I wish to congratulate the members of the German Club on the adoption of the pledge designed to eliminate drinking at dances.

SWAIN HALL GLORIFIED TO BE SCENE OF FINAL HOPS

Plans Made for the Commencement Dances Which Begin Wednesday, June 14th.

Just about this time of the year the hearts of social Carolina are forced to think, and dream of the finals, and well they should for it has come to pass in this our year of grace 1922 that the commencement balls of the University have become known throughout the South as almost without parallel.

This year's dances promise to far outstrip any ever held in Chapel Hill in gaiety, music, dancing, and general merry making.

Swain Hall will be used for the dances, but when Mr. Winder of Durham, who is known to be one of the best interior decorators in the South gets through with it, it will be impossible to believe that it was ever referred to as Swine Hall, for Mr. Winder says he will do his best to make this the job of his career.

The best and prettiest girls of the South will be here, for if Carolina has nothing else, the students most certainly have a keenly developed taste for beauty.

The ball managers for this year are completing their plans and from conversation with them it would seem that they are putting their utmost into the thing and with such capable men and such a capable leader as Ike Thorpe the students this year have every right to expect the best.

"Ike" Thorpe is Chief Ball Manager and the following are his assistants from the senior class: "Chess" Woodall, "Woody" Williams, "Doug" Hamer, and "Chappie" Lee. "Monk" McDonald and "Press" Edwards are assistants from the Junior class.

For the first time this year the freshman will be allowed to throw aside their veil of freshness and enter the realm of sophistication. There will be no distinction made between them and the upper classmen at the dances. The

PLEDGE CARD SYSTEM TO STOP DRINKING ADOPTED

German Club Will Require Members to Sign Pledge Not to Drink at Dances—Stygians Approve.

At the meeting of the German Club Monday afternoon, one of the most vital problems now facing the student body, that of drinking at the dances was discussed. The club adopted its first constitution of which one of the articles stated that each member of the German Club would henceforth be required to sign a pledge card stating that he would not partake of any intoxicants after six hours before the beginning of the dance. This action by the club is a distinct movement of its own and is run in no way connected with the workings of the student council.

This movement has received the sanction of another powerful organization on the campus. The Invisible Order of the Stygians, and the mysterious handwriting displayed on the walls of Chapel Hill has announced approval of the movement as follows:

"From Impenetrable Stygian Darkness It Belched forth Trailing Clouds of Glory Unknown to Humankind. 'The fraternities have inaugurated a movement to abolish drinking at Carolina dances. 'The Invisible Order of Stygians CHAMPIONS the movement. Respect for YOUR sister, respect for MY sister, COMMON DECENCY demands that you champion this movement.'"

Dr. H. W. Odum, of the department of sociology, is giving a series of lectures to the Birmingham-Southern College at Birmingham, Alabama. From there he will go to Randolph-Macon College in Virginia finally returning to the University June 20.

PERMANENT OFFICERS ELECTED BY SENIORS M'LEAN IS PRESIDENT

Class Has Final Banquet and Decides to Give Scholarship for Self-Help Students.

ALL SENIORS CONTRIBUTE

The business and organized work of the senior class came to a close last Saturday evening at a banquet in Swain Hall when permanent class officers were elected and the class gift determined. The officers elected are as follows: J. A. McLean, president; "Lefty" Wilson, vice president; L. J. Phipps, secretary; and M. W. Nash, treasurer.

The first vote was by ballot and the election of one of the two highest men was determined by standing vote. For president the candidates boiled down to Jacobi and McLean, and McLean won out by a fairly large majority. Jim Phipps and E. M. Sweetman tied for secretary and this had to be broken the next day by a ballot cast by all members of the class including those who were absent from the banquet. Phipps won out by a four vote majority. It has not been customary for the class to elect the permanent vice-president at this time, but by a vote this precedent was broken, and Wilson was elected.

The class adopted the class gift proposed by T. L. Warren, chairman of the gift committee. The class of '22 is to install a scholarship to be given to some worthy self-help students. Each member of the class is to pay $25 within the next five years making the scholarship amount to $5,000.

Interesting and able speeches were made by Dr. Edwin Greenlaw and R. D. W. Conner with responses from G. B. Porter and W. E. Horner. These men introduced by Irwin Oestreicher and F. A. Grissett.

ATLANTA WOMAN NABBED BY CHAPEL HILL POLICE

Charged With Prostitution Frances Henderson Is Released for Lack of Evidence but Pays Costs.

A woman, who claimed her name was Frances Henderson, of Atlanta Georgia was arrested by officer Williams Tuesday night as a suspicious character, and was given a hearing Wednesday afternoon in the Mayor's Court to answer a charge of prostitution. Because of the lack of evidence that she came to Chapel Hill for immoral purposes she was released after paying the cost.

As a result of the arrest of the woman, James Andrews of New Bern was hauled before the court to answer a charge of transporting the woman to Chapel Hill for immoral purposes. The state witnesses, Jack Sparrow, Percy Long, Chief of police Long, and Officer Williams, could not swear positively that they had seen the woman in the company of Andrews on Monday and Tuesday nights in Chapel Hill. The defendant furnished five witnesses who claimed that they had seen Andrews at Lakewood Park at the time that Andrews was alleged to have been in Chapel Hill with the woman. The woman, Frances Henderson, denied Officer Long's statement that she told him that Andrews had brought her over from Durham.

Judge Whittaker placed Andrews under $300 bond and bound the case over to the Superior Court to be held in August.

PROBLEMS OF EDUCATION DISCUSSED BY DR. COPE

Calls Learning How to Live with Other People Chief College Contribution.

Dr. Henry F. Cope, secretary of the Religious Education Association, spoke in Chapel Wednesday on some of the phases of education.

Dr. Cope is representing an international association composed of all different religions, Mohammedism, Buddhism, as well as Christian, the chief purpose of which is to apply modern educational principles to religious teaching. He devotes his entire time to lecturing at colleges and Universities, and has spoken at every college in North Carolina.

"One of the best and finest arts is to know how to live with other people," declared the speaker at the opening of his talk. He mentioned the

PLAYMAKERS PRESENT FOLK PLAYS IN OPEN AIR FOR FIRST TIME

Out-Door Performance of "Dixon's Kitchen," "The Miser," and "Trista," Given at Salem College.

BIG AUDIENCE ATTENDS

The Carolina Playmakers gave their first presentation of folk plays in the open air last Saturday night. This initial attempt took place at Salem College, in Winston-Salem before a very large audience of students and townspeople. The audience was much larger than was expected because Saturday night was the big night at the Redpath Chautauqua which was running in Winston-Salem at this time.

But other attractions were not the only contenders for the attention of the fickle populace a flock of freight trains sought persistently to drown out the voices of the actors, while a young tornado tried every few minutes to blow the rather flimsily constructed stage off the lawn.

However the Tar Heel troupe won the approval of the spectators, for according to the Winston-Salem Journal they "more than measured up to the expectations of Winston-Salem people." The plays presented were: "The Miser," "In Dixon's Kitchen," and "Trista." These plays were presented on the second state tour last fall and are well known in Chapel Hill, having been presented here twice.

The acting in all three plays was unusually good and it is hard to pick any outstanding star, however Anthony Combs deserves special credit for his work as Wash Lucas, the Miser. In the comedy G. V. Denny, and Mary Yellot played the parts of the two young lovers very realistically. Katharine Batts as Trista in the play of that name gives, perhaps, the most polished example of acting presented by any amateur actress in the state.

TRACK MEN CLOSE SEASON WITH BIG FEED IN SWAIN

Monograms and Medals Are Awarded—Dave Sinclair Elected Captain of Next Year's Team.

The entire track team, both varsity and freshman, officially ended the season at an enjoyable feed held in Swain Hall, at which N. C. monograms and stars were awarded to the fortunate with the promise of big woolly blue sweaters as soon as they arrive. Following the feed, David Sinclair of Wilmington, star dasher, was chosen to be captain next year's cinder path team.

In the center of the hall, there were three large cups which represented the splendid work of the season, namely the State Indoor Meet cup, the State Intercollegiate Meet cup and the Freshman Open Event cup which was won by the Carolina yearlings at the State Meet. During the banquet individual medals for the winners of first, second and third places in the State meet were awarded.

Rev. A. S. Lawrence of the Episcopal Church, who has been official scorer in practically every meet on the Hill this year, acted as toastmaster of the occasion and in his opening remarks praised the work of Coach Bob Fetzer, who, laboring under serious handicaps, turned out one of the best teams ever turned out by the University and laid the foundation for a greater varsity team in his freshman team of this year. Talks were made by several members of the teams including Coach Bob and Manager-elect C. H. Ashford. Coach Bob refused any praise for himself and asked that it be turned over to the men who had earned it, he further stated that he saw excellent prospects for next year. Manager Ashford promised a stiff schedule for the coming season which could call for the best men had in them. Among others speaking were C. C. Poindexter, O. M. Abernethy, Dr. R. B. Lawson and others.

During the course of this program a delightful banquet was spread by Mrs. Fetzer and Miss Jones of Swain Hall. The banquet was voted a great success and terminated with rousing yells for "Team."

fact that a college education contributed much to this part of one's life. He also said that the opportunity for achieving greatness was greater than ever before. "We live in an intricate and congested world and we need great men to solve some of its perplexing problems," he added.

Emilie Rose Knox Again Wins Hearts Of Carolina Audience

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC ORDER IS FOUNDED HERE

New Student Organization Plans to Promote Production of Girl-less Musical Comedies.

In a town and University of many Clubs, orders, fraternities and various other organizations comes another. It is for men who have taken active part in both dramatic and musical production and who have excelled in such performances. It is called "Masque and Wig."

The purpose of this organization is to produce, at least once a year, an original musical comedy, the cast for which will be composed entirely of men.

It is similar to the "Triangle Club," the "Paint and Powder Club," the "Haresfoot Club," and many other such famous organizations of the kind so popular in northern colleges and universities. The Triangle Club, for instance, took its show for a three thousand mile tour during the Christmas holidays this last year, including three performances on Broadway. Elections to such clubs is, in the various schools, considered one of the highest honors that can come to students.

Masque and Wig is entirely a student organization, but its present membership has not yet been disclosed. New men will be taken in after the performance next year, and the selections will be made from the new students who have made good in its field of work.

The music department is planning to offer big cash prizes, or cash prizes will be offered through the music department, for the best original musical comedy, music, and creations of the kind. Further details relating to these prizes will be announced later. People who are interested in the club and in such honor organizations are also anxious to learn who are the members now. Just how soon this information will be obtained is not known, however.

SCHOOL BONDS APPROVED BY CHAPEL HILL VOTERS

The Chapel Hill school bond election was held last Tuesday both the bond issue and the increased maintenance tax being passed by fair-sized majorities. With a total registration of 514, there were 319 votes cast for the bonds and 131 for the increased maintenance tax.

The two issues upon which the townspeople voted were: (1) A bond issue of $40,000 for additional buildings, equipment and grounds; (2) A tax increase of 16 2/3 cents on the $100 for maintenance and operating the school.

The passage of this bond issue will now enable the school to enlarge the present building, equip it more thoroughly, provide an $8,000 physical education building, and wipe out an indebtedness incurred during the past year. These things were made necessary because of the great influx of pupils from the rural population for the past three years.

Civil Engineering Seniors Accept Promising Positions

From the senior class of civil engineering, the following men have accepted position with the firms designated: N. P. Hayes and L. W. Fischel with McClellie-Marshall Construction Co. at Pittsburgh, Pa.; J. W. Taylor with the bridge department of the State Highway commission; H. G. Baity with the engineering department of the State Board of Health; J. S. Wearn and F. R. Bacon with the State Highway Commission and J. P. Clawson has filed an application with the United States Geological Survey.

The remaining members of the Senior class, L. J. Phipps, R. J. Morton and O. E. Martin will return to the University next year for graduation work.

Carolina thus adds seven more men to the list which she has sent into the engineering field of the country.

Professor M. C. S. Noble has recently returned from a trip to Dunn and Greensboro, where he delivered the commencement addresses. The address at Greensboro was delivered to the A. & T. College (colored) of which Professor Noble is a trustee.

In Third Annual Concert Here Violin Artist Again Captivates Old Friends.

In her third annual violin concert here, Miss Emilie Rose Knox of Raleigh, probably the best woman violinist in America, held a large and appreciative audience spell-bound for several hours on last Tuesday evening in Memorial Hall. Each of the fourteen selections which she rendered brought round after round of applause and many encores. After the program, Miss Knox went out upon the porch of Memorial Hall in answer to many Carolina yells which the students gave for her and there played many popular songs which the students called for, among which were "Annie Laurie," "Long Long Trail" and the University hymn "Hark the Sound."

Chapel Hill has never before received an artist with greater enthusiasm than Miss Knox last Tuesday. Having been to the Hill twice before Miss Knox's wonderful ability and charming personality were well-known among both the students and townspeople, and she received a royal welcome. Miss Knox is equally pleased with the University. "This is the dearest little old university I know of," she said.

Miss Knox is the daughter of Dr. A. W. Knox of Raleigh and niece of Mrs. J. S. Holmes of Chapel Hill. Her brother A. W. Knox, Jr., is a member of the freshman class at the University. Her skill in music has won for her a nation-wide reputation, and it was only because of her own desire to come to Chapel Hill that the University Y. M. C. A., under whose auspices she appeared, was able to secure Miss Knox's performance.

The program rendered by Miss Knox was especially enjoyable to the audience since several of the selections were given by special request. Among the special request selections was "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," which Miss Knox said upon receiving the request that she was unfamiliar with. But not to disappoint any one, she called a student and asked him to whistle the tune for her which he did. Miss Knox played "Sigma Chi" a few minutes later before the footlights.

Miss Sue Southwick ably accompanied Miss Knox on the piano and the selections rendered are as follows:

Concerto in D Minor, Wienawski; Romage; Allegro Alla Zingara; Capriccio, Ergar; Old Refrain, Kreisler; Guitarre, Moskowaki-Sarasate; Sorenade Espagnole, Chaminade-Kreisler; Souvenir Espagnole, Fibich-Schindler; Tambourin-Chinois, Kreisler.

Special Request: Souvenir, Drala; Capric Viennois (Cradle Song), Kreisler; Traumerli, Beethoven; Humoresque, Dvorak.

DORMITORIES WILL HAVE SOCIAL ROOMS NEXT YEAR

Practically all the dormitories on the campus are assured of a social room for next year. The committee from the sophomore class which circulated the petition in the various buildings has reported that in all dormitories where the petition was circulated the plan was endorsed by a good majority. It is not yet determined what course to follow out about the buildings under construction, but all, or practically all, the men who are now in other dormitories and who intend to room in these new buildings have signed the petition.

This plan for establishment of dormitory associations is a new idea on the campus and is intended to help relieve the so-called social problem here. The success of the individual associations will be determined now by the officers and the spirit of co-operation on the part of the men rooming in the several dormitories.

Former Carolina Engineering Students Discuss Bridge Work

W. F. Morrison and C. B. Taylor of the bridge department of the State Highway Commission delivered lectures last Friday to the senior class taking bridge reinforcement work.

These men discussed the methods employed by the Highway Commission in the designing of concrete abutments and bridges in North Carolina.

The talks were of special interest, as they were delivered by two young Carolina Alumni recently entering engineering.
