CARNIVAL IS SPARKLING SUCCESS FRIDAY NIGHT SIX NEW SATYRS PICKED

Thompson, McGee, Mobley, Winston, Haronian and Sidney Blackmer Spotted by Dramatic Order.

COSTUMES-FUN-FRIVOLITY

(By G. W. L.)

In a brilliant masquerade success the Dramatic Order of Satyrs "spotted" three new regular and three honorary members into their ranks at Swain Hall Friday evening during perhaps the most sparkling carnival of its kind ever seen in the state.

The big program for the night of fun and frolic carried eight numbers and everyone of them was a sensation with Miss Addie Brown's "Vision of Salome" and the dancing numbers of Wood Williams and Miss Mike Tucker drawing most applause. The Croziers also made distinct hits in their two appearances in "Espino" and "The Skaters."

Although not the most sensational, the most interesting feature of the program was "In the Court of Bacchus" in which the Satyrs appeared on the floor costumes as inhabitants of the infernal regions and selected their new members and brought them out for their distinguished service in the drama.

R. L. Thompson, Allan McGee, Warren Mobley, little George Winston, F. J. Haronian, and Sidney Blackmer were spotted, the last three named as honorary members of the Order.

The whole program with its regular numbers and its intervening dances in the large hall transformed into a dazzling cabaret was a success. Clown bumped his pretty little ballet dancer partner into bell hop or the guy as "Saturday Night Bath," knight swung fair lady of long ago 'round and 'round midst other as attractively costumed couples. The floor was a seething mass of sparkling costumes, rubes, French maids, officers in uniform representing practically every nation on the globe, flirting vamps behind masks, tramps, convicts, girlish clowns, clownish girls, girlish men, and menish girls.

They were all there, some in masks, some not, some in costumes, some in Tuxedos, some in full dress, and some bird came almost—but that had better be left out.

And they danced, those masqueraders, while outsiders came inside by window and back door and stood on tables and chairs and climbed this

BRYSON PITCHES A 9 TO 1 VICTORY OVER GENERALS

Revenge His Severe Drubbing From the Virginians in Early Part of Season.

Carolina made it two out of three with Washington and Lee on Emerson Field, Thursday afternoon, by overwhelmingly defeating them with a 9 to 1 score.

Bryson who was on the mound for Carolina pitched superb ball throughout the contest. All told he gave up three widely scattered hits to the Generals, getting sweet revenge for the defeat they handed him at Lexington.

Linberg, the General's twirler, after making a bad start in the first and second innings, settled down and worked out a good game until the Tar Heels opened up their big guns in the eighth, and drove him from the box after two men were down, and six runs were put across the platter. McCallum, the relief pitcher, then forced McDonald to hit a weak grounder to short for the third out. Shirley and Red Johnson had on their batting clothes. Shirley rapped out two singles and a double out of four times up, and Red secured two singles out of four appearances at the plate.

Carolina started the scoring in the first inning, when McDonald tripled, and scored when Fred Morris' next up, thrown out at first.

The Tar Heels pushed over two additional tallies in the second inning on three singles and a fielder's

ENGAGEMENT OF WARREN ANNOUNCED AT HILLSBORO

University Treasurer's Approaching Marriage in September Is Made Known at Village Social.

The announcement of the approaching wedding of J. A. Warren, treasurer and bursar of the University, to Miss Pattie Spurgeon, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Spurgeon of Hillsboro, was made at a lawn party held at the home of Mrs. J. P. Hassell of that village, last Saturday afternoon. The wedding is to come off in September.

Early last fall there was a wild rumor floating over the campus that Mr. Warren was to be married the following Christmas. This report came to the Tar Heel office and the managing editor assigned about six men to use all sorts of diplomacy in getting the facts of the case from him, but every time the question was broached by some ambitious news-gatherer, he held his tongue and his silence was thought to be conclusive proof of his guilt. However the rumor was traced back to its origin and its source lay in some boys teasing Mr. Warren about the surmised courtship between him and Mrs. Ledbetter at whose home he was then taking his meals.

Miss Spurgeon is an alumna of North Carolina College for Women and is now a teacher in the public schools of Durham. It is said that their marriage will be the culmination of an extended courtship and engagement.

Paulson Gets Sore When New Laundry Locker Is Broken Up

Laundry lockers are being built in the four dormitories—Old East, Old West, Carr and Smith buildings—which have not already laundry closets.

Although these lockers are being built only for the safeguarding of the students' clothes, and although the cost of construction comes from the laundry fees of the students, certain valiant souls thought it necessary Friday night to celebrate the victory of the afternoon by overturning and breaking up the partly completed locker in Smith building.

Mr. Paulson delivered his ultimatum Saturday, saying that the next locker to be broken, would mean the end of all laundry service in the building. The broken locker would be removed, and each student in the building would be obliged to carry his laundry to and from the laundry plant.

The manager of the laundry added that he did not mean this as hot air.

Horse-Shoe Pitching Again Comes Into Popular Favor

Horse-shoe pitching has again come into its own as a Carolina sport. Since the Olympic games held last week in Durham in which this ancient sport was such an added attraction it has been gaining popularity on the campus. Even before this time members of the Zeta Psi Fraternity found that ringing the stob gave pleasure and passed many happy hours handling the lucky horse-shoe. The Tar Heel Tavern team is rapidly improving their form and soon will be able to challenge Old West building's aggregation with a fair chance at winning.

E. C. Hunt is the champion and will meet all comers. He shows evidence of having considerable practice at stable golf before.

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP NAILED BY CAROLINA AFTER TIGHT BATTLE

Llewellyn in Last Mound Appearance Bests Curtis in Pitching Duel. Fielding the Feature.

STATE HELD TO FIVE HITS

Hartsell's State College warriors went down in defeat before Bill Fetzer's aggregation on Emerson Field Friday afternoon by a score of 4 to 1. By this victory Carolina completely removed the doubts as to who will be state champions in baseball. The game developed into a splendid pitching duel between Llewellyn and Curtis. Each pitcher allowed five hits, and both were a trifle wild at times. Brilliant fielding held down the score. It was Llewellyn's last appearance on the mound for Carolina, and it was a fitting climax for his wonderful record of 11 straight wins this season.

Carolina drew first blood in the first on two walks and F. Morris' single. Three singles, a base on balls and a sacrifice fly accounted for two more in the sixth. Carolina's final marker was annexed in the eighth on an infield hit, an error and a sacrifice.

State threatened a number of times; their only run was a score in the ninth on two hits and an error.

Both outfields furnished the fielding features of the afternoon. Norwood and Johnston, of State, robbed the Carolina batters of a number of hits. For the Tar Heels, Lefty Wilson raced back and pulled one down close to the hedge, and Bonner threw out two men at the plate who attempted to score from second on singles.

Lassiter, of State, was the batting hero, securing three of State's five hits. F. Morris, of Carolina hit two singles out of his four appearances at the plate.

Box score and summary:

Table with 5 columns: N. C. State, AB, R, H, PO, A, E. Rows include Ruth, Norwood, Johnson, Redfern, Holland, Lassiter, Curtis, Blue, Parsons, Floyd, and Totals.

UNIVERSITY TENNIS TEAM VICTORS IN CLOSE MATCH

Defeats Davidson in Doubles and Singles—Leave Next Week on Northern Trip.

The Carolina racquetters wound up their southern trip, which was probably the most successful ever undertaken by a Tar Heel tennis team, with a 6 to 0 victory over the Presbyterians at Davidson Thursday.

The most interesting feature of the tournament was the singles match between Tench Coxe (Carolina) and Bradley (Davidson). Although his opponent won the first set rather easily, Coxe made a brilliant come-back and set such a rapid pace that Bradley was completely baffled by his terrific offense, Coxe winning 1-6, 6-4, 10-8.

In the other singles events Bardin (Carolina) defeated Wilkerson (Davidson) 6-2, 6-1; F. Coxe (Carolina) won from Cunningham (Davidson) 6-2, 7-5; Johnston (Carolina) defeated Ormond (Davidson) 6-3, 6-3; and Bruton (Carolina) defeated Morris (Davidson) 3-6, 7-5, 6-2. In the doubles matches, Bradley and Ormond (Davidson) defeated Tench Coxe and F. Coxe (Carolina) 6-4, 6-3; Bardin and Bruton (Carolina) won from Cunningham and Wilkerson (Davidson) 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

By winning from Davidson, the Tar Heel racquet wielders left the tennis sheet of the season unsmear-ed by defeat, having previously triumphed over Georgia Tech, 5 to 1; Oglethorpe U., 6 to 0, and Wofford

MANGUM RESIGNATION COMES AS SEQUEL TO ATHLETIC CONTROVERSY

Chairman of Faculty Committee Takes Step Because He Feels Unable to Secure Support.

A. W. HOBBS TAKES PLACE

The resignation of Dr. Charles S. Mangum as chairman of the faculty committee on athletics was announced last week. Dr. Mangum submitted his resignation to President Chase a few days after the action of the committee in rescinding the rule concerning summer baseball. Allen W. Hobbs, associate professor of applied mathematics, has been chosen to succeed Dr. Mangum.

It is generally understood that Dr. Mangum's resignation was hastened by the outcome of the recent controversy, although he has been considering such action for some time past.

"I don't want the boys to think that I got mad and quit," said Dr. Mangum Saturday when asked for a statement concerning his action. "I simply found myself in the minority and unable to secure the support of a majority of the students, alumni or faculty. I was perfectly conscientious in my stand on the recent ruling, but since I could not get the support necessary to put it across I decided it would be best for me to withdraw and let someone take charge who could get that support. I still think that I'm right about it."

President Chase's report on Dr. Mangum's resignation is as follows: "It is with deep regret that I announce the resignation of Dr. Chas. S. Mangum as chairman of the Faculty Committee on Athletics. Dr. Mangum has felt for some time that the time was at hand when he might well lay down the burden of the work, and now that the Southern Intercollegiate Conference has been formed, and the faculty's attitude toward the conference has been made clear, it seemed to him that the time had come when he might properly carry out his plan by resigning the chairmanship."

"I have asked Allan W. Hobbs, Associate Professor of Applied Mathematics, to take over the chairmanship, and he has accepted. Dr. Hobbs is himself an athlete of reputation, and has been for some time a member of the Athletic Committee. He knows college athletics thoroughly, and his standards are high and sound."

STATE TOUR PROGRAM IS PRESENTED FRIDAY NIGHT

Playmakers Give "The Lord's Will," "Dogwood Bushes" and "Triesta" Before Fair-Sized Audience.

Returning from their western tour the Carolina Playmakers presented three of the four plays used on the trip at the Play-House Friday evening before a fair-sized audience. The plays given were "The Lord's Will," "Dogwood Bushes," and "Triesta."

Sidney Blackmer, an old Carolina student who has just finished a successful run playing the leading role in "The Mountain Man" on Broadway, appeared for a short talk between the second and third plays. He gave a brief account of his experiences in getting before the footlights.

Several original songs by Mr. Hamilton were sung between acts by a quartet under the direction of the Music department.

All three plays showed marked improvement over the original produc-

CO-OP SYSTEM ADOPTED FOR TRAINING ENGINEERS

Adoption of Popular Scheme Due to Determined Efforts of Professors Braune and Daggett.

The co-operative system of education has finally been put across in the engineering school by professors G. M. Braune and P. H. Daggett, after nine months of strenuous effort in its behalf, and will go into effect with the beginning of the coming summer school. Braune and Daggett were assisted by associate professor of highway engineering, H. F. Janda.

Co-operative education was first employed at the University of Cincinnati, and was instituted in 1906, due to the efforts of Professor Herman Schneider. This professor had to beg 28 students there to try the system for the first year. Last year there were over a thousand students at that institution taking the co-operative course, and many were turned away. There are several colleges in the country today that have this system as a result of the success of the course at the University of Cincinnati. Among them are Georgia Tech, Boston Tech, University of Pittsburgh, Harvard, and Marquette University; the only academic college trying the system is Antioch College.

In the co-operative system a student not only gets the theoretical side of engineering, but also the practical side, and by actual experience. Instead of staying in the class room all the time the student spends alternate periods there and in work shops, building highways, doing construction work, and the like. In this way the student learns by experience how to apply the theory that he gets in the class room by actual practice. He meets the difficulties that will confront him later, and learns while in school how to solve them.

The modified, or Harvard plan, will be employed here. During his junior year the student in engineering will spend alternate periods here and doing work elsewhere. The periods of alternation will be sixteen weeks in length, and the entire junior year will require 44 weeks of the students time, a part of the junior year work being taken up during the summer school of the sophomore year. Each student will spend one-half of his time here and the other half doing work, for which he will receive pay like any laborer, in the industrial plants, machine shops, and the like.

Each man who registers for this course will have to get an endorsement from two leading citizens of his home town as to his character and steadiness. This will be done in order that only the best men may take the course.

One man in each department of engineering will serve as co-ordinator. It will be the duty of this man to visit the men at work and to secure the positions for the students. He will have conferences with the superintendents and employers of the

Med Men Take Advantage Of Grats and Elect Officers

Wednesday, during the absence of Dr. Lawson, the first-year medical class utilized the period thus left vacant by electing their officers for next year. After the usual and unusual "politicking," only increased and intensified by the small size of the class, the votes were cast and counted, with the following results: President, H. A. Patterson; Vice-President, J. H. Weaver; Secretary and Treasurer, V. B. Hennessee; Representative on Campus Cabinet, E. V. Benbow; Student Councilman, C. E. Howard.

On Saturday, May 6, the Medical Society also elected their officers for next year. Those elected were: President, W. E. Overcash; Vice-President, Jake Woodward; Secretary, Kitty Cross; Treasurer, E. V. Benbow.

Ninth Inning Rally and Wild Throw by Neal Saves the Day.

HEAVY HITTING FEATURES

"Lefty" Wilson Pitches Last College Game—Trinity Batters Take Revenge For Former Defeat.

Carolina wound up her 1922 baseball season in a blaze of glory Saturday afternoon by winning the most exciting game ever staged on Emerson field from Trinity in a sensational ninth inning rally by a score of 8 to 7. "Monk" McDonald trotted across the plate with the winning run when Neal's throw to catch F. Morris stealing second went to center field.

By winning this game Carolina ended the most successful season in her history and now has the undisputed championship of the state, only two games having been dropped out of the 21 played.

Never was a game more replete with thrills. Carolina's rally in the seventh that gave her a three-run lead apparently sewed up the game. But Trinity came back strong in the eighth and scored four runs, which game them a one-run lead. And in the ninth inning this margin had increased to three. But Bill Fetzer's warriors were not to be beaten. They went to the bat in their half of the ninth and secured the four runs necessary to win.

"Lefty" Wilson, who had previously taken Trinity's measure six times in succession, was on the hillock for Carolina. But this time the Trinity sluggers took a liking for his offerings and pounded out no less than 11 hits. He was able to keep their hits well scattered until the eighth when four runs were scored, and in the ninth after two runs were made and nobody down he gave way to Bryson.

Deal, Trinity's moundsman, showed great form at times, but was unable to keep Carolina's hits scattered. Every Carolina hit figured in the scoring except Llewellyn's triple in the sixth.

Carolina scored the first run of the game in the third when "Casey" Morris opened the inning with a clean single to center, was sacrificed to

LLEWELLYN LEAVES HILL TO BECOME BIG LEAGUER

After Remarkable College Record Big Lew Joins N. Y. Yankees Monday—Good Outlook.

C. M. Llewellyn, the present captain of Carolina's invincible nine, left the Hill Sunday morning at 8 o'clock to report to the New York Yankees in New York City, Monday. "Big Lew," as he is commonly known, leaves a record behind him that no Carolina pitcher has ever equalled, and one that is to be envied by those that may follow him.

Llewellyn hails from Dobson, N. C., and he entered the University in the fall of 1915, coming from Oak Ridge institute, where he also leaves a remarkable record in prep school baseball. Although he entered as a freshman, "Big Lew" has the distinction of having played in several varsity games during his first year here.

At the end of the spring quarter of 1916, "Lew" found it impossible to return to the University for the next two years, but ever since his return in 1918 he has been Carolina's most trusted pitcher. His ability to hit the "pill" has caused him to be put in as a pinch hitter on many occasions, and has won for him a place in the outfield when not pitching. It is unusual for a man to possess the combination of hitting and pitching ability. Lew's batting average for the season of 1921 was .387 and he has two home runs this season.

As a pitcher Llewellyn has won
