Bailey Prize Stimulates Interest
in Work—Prize Also Offered
To Teachers and Editors.

"WHAT NEXT IN N. C.?"

The first regular meeting of the North Carolina club was held on Monday, October 16, and at this meeting assignments were chosen. The membership does not vary greatly from that of last year, but the $50 prize offered by J. W. Bailey, of Raleigh, for the best paper submitted has stimulated interest in the work of the club considerably. In addition, the North Carolina club is offering a prize of $50 for the best paper submitted by teachers and editors of the state on "What Next in North Carolina?"

The club program follows:
October 30—The Boll Weevil and a Reorganized Agriculture.—J. B. Engles, Wilson county.

WASHINGTON AND LEE PRESIDENT SPEAKS HERE

Dr. Henry Lewis Smith Speaks in Gerard Hall on "Lessons From Robert E. Lee."

The first University sermon of the year was delivered in Gerard Hall Sunday night by Dr. Henry Lewis Smith, president of Washington and Lee University. Dr. Smith was formerly a North Carolinian, and is a graduate of Davidson College. On the subject of "Lessons From the Character of Robert E. Lee" he made a very impressive speech.

Dr. Smith showed clearly how three great lessons could be derived from General Lee's life: the lessons of self-sacrifice, of Christian faith, and of the supremacy of spiritual over material things. "General Lee," he said, "was endowed from childhood with militaristic ideas and ideals. His supremacy in this field gained for him the offer of leadership of the Union Army, which, if he accepted, would mean glory, honor and power, and probably the presidency of the United States. If he refused this offer and accepted the leadership of the Confederate army, it would mean defeat and ruin—under the banner of Virginia. At a great sacrifice he chose the latter."

"After the war," Dr. Smith continued, "General Lee accepted the presidency of Washington College, with a low salary, and spent the remainder of his life in building it up. Here again he made a great sacrifice, for he had also a government position offered him which would have paid a large salary."

Dr. Smith then told how General Lee, cut off since childhood from all Christian influences, maintained and developed a purity of character which was remarkable. In this way he showed (Continued on page three)

MARYLAND HOPES TO DEFEAT TAR HEELS ON EMERSON FIELD

So Says Coach Byrd After Witnessing the Fair Week Game in Raleigh—Did Not Use Full Strength Against Princeton—Tomorrow's Game Promised to Be Close.

After an eight-day rest, Coach Petzer's team will play Maryland on Emerson Field tomorrow afternoon. The game promises to be a fight to a finish, as the Black and Gold warriors are determined to get revenge for their defeat of last year.

Coach Byrd witnessed the Carolina-State College game and believes that his team has a 50-50 chance to win, judging from Carolina's showing at Raleigh.

The varsity will enter tomorrow's fray in better condition than it was in last Thursday. The test of endurance given the team in the last three games is the hardest that any Southern eleven has received this year, and the effects of it were clearly seen in the Fair Week game.

Maryland could register only one first down against Princeton, but that does not indicate the strength of the team. Coach Byrd did not allow Semler, his speedy halfback, to play against the Tigers and removed his other backfield stars from the line-up early in the game. Besides the fast backfield of Groves, Pugh, Semler and McQuade, Maryland has several good performers in the line. Branner, end; Captain Nesbit and Burger, tackles, and Bailey, center, constitute the backbone of the Old Line defense.

Coach Petzer will probably send in the same men against the visitors to (Continued on page four)

NEW DORMITORY SPIRIT DEVELOPS IN ATHLETICS

Quadrangle Group Shows Much Interest in Social and Athletic Affairs—
Plan for Telephones.

The first of a series of inter-dormitory athletic contests will be staged tonight. This will be a pushball contest between dormitories "B" and "E." This is part of the program of the newly formed dormitory associations. The four new dorms have elected officers and are carrying out their social programs in a very unique way. The presidents of the social organizations are Edwin Lanier, "B"; W. W. Gwynn, "C"; L. R. Johnson, "D"; and John Purser, "E."

The social rooms are number 113 in each dormitory, being the middle room on the first floor. The four buildings are engaging in a friendly rivalry not only in athletic contests but also in the social service program. One building has posted the names of the men who room in that dorm, while another goes a stretch further and plans to have a list of all the men in their building and his nickname. All are planning to install telephones.

The constitutions have been drawn up and adopted by the men in the buildings and everything is going on in fine order to make the living quarters more sociable.

FRESH CANDIDATES ARE OUT IN LARGE NUMBERS

Grand Total of 48 Nominated to Fill
Offices of President, Vice President and Secretary-Treasurer.

Running for office seems to be a favorite outdoor sport with members of the freshman class. A grand total of 48 candidates entered the race for political honors in the nominations held in chapel last Tuesday morning. Of this number, 15 have presidential aspirations, 16 will be satisfied to attain the secondary position of vice-president, while 17 would fain hold the bag as secretary-treasurer. The lucky three men will be picked in a free-for-all election scheduled for today.

The following men were nominated for president: E. M. McDaniel, Gerald Pelletier, Billy Devin, Jr., H. M. Prevette, Norman Gordon, Russel Braswell, Wm. Bruner, Chas. Gold, John Flowers, Bruce Hilderbrand, J. E. Ashby, N. W. Jones, Grady Terrell, Walter Christman and Cameron Shipp.

Those nominated for vice-president were: H. W. Humphrey, Leslie Shaw, Cannon McRae, "Shorty" Griffith, Jack Milstead, Wm. Pfobl, Regal Floyd, S. E. Vest, W. I. Bowman, Paul Transon, E. R. Manning, R. S. Graham, Emmett Underwood, John Gross, Ralph Harding and Dick Erwin.

The nominees for the office of secretary were: Harold Lineberger, Ralph Cain, Theodore Living, R. B. Fanning, C. W. Thomas, J. R. Blackwell, Roy Armstrong, J. S. Crouze, H. A. Beard, Jeff Fordham, Henry Parker, R. M. Peeding, L. H. Holt, C. A. Benson, W. V. Ballou, Chas. Taylor and Manuel Saler.

FRESHMEN SPEND WEEK END IN LAND OF SKY

Coach Alexander Takes Yearlings to Asheville to Play Bingham and Asheville School.

The freshman team left yesterday for Asheville where Asheville school will be played today and Bingham taken on at Oates Park tomorrow. Coach Alexander's eleven should win both contests, not by one-sided scores, however, for "Nemo" Coleman has a scrapping team at Bingham and reports from Sulphur Springs indicate that the freshmen will have no easy job there.

This is the first time that a freshman football team from Carolina has visited the mountain metropolis. Bingham has defeated the first year men on Emerson field two years straight, but Asheville School has never played them.

Coach Alexander will start his first team in the Sulphur Springs game but substitutes may be used against Coleman's outfit. Bingham is hardly as strong this year as in 1921, although giving Mars Hill a sound thrashing last week. Dalton and Kirkpatrick are the mainstays of the Cadets' backfield.

"Charlie" Gold, freshman fullback, is out of the line-up with a slight injury, but will probably be in shape to play next Friday. Underwood is playing halfback while Griffin has been shifted to full.

The next game on the first year schedule is with the South Carolina freshmen at Columbia, Friday. The State College freshman game at Tarboro has been changed from November 11 to November 10 at the request of Tarboro citizens who felt that a larger crowd would attend on the latter date.

Campaign For 'Y' To Keep Up Steam Until Goal Is Reached

Incomplete Reports Tuesday Night Indicate That Total Amount
Will Have Been Raised by End of Week—
Canvassers Working Hard.

In the midst of its financial campaign, with no reports from faculty or fraternities, and only incomplete reports from the rest of the campus, the Y. M. C. A. had Tuesday night raised about one-fourth of the amount set as its goal. The campaign is on, and Manager Ragsdale hopes to have the full amount subscribed before this issue of the Tar Heel reaches its readers.

Yackety Yack Men Plan Big Annual

The 1922-1923 Yackety Yack board held its organization meeting last Tuesday night. T. S. Howard is editor of the annual; Thomas Turner and O. C. Hendrix business managers.

The board plans to get out the largest Yackety Yack this year that has ever been put out. They plan it every year and sometimes succeed and sometimes fail, but Editor Howard is confident. Especial attention will be given to the art work, of which staff J. T. Barnes is the chief.

The managers announce that a campaign for subscriptions will be put on very soon, for the purpose of giving all those who will subscribe by November 15 the opportunity of having their name stamped on the cover free of charge.

Delayed Issue of Boll Weevil Coming

The next issue of the Boll Weevil will be out by Tuesday or Wednesday of the coming week, according to announcement of Business Manager Brody. The special Fair Week issue which it had been promised would be out on the day before the State game, was delayed on account of the failure of the engraver to get the cover plates and other cuts finished on time.

The November issue, consisting of 36 pages, will be a college comic deluxe, if nothing happens to it between the editorial office and the printer. Some of the best known and most irresponsible of the campus fun-fingers are contributors to its columns, and the art department promises that its full quota of flappers and tea-bounds will be very much in evidence and as alluring as ever.

With 25 pages of reading matter, exclusive of advertisements, Manager Brody asserts that the Boll Weevil has five more pages devoted exclusively to "copy" than any college comic in the country. And, considering the tender age of the young insect, it would seem to have attained a rather marvelous growth.

N. C. COLLEGIATE PRESS ASSOCIATION IN SESSION AT MEREDITH IN RALEIGH

J. J. Wade, R. S. Pickens, S. B. Midyette and L. J. Brody Represent Carolina Publications.

TO END WITH BANQUET

The North Carolina Collegiate Press Association will meet at Meredith College in Raleigh on Friday and Saturday of this week. This is the third year of the association which was organized by D. L. Grant in the spring of 1921, and its members include all the important college newspapers and magazines in the state.

J. J. Wade, editor of the Tar Heel; R. S. Pickens and S. B. Midyette, members of the various publication boards here, will represent Carolina on the editorial phases of the meeting, and L. J. Brody, business manager of the Tar Heel and the Boll Weevil, will represent the business end.

These meetings, several of which have been held in the state since the organization was perfected, have come to mean a great deal to the college publications in North Carolina, and many questions of importance will be discussed at Raleigh. Speeches by college students and perhaps by members of staffs of state newspapers will be made. The meeting will end with a banquet for the delegates at the college.

BISHOP PENICK TO DELIVER SERMON HERE

The newly elected Bishop Coadjutor of the Episcopal diocese of North Carolina, the Rt. Rev. Edwin A. Penick, of Charlotte, will deliver the University sermon for next month, Sunday night, November 19, at 7:30.

Spooky Nooks And Corners Lure Innocent Studes Inside

All Kinds of Questionable Enterprises Carried on by Lovely Co-ed
Witches—They Also Serve Cake and Candy to Those Who Have the Price.

Mysterious caverns, fortune-telling dens, weird witches, spooks, ghosts and goblins will take possession of the lobbies and side rooms of the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night. Thus heralded, the annual Hallow'en Carnival of the U. N. C. Woman's Association is here.

"But what's in those dens and caverns?" you ask.
"Ah, my friend," sighs the fair ghost, "that is a secret. Step right in and find out. No, no, not in there. That one is for freshmen only. You're a sophomore, aren't you? But you may go in this one. This is a gambling den."

University Receives Historical Pictures

Captain A. O. Clement, of Goldsboro, has presented sixteen historical hand-painted pictures to the University, in honor of his father, Samuel Wilson Clement. This set of paintings depicts the most important episodes of the early settlement of Roanoke Island. There are many scenes included in the set. Besides pictures of Roanoke Island, its vegetation and surrounding water, many scenes of colonists in their attire and Indians are shown. Indian attacks, burning villages and the baptism of Chief Manteo by an English clergyman in his robes are numbered in the collection.

Photographs made for the historical film of the State Department of Education form the basis of Captain Clement's work. He colored the photographs and elaborated them with his brush. The set constitutes a striking series of scenes in early North Carolina history.

Captain Clement's father graduated from the University in the class of 1858. He taught school in Kenansville and was superintendent of schools in Duplin county. From 1871 to 1875 he was in Birmingham, Alabama, where he drew up the plan of organization of the schools in that city. He died in 1912.

Tennis Courts Are Now Ready For Use

The tennis courts near Battle, Vance and Pettigrew are at last ready for use. The occupants of the buildings were gratified to find the courts in condition for playing, and some of them took advantage of the opportunity to start the ball to rolling Tuesday by playing on them.

President Chase's request that the courts should not be used for games other than tennis is being well observed, which seems to indicate that the courts will be kept in good condition.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS HAS SECOND MEETING

Le Cercle Francais held its second informal meeting of the year Tuesday evening at 7:30. The thirty members present were well rewarded for having attended. The program consisted of conversing in French and the playing of games in which only French was spoken. Before the conclusion of the program, refreshments, consisting of apples and grapes, were served.

FALLING PLASTER INJURES TWO OF ATWOOD'S MEN

Harry Carter, Chief Draftsman, and Arthur C. Nash, Architect, Are Struck While at Work.

Two men who are with the Atwood organization here met with a very unusual accident last Tuesday morning. Harry Carter, chief draftsman of the organization, and Arthur C. Nash, architect, were struck by pieces of falling plaster. The two men were sitting at a desk in the Atwood offices in the Alumni building working on plans for a fraternity house. Just as the 8:30 bell was ringing, about a square yard of the ceiling fell upon them without warning. Both men were struck on the head by the falling plaster. Carter's injury was rather serious, as the gash across his head required twelve stitches, while the hurt sustained by Nash only required dressing. Both men were carried to the infirmary.

It is thought that the accident was due to some extent to the fact that students in the classroom above were stirring around because the bell was ringing when the accident occurred.
