his men to a steady grind, which was relieved somewhat, however, by the varsity trials which were held on Saturday afternoon. The team as a whole showed unusually good form, and a startling ability to run and hurdle. The practice which they have had, since the indoor meet in Durham, on the cinder track has pounded them out into fine form, and unless their numbers are decreased by inraids from the registrar's office their chances to win are good.

The loss of P. J. Ranson, half mile, star mile, and two mile man, has affected the chances of the team somewhat, since he was expected to compete well in the long run against Blakeney, but close followers of track say that his brother, Dale, will fill the gap and if he can't that the relay men will do more. If more "Rattys" continue to come in the future there will be nothing to worry about in the long distance events.

The men out for the freshman team are showing promise, and it is believed that they will furnish good material for next year's varsity. Fetzer is trying to get more men out for this team, and is succeeding admirably to a certain extent. In order to further the interest, especially in freshman track, he is putting a day aside each week for the next six weeks on which there will be a kind of a class meet, only a few events being participated in, however.

It is not likely that the freshman squad will turn out like their class basketball team and never have any opposition, since negotiations are already underway for a meet with Asheville school, which according to report is meeting with much favor there. Arrangements are also trying to be made for a few freshmen events in the N. C. State meet, and if these cannot be obtained, a class meet will be arranged with them.

(Continued on Page Four.)

BASEBALL SEASON OPENS FRIDAY WITH TAR HEELS FACING FURMAN IN FINE SHAPE ON EMERSON FIELD

TOO LARGE FROSH SQUAD FOR BERTH SPECULATION

Coxe Has Plenty of Men on First Year Squad and Will Cut it Down

Coach Frank Coxe has an abundance of men trying out for the various positions on his freshman team. He has more material than he really needs and will probably cut down the squad Friday or Saturday.

The best looking thing about the freshman team is its pitchers. Coxe has several good men out. All these men appeared against the varsity several days ago, and in the opinion of most of the Varsity men the team is strong in pitchers.

There are too many men trying out for the various positions and Coxe is shifting the men too much for any speculation being indulged in as to who will get the various positions. The squad has been increasing in size daily on account of examinations being over, and it is practically impossible to get a line on the men who are looking the best.

Several good catchers have shown up and a number of good outfielders. The infield, however, has been looking rather weak until a few days ago when one combination got together for a pretty workout. There is an abundance of good material for the infield, but the large number keeps away any tendency to speculate on the different men.

Within the next week Coach Coxe intends to cut down the squad several times and as soon as that is done he will be able to say who is likely to be in the lineup for the first game the reserves play.

Single Standard of Purity

The Y. W. C. A. of the Mississippi State College for Women in an Open Forum voted unanimously to adopt a single standard of purity for the sexes and to recommend that the student body of M. S. C. W. adopt the single standard and make public the step taken. This recommendation was brought before the student body Tuesday, voted upon and passed almost unanimously.

—M. S. C. W. Spectator

STUDENT'S MIND NEVER CHANGES—ALWAYS SAME

Proved by Interesting Letter of One John Hawkins to Father, Written Feb. 22, 1841.

President Chase gave ample proof in chapel Friday morning that the mind of the college student remains unchanged from one generation to another, when he read the tattered letter of John D. Hawkins who wrote the letter to his father, when a student in the University 81 years ago. After President Chase read the letter, the students burst out in laughter realizing that the tenor of the letters written home in this generation is practically the same as that of the letters written a century ago. The letter which was presented to the library by the courtesy of A. B. Andrews, of Raleigh, follows:

Chapel Hill, Febr. the 22nd, 1841.

Dear Papa,

Your letter was received in due time, and I was glad to learn they were all well. We would be glad if you would send us fifty dollars in 2 or three weeks, for we have paid out nearly all we brought with us. It is not absolutely necessary that we should have it at this time; but think it more convenient for you to send it, as it may be wanted. Dr. Dromgoole has declined the appointment of the Society, after once accepting it, to deliver the Alumni oration, owing to ill health. Another has been chosen in his stead, but have not been heard from. There is nothing new at this place; order and decorum prevades. Phil joins me in love to you all. I remain your affectionate Son.

(Signed) Jno. D. Hawkins, Jr. To Jno. D. Hawkins, Esqur.

The 1922 Season To Be Ushered in With Fetzer's Men All Prepared.

LINE-UP NOT YET KNOWN

Infield Composed of Shirley, McLean, McDonald and Fred Morris in All Probability.

The Carolina baseball season will open with a bang here Friday afternoon when the Varsity meets Furman University, of South Carolina, on Emerson field.

Coach Bill Fetzer has worked out several combinations on Emerson field during the past two or three weeks. He has used men all over the infield and outfield, shifting them at will and watching them closely all the time. As usual he has nothing to say about what will be the lineup for Friday's game, and nobody knows just who will be in the lineup for the afternoon's entertainment. It is pretty certain, however, that Jack Sparrow will have the peanut boys there with a few of Pickwick brand.

Another thing that is practically certain is that Llewellyn, Wilson or Bryson will pitch the opener. Shirley will very likely play first base, McLean second, Morris third, and McDonald shortstop. There the certainty ends, unless it is that Sweetman will be in the center garden. Al Johnson and Red Johnson have been cavorting around in the buttercups and dandelions for the past week, and they will likely be in the outfield with Sweetman. Al isn't hitting much, but as soon as he finds out what kind of bat he should use, he will very likely begin to slam them out with more certainty. Red swings a big red bat that looks like a telephone post and weighs like a lead pipe, and when he connects, which is quite often, the poor old ball goes for a long trip.

Casey Morris looks exceptionally well behind the bat, but it must be admitted that a certain man named Bonner, of last year's freshman crew, is one of the best looking receivers on the diamond. He is developing into a wonderful catcher, and is basking in the smile of Bill Fetzer, who casts fond glances his way very, yea, very often. McGee hasn't been catching quite as much as the other two, but the coach also looks his approval at the slightly auburn haired young man. The coach hasn't said much to any of the three, but none of the three expects him to.

Havener looks good for a berth on the team somewhere, although he missed several in the infield the other day. Havener is one of the prettiest outfielders on Emerson field, but he is a little weak with the bat. Sweetman is taking his usual quota of hits and looks as good as he did last year in the field. He is one of the most dependable hitters and fielders on the team, and practically has his pace cinched.

There are a number of other men showing up well in practice, and several

(Continued on Page Four.)

PRELIMS FOR TRIANGULAR DEBATE ARE HELD FRIDAY

Two Hundred and Fifty High Schools Took Part in Preliminary Debates for Aycock Cup.

Two hundred and fifty high schools took part in the preliminary triangular debates throughout the state Friday night in the first round of the contest for the Aycock Memorial cup. The winners of the preliminaries will come here in connection with the high school track meet and tennis tournament, April 6 and 7th, and the final debate will take place in Memorial hall April 7.

Durham high, the winner of last year's debate, came through the preliminaries successfully, and if they win the final debate this year they will have permanent possession of the Aycock cup.

E. R. Rankin of the extension division announced the following winners of the preliminaries which is only a partial list: Granite Falls, Laurinburg, St. Paul, Lexington, Statesville, Mount Olive, King's Mountain, Bunn, Franklin, Spring Hill, Norlina, Manteo, South Mills, Warrenton, Pleasant Garden, and Jamestown.