

ARMISTICE DAY WILL BE CELEBRATED BY AMERICAN LEGION AND UNIVERSITY

Parade, Exercises in Memorial Hall and Games in the Afternoon Will Feature the Day.

PARADE STARTS AT 10 A. M.

The local post of the American Legion will celebrate Armistice Day tomorrow jointly with the University.

The parade will form at the graded school house at 10. The order of march will be the following: the University Band, the Colors, Junior and Senior Red Cross, the Woman's Auxiliary, the Confederate Veterans, the American Legion and veterans in uniform, school children and a rear guard of Boy Scouts.

Exercises will begin in Memorial Hall at 10:45 with the singing of the old war song, "Keep the Home Fires Burning." Then Chaplain Lawrence will pronounce the invocation.

Poppies will be sold by the young ladies of the city. All ex-service men are urged to be in the parade whether they have uniforms or not.

JUNIOR CLASS SMOKER WELL PLANNED SUCCESS

Co-operation is Keynote of Speeches by Newly Elected President and Faculty Members.

With a well planned program, the first junior class smoker of the year ran off as smoothly and neatly as the election did last month.

"Co-operation" was the keynote struck by the president and followed for the remainder of the evening by the other speakers.

President Holshouser outlined the policy which the class it to pursue for the year and told of the possibilities in store for the future of the class.

Professor Matherly spoke of the essentials for the success of the class, which come under the three following heads: 1) co-operation, (2) the power to give and take, and (3) the will to do.

"Definiteness" was the theme of Professor Meyer. "Freshmen and sophomores are given general courses," he said, "but when we become juniors and seniors, it is high time to make a definite decision as to vocation, religious policies, courses to be pursued."

PLAYMAKERS PROMISE A GOOD VARIETY OF MIRTH IN COMEDY

Booth Tarkington's Story of Calf-Love and Small Town Life Dramatized by Stuart Walker and Presented by Local Talent—Expected to Delight Large Audience.

With new scenery, new and elaborate lighting equipment, excellent music, a bang-up cast, and a most delightful play, the Carolina Playmakers, under the direction of Donald MacMillan, are all set to loose a gale consisting of seventeen varieties of mirth in the Playhouse tonight and tomorrow night.

QUADRANGLE WILL HAVE MAIL BROUGHT TO ROOMS

Students Who So Desire May Have Letters Delivered to Their Rooms Twice a Day.

As a matter of convenience to the students, and to somewhat relieve the congestion in the "waiting line" during mail time, Postmaster Stroud has arranged for the students who room in the new Quadrangle to have their mail collected from and delivered to their rooms.

Two students, J. S. McLean and H. E. Johnson, will handle the mail. They will collect all outgoing mail at 7:45 a. m. and 2:45 p. m. All incoming mail will be delivered within half an hour from the time it arrives at the post-office.

This service is entirely optional with each student and will cost each subscriber 25 cents per month.

It is believed that this arrangement will be of great benefit to those who were not so fortunate as to secure a box at the opening of school.

Declamation Contest For Freshmen Soon

The first annual freshman declamation contest ever to be held at Carolina will take place about January 6, according to announcement by one of the members of the debate council.

The finals will be held on this date, when two freshmen from the Philanthropic Assembly will oppose two from the Dialectic Society.

UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB ENTERTAINS IN CHAPEL

The University Glee Club entertained the student body by rendering four delightful numbers in chapel Monday morning. The first number was a selection by Donzetti, "Hail to the Happy Bridal Day," in which A. C. Hewitt took the leading part of soloist.

The last selection, which received greater applause than any of the others, was "Hark the Sound," in which the whole student body raised its voice in accompaniment to that of the Glee Club and made the hall ring.

Dr. E. C. Branson, who is a member of the executive committee of the American Country Life Association, has gone to New York to attend a meeting of the committee.

The North Carolina Club meets Monday, November 13, at 7:30 p. m. F. J. Herron, Buncombe county, will read a paper on "Country Community Life and Co-operative Farm Enterprise."

ANOTHER GRAIL DANCE

The Order of the Grail will give a dance in the gymnasium tomorrow night. Everyone except freshmen is invited to come and enjoy himself.

The University Club is expected to render the music. It is to be a script affair and it is understood that a girl will decrease the price of admittance.

"Seventeen" will be presented. The property man has had the seat moorings tightened and no casualties are expected as a result of Booth Tarkington's inimitable story of calf love and small town life.

The play, expertly dramatized by Stuart Walker, the father of several theatrical innovations, has all the humor and sparkle which made the novel so popular. Those delightful incidents which broadcasted so many smiles and chuckles in the wake of the book have all been retained in the play with added charm through physical visualization.

The quest of the Holy Dress Suit, Willie Baxter's oft-repeated adjuration to the gods of youth, the severally lauded and loathed "baby-talk lady," and the miniature Egyptian plague in the person of little sister Jane are just as irresistible as ever.

"Seventeen" has proved remarkably well adapted to amateur production. It deals with adolescent youth and the first disappointment in love. Consequently, the characters, for the most part, are young people of high school and college age.

There has been no change in the cast as originally announced. The part of Willie Baxter, the moon-struck hero of the comedy, is played by Theodore Livingston, a freshman who shows great promise.

Other well known personages in the play are Al Farrington, who has returned to the University to study law after a year of teaching at Greensboro High School; Ernest Thompson, who has turned from the piano and undying fame in the Tar Baby Five to display his ability in histrionic lines; and Bill Faucette, the renowned elocutionist, who last year played with becoming naturalness the part of the rural father in "Dogwood Blossoms."

The remainder of the excellent cast consists of K. Lee Frazier, Adeline Denham, Bessie Davenport, Fred Nance and F. H. Hursey.

WRENN IS PRESIDENT PHARMACEUTICAL SOCIETY

Many Leading North Carolina Drug-gists Praising Work of Their Old College Organization.

The William Simpson Pharmaceutical Society met for reorganization Tuesday night. The following officers were elected: S. Wrenn, president; Roy Burns, vice president; J. L. Alderman, secretary-treasurer.

The feature of the meeting was a speech by Professor Beard. He stressed the fact that the society has established a great prestige throughout the state.

Mr. Wrenn also made a short talk, in which he brought out the fact that the first year students were showing much interest in the society, and were anxious to get into its work.

BASKET BALL PRACTICE BEGINS WITH PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR FAST TEAM

"Billy" Carmichael and "Sis" Perry Are Only Members of Last Year's Team Absent.

WILL PLAY MERCER HERE

Candidates for varsity basketball have been practicing under the direction of Coach Bill Fetzer for several days, and their present showing indicates that Carolina will have another fast quint in the field this year.

Carmichael is conceded to be one of the fastest forwards in the entire country, and although shifted to center to fill a vacancy there, he played brilliantly in every game and won mention as All-Southern forward.

Several likely looking candidates come from Bailey Lipfert's first year squad. Neil Vanstoy, center; Sam McDonald, Jimmy Poole, D. H. Penton and Hoyt Boone, forwards; J. P. Corbett and A. G. Robertson, guards, are all practicing regularly.

Manager Harold Ross has not completed the 1923 schedule but there will be several changes from last year's itinerary. Among the teams to be played are Virginia, Washington and Lee, V. M. I., Trinity and State.

Van Der Meer Is Heard By Students

The first of the Sunday afternoon recitals under the auspices of the Music Department was given November 5 by the blind Belgian violinist, Peter van der Meer, before a packed crowd in Gerrard Hall.

CAROLINA MEETS FORMIDABLE FOE IN RICHMOND TOMORROW IN BATTLE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

V. M. I. Still Undefeated, While Carolina's Defeat by Yale is Only Flaw in Otherwise Perfect Record—Other Important Games Scheduled for Armistice Day.

Tomorrow is Armistice Day and incidentally a red letter day in football circles of the country. Naturally the most important game from a local standpoint is the Carolina-V. M. I. battle at Mayo Island Park, Richmond, on which the South Atlantic championship probably rests.

Important game in Virginia tomorrow, for V. P. I. and State will fight it out at Norfolk and Georgia and Virginia lock horns at Charlottesville.

FIRST YEAR TAR HEELS PLAY STATE FRESHMEN

Game Will Take Place in Tarboro Tomorrow—Lively Contest Expected.

Coach Alexander's little Tar Heels will be seen in action tomorrow afternoon in Tarboro where they lock horns with Sam Homewood's State College freshmen.

Both teams go into the fray with a clean slate for the season, and a lively tussle is expected. Carolina tied Maryland freshmen two weeks ago, and on the western trip Asheville School and Bingham tasted defeat at their hands.

The probable line-up is:

Law Class Elections Fill Vacant Offices

The third and second year classes held their election for class officers on Tuesday.

The third year class came very near exhausting its personnel in supplying the class honors of the year. Out of seven eligible men, three were chosen, as follows: J. W. Foster, of Mocksville, president; P. W. Herman, of Conover, vice president, and J. E. Baker, of Nashville, secretary and treasurer.

Football Number Boll Weevil Out

The football number of the Boll Weevil is just off the press and is on sale at Foister's tonight.

A member of the Tar Heel staff is preparing a review of this latest prodigy of humor and art which will appear in Tuesday's issue.
