JOURNALISM PRIZES WILL BE AWARDED WITHIN TWO WEEKS

Preston Memorial Cup, and Burdick Memorial Prize to Be Given for Excellence in Journalism.

RULES ARE MADE KNOWN

Within the next two weeks the winners of two prizes for achievement in journalism will be selected from among the students of the University. The Preston Memorial cup, given by E. R. Preston in honor of his brother, Ben Smith Preston, is awarded annually to the undergraduate student who, during the college year does "the best work of a journalistic nature." The Burdick Memorial prize of $20 in cash, given by Julia W. Burdick in memory of her son Edmund, of the class of 1920, who gave great promise of a successful journalistic career by his active work on campus publications, is awarded to the Tar Heel reporter who has shown, for two terms, the most zeal and the highest degree of accuracy in the service of the paper.

For the Preston cup, material may be submitted in typewritten form, or the candidate for the prize may submit clippings of anything that he has had in print since last September. Any undergraduate is eligible to compete. The rules of the contest are laid down as follows:

The student must submit material in each of the following three divisions: one entry for each of the first two divisions, A and B, and either one, two or three entries for the third division, C. The judges will give a weight of 40 points each to A and B and 20 points to C.

A. (1) Feature story, minimum 1,000 words, or (2) news story, minimum 500 words.

B. (1) Editorial, minimum 300 words, or (2) book review, minimum 300 words.

C. (1) Verse or (2) sketches, descriptive or narrative. No single entry to be more than 400 words.

All material must be sent by mail to Louis Graves, professor of journalism, before May 1. The sender should enclose a self-addressed return post-card upon which acknowledgment of receipt may be made.

The formal statement of conditions contains a note to the effect that, while material prepared especially for the contest will have due weight, the principal object is recognition of work over an extended period of time and preference will be shown to the exhibit which is the natural development of the year's work.

Each year the name of the winner is engraved upon the cup. It becomes the property of the student who wins it three times in succession.

The Burdick prize goes to a student who has served on the reportorial staff of The Tar Heel for at least two consecutive terms during the college year. The editor-in-chief of The Tar Heel and the professor of journalism make the award; in the event of their not being able to agree the chairman of the English department must decide. "Reportorial staff" shall be construed to include only those serving in appointive positions, not any person elected to office by student vote.

KENTUCKY FEUD ENDS IN DEATH OF FOUR

Jackson, Ky., April 7.—Thirteen men charged with murder in connection with the killing of four men in Clayhole precinct of Breathitt county on election day last November, are expected to go on trial in the Breathitt circuit court tomorrow. Juries from other counties in the district over which Circuit Judge Sam Hurst presides, may be called to hear the cases.

The Clayhole precinct shooting occurred early in the morning of election day. It grew out of a bitter political fight, Breathitt county being one of the few mountain counties in which the Democratic party has a majority, at least part of the time. The margin between the Republican and Democratic parties is very close.

On the last election day there was no balloting in this precinct which normally is heavily Democratic. The ballot box was thrown into a stream and most of the election officials killed or wounded.

Reports differ as to who fired the first shots in the melee and as to the exact cause.

NOTED ACTOR MAY VISIT UNIVERSITY NEXT MONTH

Sidney Blackmer, Former University Man, Will Return and Speak Interest Carolina Playmakers

Sidney Blackmer, only a few days ago a student in this University, but who has recently starred in "Not So Long Ago," and who is now starring in "The Mountain Man" on Broadway is expected to visit Chapel Hill some time in May according to a letter received several days ago by Prof. Koch, director of the Carolina playmakers.

He seems extremely anxious to see what Carolina's dramatic organization is doing, and it is for this reason, and to give a reading of "The Mountain Man" that is coming. This play was written by a North Carolinian about North Carolina people.

Prof. Koch is trying to make arrangements for Mr. Blackmer to be in Chapel Hill on May 12th when the Playmakers will give their western tour program at the Play House.

Magazine Contest Announcement

The selection of the associate editors of the Magazine for next year will be on a competitive basis. Any one interested in getting a place on the board should be guided by the following rules of the contest:

1. There must be submitted at least two articles, or stories, or sketches, etc. The kind wanted can be judged by going over the files of this year's Magazine.

2. There should also be submitted any and all ideas of any worth in criticism of this year's Magazine and ideas for the improvement of it next year.

3. The material to be submitted must be in by the following dates:

April 25—First article, etc.
May 2—Second article, etc.
May 3—Third article, etc.

Any student in the University is eligible for this contest. All material should be handed in before or on the dates stated above to George W. McCoy, 2 Old East Building, or mail to Post Office Box 2028.

Two Tennis Courts Will Be Completed Early Next Week

Work has been going on rapidly on the tennis courts, and two of them probably will be ready for use by the early part of next week. The ones completed are those located near Mary Ann Smith. However, they will require several rollings before they will be firmly enough packed.

There has been work going on daily on the other courts but they will not be ready for use in quite a while. Excavation and elevating work has not been completed on

DECLARE CLOTHES DO NOT MAKE UP CULTURE

Dr. Bernard, With Deep Feeling, Defines Culture as Something Else. Opportunities Are Here.

"Out of the heart of a man proceed the things that defile him, and not the clothes that he wears on his back," said Dr. Bernard in chapel Monday morning. With much spirit and deep feeling, the popular Greek professor denied that the University was lacking in the opportunities for securing culture.

"That assumption is all wrong," said Dr. Bernard. There is more opportunity here for culture today than ever before. We get culture from two sources: First, by bucking up against our next-door neighbors; second, from the great world of recorded thought and imaginary characters. To these must be added the great American principle of work. If you've got thought in your mind, you've got culture and you can face any dress-suit in the world."

Dr. Bernard illustrated his point by referring to University alumni who had been among the "great unwashed" while on the campus and who are today thought of as the most cultured and refined men of the state. In this connection he mentioned the fact that Christ Himself was counted to be among the "great unwashed" of his day.

Two Long Hits Turned Into Runs Spells Defeat For Wake Forest

Triples by McLean and Wilson Followed by Sacrifices by F. Morris and Johnston Gives Carolina 2 to 0 Victory in Hard Fought Pitchers' Battle.

McLean's triple in the first inning, followed by Fred Morris' long sacrifice fly, and Wilson's triple in the second, followed by a bunt from Red Johnson spelled two runs and victory for Carolina while Llewellyn was holding Wake Forest to five hits and no runs, in the game on Emerson field Wednesday.

The two long hits and the two sacrifices that turned them into runs were about all the game with the exception of the pitching of Llewellyn and Johnson. Both pitchers had all kinds of stuff and used it to advantage. Johnson, for Wake Forest, tightened up as the game progressed and outside the two triples, a clean single by McDonald constituted the entire output on the part of the Baptist twirler.

DENY TAR BABY CONNECTION.

To the Editor of The Tar Heel: This is to announce to the public at large that there is no official connection between the undersigned and the so-called "Carolina Tar Baby."

Our names appeared on the editorial of the issue now appearing entirely at the instance of Editor R. L. Gray, Jr., and without our knowledge or consent.

Since the said Editor has seen fit to make a public statement that would appear to absolve himself of all blame, for the offenses and discrepancies of the issue, and with the obvious intent of shifting the blame to other shoulders, we hereby deny any official connection with the publication whatsoever.

TRINITY TRACK MEET IS TO COME OFF TOMORROW

Fetzer's Men in Good Shape for Dual Meet—Promises to Be Close Struggle for Victory.

With an excellent outlook for victory, Carolina will take on Trinity in her first dual track meet here tomorrow. Since the varsity trials last Saturday, Fetzer has had his men hard at work, and every man is in good shape for the Olympic contest tomorrow.

Abernethy has been making excellent shots with his javelin practice, and if he runs true to form ought to take the event. Norris, who won first place in the shot put in the state meet last year, has been working hard, and promises to take this event.

This is the first of a series of dual meets which will be run during the coming month. State College is to be taken on the 26th. Plans for a meet between Carolina and Virginia are being held under consideration and if a date can be arranged they will probably be taken on. The team goes to Columbia on the 13th to compete in a triangular meet with South Carolina and Georgia.

From reports published in the Durham Herald the Trinity team of this year is not as good as that of last year. Fetzer, however, is expecting the affair to be close and hard fought throughout.

It is thought that the two teams will break about even in the running events. If this is the case the Carolina squad is practically assured of victory, since the field events men are probably the strongest out, since the loss of Ranson and Harden. The running events were weakened considerably by this loss.

Men have been prepared to take their places and are expected to perform creditably. That Freeman and Dale Ranson will compete in the mile seems to be the consensus of campus opinion, and that Ambler and Murchison will enter the 880, while Woodard and Sinclair will take on the 100, Woodard also competing in the high jump. L. H. Moore may come in for the dashes.

Jack Sparrow Is Now In Automobile Business.

Jack Sparrow, formerly owner of the Carolina Goody Shop, but who sold out that business some time ago, has taken up a new field and has purchased the garage formerly occupied by Mr. Bud Temple. He has the agency for the Dodge automobile in this territory. Mr. Sparrow has already sold a good number of these cars in this community.

START OFF EASY

The Baptists started off easy, going out three up and three down in the first inning. McDonald was out to the infield but McLean connected for a long triple to center field, Morris brought him in with a long fly to center. In the second inning Wilson poled out a long triple to left field, the ball almost going over the hedge for a homer. Red Johnston brought him home with a nicely placed bunt.

Wake Forest seriously threatened several times, having men on second and third twice, much to the discomfort of the stands which were filled with Carolina supporters.

Several sensational plays were made during the game. Casey Morris took in a high foul fly over behind the Wake Forest bench in the seventh that looked almost impossible. He had previously retired one man in the same inning on a foul fly. Shirley looked more than good on first and McDonald fielded his position clean throughout the game, taking some hard chances with his customary ease. The entire infield worked like a clock and the outfield, when given a chance performed creditably.

The only disappointed thing about the game was the fact it was a pitchers' battle when most of the fans had been primed for a slug-gling match. Wake Forest looks good, several of their men playing like big leaguers. The center fielder, Poole, robbed Shirley of what looked like a sure three-base hit. He played an unusually good game throughout, securing two hits for Wake Forest, stealing a base, and coming as near scoring as any man on the team did, which was third base. Stringfield at short, also look-

Bob Gray Leaves University On News and Observer Staff

R. L. Gray, Jr., one of the real campus personalities for the past three years, has left the University to accept a position with The News and Observer. Mr. Gray began work on the Raleigh paper Monday.

While in college Mr. Gray was a member of The Tar Heel board for two years, and has written considerably for the Carolina magazine and The Tar Baby. He is a talented young writer, and bids fair to make good in the literary world.

LITERARY SOCIETY WORK PRESENTED BY UMSTEAD

Durham Lawyer Views Society Training as One of the Important Phases of College Training.

The opportunities of literary society work were eloquently presented by William B. Umstead in chapel Tuesday morning. Mr. Umstead, at present practicing law in Durham, graduated from the University in 1916 with a good record for debating and oratory.

"The committee could have found dozens of men more able to make a speech in behalf of the literary societies than I," said Mr. Umstead, "but I doubt very much if they could have found one more interested in the subject. In view of my six years of experience outside of the University, I look back upon my literary society training as one of the most important phases of my college training."

Mr. Umstead told of hearing dozens of young professional men bemoan the fact that they failed to take advantage of literary society work while in college. He emphasized the importance of being able to express one's thoughts before others in a clear, convincing manner, declaring that public speaking was becoming more and more essential, even in the most technical professions.

A membership canvass by committees of the Di and Phi societies was inaugurated Tuesday night.

FRESHMEN MEET GATE CITY HIGHS TOMORROW

Second Game on First Year Reserve Schedule May See Changes in the Line-up.

The freshmen go into their second game of the season here tomorrow afternoon when they meet Greensboro high school on Emerson field.

Several changes have been made in the line-up since the Oak Ridge game and Coach Coxe feels that the team has been materially strengthened. The pitching staff has been working overtime getting into shape for the fray tomorrow, and while no choice has been made as to who will pitch, the freshmen are confident of having a good man in the box. The freshman team is wealthy with good pitchers.

The Greensboro game starts off the steady stream of games to be played by the freshmen this season. A well-arranged schedule is to be played off and Coach Coxe is confident of having a smooth working machine to turn over to Coach Bill Fetzer next year.

MUSICAL CONCERT GIVEN SUNDAY IN GERRARD HALL

Messrs. Hamilton, Wiegand and Vanlandingham, and Mrs. Hamilton to Appear on Program.

The sixth of the present series of musical concerts under the auspices of the University's department of music will be given in Gerrard hall Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Those who will appear on the program are Harry E. Vanlandingham, pianist; Thomas H. Hamilton, baritone; Carl Wiegand, violinist, and Mrs. T. H. Hamilton, accompanist.

The worth and charm of the last three are well known to music lovers in Chapel Hill. Mr. Vanlandingham, who is an instructor in the French department, has studied considerably in foreign countries. He will appear on the program in four different groups. They are, first, piano group; second, baritone group; third, violin group, and fourth, a group of baritone solos with violin obligatos.

Seven Rushers Are Shipped From Walls of Swain Hall

Seven men were "shipped" from Swain Hall by the management Monday evening for forcing their way into the dining room before time for the evening meal. It was the climax of a two or three months effort on the part of the hall to stop "pushing" the doors before proper time for meals.

Several weeks ago D. E. Scarborough manager, issued a written request in a polite form asking that the practice be stopped, but the plan was unsuccessful and a few days later he tried another scheme of changing the meal hours by five or ten minutes. This plan also failed to accomplish his purpose.

The most recent method on the part of the management was a brief notice giving warning to the men who insisted on entering the hall telling them that if the practice is not stopped all offenders will be asked to change boarding houses.

Band Reorganized To Play at the Ball Games

The University brass band has been reorganized and is practicing for the spring athletic events. It is being directed by Mr. Carl Wiegand who had charge of it last fall.

The band made its first appearance of the spring at the Carolina-Wake Forest baseball game Wednesday afternoon. The students were delighted to see it in action again and are glad to have a band for other games.

The Carolina-Virginia game in Greensboro will probably see a repetition of last year's event when the band added much to the game and the celebration of the victory afterwards.

U. S. PERSUADES CAPITAL BAKERS TO CUT BREAD PRICE

San Francisco, April 7.—Mary suit of protests from United States Attorney Peyton Gordon, local bakers abandoned plans for raising the price of bread a cent and a half a loaf and instead announced a cut of one-half a cent.

Intimations that the Sherman anti-trust law might be invoked caused the bakers to change their minds suddenly.

DEBATE FINALS WILL BE HELD TONIGHT AT 8:00—MEMORIAL HALL

High School Debaters Emerging From Preliminaries to Contest for Aycock Memorial Cup.

RECEPTION WILL FOLLOW

Tonight at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall the two winning high school teams in the triangular debating union will contest for the Aycock Memorial cup. The query for the debate this year is Resolved: That the United States should enter the League of Nations. Keen interest has been displayed during the preliminary debates and a large crowd is expected to greet the two teams.

The preliminaries for the high school debates which were held last night utilized every possible hall and auditorium on the campus, plus the high school auditorium. Fifty-six schools participated in these debates and from these 14 affirmative and negative teams were chosen to test their oratorical skill against each other in the semi-finals. The teams drew lots for the different halls at a meeting held at noon today in Peabody auditorium over which Mr. N. W. Walker presided. Mr. Walker unveiled the Aycock cup before the debaters saying "Here's your goal." The teams then drew for the different halls and thereby for their opposing team in the first debate for better or worse. The halls were presided over and judged as follows:

Section I.—Di Hall: President, H. D. Duls; secretary, Ludlow Rogers; judges, S. E. Leavitt, J. W. Lasley, A. S. Lawrence.

Section II.—Phi Hall: President, Dan Byrd; secretary, W. M. Saunders; judges, J. M. Booker, W. C. George, B. C. Brown.

Section III.—Gerrard Hall: President, F. G. Robinson; secretary, G. D. Goover; judges, W. T. Thrall, K. J. Brown, C. R. Edney.

Section IV.—Chemistry Hall: President, Martin Carmichael; secretary, F. D. Burroughs; judges, T. Saville, C. T. Murchison, C. M. Baker.

Section V.—Davis Hall: President, S. O. Bondurant; secretary, E. L. Banks; judges, L. A. Williams, A. W. Hobbs, F. O. Bowman.

Section VI.—Pharmacy Building: President, R. B. Eutsler; secretary, W. D. Madry; judges, D. D. Carroll, H. R. Totten, Walter Patten.

Section VII.—Medical Building: President, G. C. Hampton; secretary, R. R. Heffner; judges, W. J. Math-

ONE MORE FROSH JOINS ORDER OF CEDAR BIRDS

Ye Ancient Gag, Otherwise, One Catalog Exam, Takes in Innocent, Unsuspecting Hopeful

Cedar bird Freshman takes catalog exam" is the way a headline to this story should be written. Yeh, a loyal member of the class of '25 went down to Alumni Building two different evenings this week to get off his required examination on the University Catalog.

It came about like this: Saturday was April 1st to everyone, and it was particularly April 1st to this man, who received a card Saturday telling him to come to a certain room in Alumni Monday afternoon for the required work.

The poor Freshman went as the card from the "Registrar" told him to do. But no one was there to give him the questions, so he ambled his way into the English office to see if the learned professors could enlighten him. But the profs would not let a cedar bird cedar bird them so they told him they didn't know. Of course they didn't know. What professor ever knew anything?

"I thought somebody was trying to fool me," he told his roommates when he finally came back.

But the date on the card had been changed in his absence and he was to come Tuesday instead of Monday. The following afternoon the young gentleman sailed forth again and this time the "Registrar" had placed on the blackboard questions for the required examination. The Freshman answered them as best he could but he felt too disgusted with his own answers and the man who told it all for publication was not able to get the quiz book. Had he, it is believed many unknown things about the catalog could have been found.
